THE LARGEST CIRCULATION of any Cass County Paper.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1899.

"News" Telephone. Nebraska, 85; Plattsmouth, 85.

NOTICE. Owing to the change in the management of THE NEWS it is desired that all money due on subscription or other accounts be paid as soon as possible. All accounts are payable to either C. S. Polk or J. E. Marshall.

THE mortgage records of the various counties in Nebraska are very gratifying to everyone except to the calamity howlers. However, none of them compare with that of old Cass.

Now for the election of United States senator, the passage of a few needed measures and then final adjournment, and the people of this state will rise up and call its representatives blessed.

BETWEEN January 1, 1893, and the same date in 1897 the number of sheep in this country declined from 47,273,553 to 36,818,643, and their value in the same democratic period fell from $125,909,264 to $67,020,942. Within the last two years the number of sheep has increased over 2,000,000 and their value has been largely enhanced. The rebound from "free wool" is rapid and on a big scale.

THERE are advantages in other directions in placing a man of competence rather than a simple military discipline at the head of a regiment. While THE NEWS does not prove of much value to the United States, and its evident weakness on the part of its editorial in recognizing yet this paper commends the good conduct of Colonel Bryan for never permitting a heavy censure to pass in the Tribune. It is to be regretted by every patriot in this state, who has a son in the field, to learn that Colonel Viquin has established a beer can teen in this regiment.

THE Chronicle says: "The Filipinos have helped to assure the ratification of the peace treaty." The News says: "The Filipinos have shown their unfitness for self government at the very outset by a rash and untimely manifestation." Unless THE NEWS is greatly at fault the London press gives expression to the feeling of the American people as they today read the telegrams from Manila. The best time for a weak nation to make terms with a great power is before invoking the war spirit. We are naturally a peace loving race. But we love our flag and national honor still more. The memory of our encounter with Spain is still fresh, and it is not probable now that any influential voice will be lifted against prompt and effective repression of the wanton attack upon our flag at Manila.

WE CANNOT commend too highly some of the bills that are now pending before the legislature, and suggest that the citizens who approve of their provisions so inform their representatives and let them know that their course in supporting such measures receives the commendation of their constituents. We have in mind particularly the bill by Senator Newell providing that no transfer of real estate can be recorded until the taxes are paid upon the real estate conveyed. Another measure far-reaching in its effects, is the one that provides that no man is eligible to any office within the state of Nebraska, who has not paid his taxes, both real and personal. What a depletion in the rank of candidates or an increase in the available revenue of the several counties in the state should this bill pass. Cass county would profit by the passage of such a bill.

WE JOIN with the many people in Nebraska who are interested in the First Regiment, in complimenting Governor Poynter for his step toward removing Colonel Stotsenburg as Colonel of the First Nebraska. Governor Poynter has asked the secretary of war to remove Colonel Stotsenburg, and that he be returned to his own regiment in the regular army. There are some advantages in having a regular army man command the volunteer regiment, but there are also disadvantages. Colonel Stotsenburg has shown himself to be an unscrupulous and unmanly fellow, as far as the men under his command were concerned. As an evidence of his unscrupulousness, he would fine a member of the regiment $3 for walking down town without carrying a cane, and $3 was required to purchase his injured feelings when a soldier got so warm that he was compelled to unbutton his coat. And if a soldier should be so unfortunate as to lose a button from his uniform, even when on duty, it would cost him another $3. Colonel Stotsenburg may not have been responsible for these fool rules, but he was responsible for their idiotic enforcement.

Biographies of Aguinado going the rounds are written in a full-measure, a thing to the evidence that he has organized a bureau in this country, says the Globe-Democrat. It will be noticed that one of his traits is not mentioned by those who dwell on his energy and personal magnetism. He has an unfortunate habit of selling his principles for a pecuniary consideration. General Grosvenor referred to him in a speech in congress as "that unprincipled, that vile traitor, who twice sold his country's honor for money." That is biography without the embellishments. In Aguinado the Spanish strain of blood is dominant. His education was Spanish, and his ideas of government are derived from the same source. He accepted a large sum of Spanish money to leave the Philippines and then sought an opportunity to return as a passenger on one of Dewey's transports. No sooner was he landed than he began to plot to seize the sovereignty of the islands for himself. He assumed at once the airs of an equal to Dewey and now claims to have put the United States in a secondary place.

Some of the contractionists papers picture this venal apology for a man as a hero, the liberator of his people. One such paper, published in Springfield, Mass., says that "Aguinado's defense against the charge of bribery is that the insurgent leaders had lost all their property by fighting Spain and yet had families to support. They were to go as exiles into strange lands. Aguinado deposited the money in a bank at Hong Kong in an above-board manner, thus letting the world know of his possession of cash." The man made would answer just as well for Benedict Arnold. He also had a family to support, and his wife fainted when she heard of the method he had chosen. Aguinado is a bribe taker. The seas cannot cleanse that hard nor the perfumes of Arabia sweeten it. He is not the kind of man Americans care to have dealings with, nor will they recognize his leadership as other than an insidious usurpation.

