CITY AND COUNTY.

WEDNESDAY.

In a quarrel at Omaha last night one Dailey was stabbed to death, and another fatally wounded by a rival baker.

At Otoe county temper seems to have taken on an increased heat to the acre as a Senator-hold this year. Who can beat it?

The storm was so bad Monday night that Jay Sawyer train did not go west of Ashland, but it is now running on time again.

The blizzard which put a wide swath in the west has gone eastward, and given the eastern states a taste of Kountze weather.

Some scoundrel shot Henry Wurlebach's hound. Remember right before last, but the injury was slight as the ball struck in the forehead and glanced off.

Harry Groves and Gene Opelt, two prosperous young farmers whose ranch is west of town, lost 78 head of fine steers in the sunday night's blizzard valued at $75.

Otoe county received a gold medal at the exposition for educational exhibit. Cass limits to show at all for some reason or other, and, of course, missed all the medals.

Carl Wiles lost 50 head of shoats in the storm Sunday night worth over $500. The losses of hogs all over the county is the largest ever known from a Nemaha blizzard.

Henry Wurlebach brought a fine mastodon down from Omaha yesterday for Leonard Opelt who is going to set up the finest dinner at the Riley house ever seen in this town.

Judge Chrisfield has given Mrs. Mary A. Robertson a decree of divorce from Judge Robertson formerly of Plattsmouth. Non-support was one of the allegations made. The evidence also showed that Mr. Robertson was quite jealous of his wife.—State Journal.

Herman Richter, one of Julius Peppercorn's best cigar makers, has decided to move to David City, next week, where he will open up and operate a cigar factory of his own. Herman has many friends here who wish him abundant success in his new venture.

Old Hat Wilson, who belonged to Co. B in the company of "Four o'Clocks" fame the penalty for exhibiting or pedaling it being taken to their county home, where he was found the rest of his life in replacing a contraband of what might come in. He was a man of good education, and at one time was in good circumstances.

The report of the Third Nebraska returned to Lincoln yesterday shows that it is to be mustered out with 10 enlisted men sick at quarters. The health of the boys has been fully restored, and very soon they will be basking in the tropical sunshine in Cuba, while we are snowbound in Nebraska.

Fred Kunsman, who drives Phil Pfund's one-horse team, had a serious mishap last evening in which the wagon was overturned and he was severely injured. His thumb was thought to be broken and he was otherwise bruised about the body. The left condition of the hill which he was driving down was responsible for the accident.

A young woman is a mystery and whose intentions a greater, became so overwhelmed with the essence of cloth that he had to be carried to jail and—stretcher. This afternoon he appeared before Judge Archer, telling a harrowing tale of his hardships in a vain search for a job of corn husking. The judge knowing that corn huskers were badly needed let him go.

Charles Barker, Chaney Howe's successor as chief clerk for D. S. Guild, the chief of the supply department of the B. & M., arrived in town today from Lincoln. He will move to this city at once, and will probably store his goods, and in company with his wife will probably board at the Hotel Riley. Mr. Barker resided here for several years before he went to Lincoln, and a host of old friends heartily welcome him back as a resident.

Geo. Humphrey, who has been a boarder at the Hotel McBride for the last week, was turned out the other day under protest, he wanting to stay after his time had expired, but as the jailor could not under the law allow it George was started out upon the cold world. He filled up on bad liquor again today and Chief Morrisy is endeavoring to have him taken to the poor farm where he can be taken care of and sobered up.

Messrs R. B. Windham, Dr. Humphrey, C. S. Polk, George Farley, H. R. Gering and Prof McHugh departed last night for Marysville, Mo., to attend the Spurlock wedding. They each carried a box containing a dress suit and at the wedding tonight the "glad rags" will appear in swell attire. A picture of the crown with dress suits on is in demand up this way and we regret our inability to supply it.

Juryman Babbitt was the victim of a practical joker today and he is out gunning for the man who got the joke on him. It seems his overcoat was hanging in the Perkins House office and when he went to put it on an empty beer bottle was protruding conspicuously from the pocket and the crowd, who were on, gave him a laugh he will not soon forget when he tried to remove the bottle without anyone seeing him.

The court house people froze up this morning on account of a freeze of the water pipes under the building which required several hours hard work to repair. Some of the officers had to don an and go home, while others wore overcoats and kept the fort. Clerk Hungerford rolled up his sleeves and hustled up some coal and had a fine fire in the grate in the Court adjourned until later when, warmth returned.

The entertainment given last evening by the C. E. society of the Presbyterian church was a success financially and socially. The ladies entertained a large number of guests in a handsome manner and the delicious supper served made it a most pleasant occasion.

George Sparks departed in excellent spirits one into a yesterday for the home of his bride to be, but in some way he missed his train in Omaha and came back through here yesterday morning and went to Creston where he had to remain last night, and will not reach his destination until this morning. Keeping George's frame of mind the loss of spending two days and nights on the road trying to reach Marysville must have been exasperating. He could have almost walked the distance in that length of time.

A Correction.

Harry Groves indignantly informs us that he was not kicked in the face at the Glenwood foot ball game, and we hasten to correct the error which the appearance of his face would indicate might be true. We have interrogated several of the players and learn that the chewed up appearance of the young man's face was the result of a meteoric shower which fell about the time he ran into one of the Glenwood giants. The meteor could not be found, but Groves saw a score of them and the imprint of one on his face and forehead is so distinct that no one doubts the truthfulness of the explanation. We regret that the affair was not pulled in our first report.

New Cigar Factory.

Charles Horat has leased the front rooms up stairs in the Palmer building opposite Byron Clark's office, and will open up a cigar factory. He purchased his tobacco today and expects to be turning out cigars very soon. Charley is an experienced workman and will no doubt do a good business.