Contracts have been let for the erection of a large beet sugar factory at Ames, a small town west of Omaha, on the Union Pacific railroad. The work of construction will be completed as soon as the weather will permit in the spring and the factory will be completed in time to start the 1899 crop. The factory will be furnished with the machinery and the Standard C. & O. and other machinery, which already has large in stock at Ames.

THE OUTBURST AT MANILA. This is the exact description of the riot in Manila, which was checked our troops at Manila, and the rioters, with heavy losses to themselves in killed and wounded persons, and with considerable property killed and wounded among our troops. The riot was caused by the attack of the Spanish flag on the ground in front of the American flag, which was the situation had been agreed to by Aguinado and his associates. The riot was a result of the fact that the American flag was hoisted by the American soldiers, and the rioters were angry because they thought the American flag was being hoisted in a disrespectful manner. The riot was a result of the fact that the American flag was hoisted by the American soldiers, and the rioters were angry because they thought the American flag was being hoisted in a disrespectful manner.

W. T. Lindsay, formerly editor of the Beaver City Times, has just been fined by Judge Norris on the charge of criminal libel. The jury, under instructions, brought in a verdict of acquittal without leaving the jury box. E. J. Overing of Red Cloud was the complaining witness. The evidence showed that the statements made in the Times concerning the latter were true.

Salaries of U. S. Army Officers. Mr. G. Vacher, 157 Second St., Chicago. "My wife had a severe case of La Grippe three years ago and it left her with a very bad cough. The tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. One bottle cured her cough entirely. Now we are never without a bottle of this wonderful Cough Medicine in the house." 25 and 50c. F. G. Fricke & Co.

Charles B. Hoyt, the well known author of many rollicking farces and musical comedies, has broken down, and is now in Washington at the Arlington, under the care of Dr. Barry. Dr. Barry, I understand, is preparing for a trip to Hot Springs, Va., where he hopes to recuperate. The failure of Mr. Hoyt's comedy, "A Dog in the Manger," seems to have produced the climax in his unfortunate mental and physical deterioration. It was produced recently in Washington and fell flat, and will be taken from the boards. Mr. Hoyt is said to be a mental and physical wreck, and his friends fear that he will never be himself again, so far as a remarkable productivity in stage authorship is concerned. Of late Mr. Hoyt has been the victim of heavy misfortunes, and it is feared that the recent death of his beautiful wife, Caroline Miskel Hoyt, and that of his child, have preyed on his mind to such an extent that he will be long in recovering from the shock of those great sorrows. Mr. Hoyt has been one of the most prolific of modern farce writers, and has probably scored more popular successes in this line than any three of his contemporaries.

Corporal W. L. Killian of Wahoo, late a member of the First Nebraska, who has just returned from Manila, asserts that there was discrimination between regiments as to the amount of pay received by discharged soldiers, and that the Nebraska boys were the slighted ones. He has written a letter to Adjutant General Barry, who has referred the matter to the secretary of war, with a request that the charges be investigated and the accounts of the soldiers be properly adjusted.

P. E. Sullivan of West Point, who has conducted the Progress or that place for twenty-three years, has sold the paper to McLean & Miller of Wahoo, and will retire to private life. He has made a great success of the paper.

Some five years ago a leading Presbyterian paper, published in Chicago, had this to say of the same Dr. Hillis recently called to Plymouth church: "We give a portrait of Dr. Hillis this week. It is proper to say here that the trustfulness of this young minister into not only his own congregation, but into the hands of his parishioners, is a fact which will be some day remembered, and we think, quite likely to be remembered by the youth of America, if to some extent, to some of our youth, who had early his large in stock at Ames."

CLEANINGS.

SOME of the Chicago people (the editors, at least) are becoming alarmed over the fact that the "effete east" is drawing upon the west for its brightest and best pulpit orators. From a recent editorial published in a Chicago daily we clip the following: "Not content with robbing Central church of the Sunday morning eloquence of Dr. Hillis, New York is now casting covetous eyes upon Dr. Hirsch of Sinai Temple. Next week it will be some other pulpit star, and the week after it will be one or two others. This drain upon the western city's intellect and eloquence has been going on for years. Now Chicago naturally has more brains and talent than any other city on the continent, but no city in the nature of things can have good preachers to burn. Not that New York is in immediate danger of following the example of Sodom and Gomorrah; the supply of fire and brimstone has unfortunately run out on account of a largely increased demand. But though New York is naturally in need of all the religion it can get, it is not fair that Chicago should constantly be robbed of its brightest ecclesiastical lights to supply the Cimmerian void. The whole east needs moral reconstruction in this matter of pulpit robbery. If Gotham has in times past taken from us Dr. Hall and a score of others like him, Boston has also taken Dr. Lorimer and Washington has captured Dr. Bristol, while Dr. Stryker and Dr. Barrows have likewise gone to maintain the old and expiring claims of the east in the matter of intellectual superiority. These are only a few names picked out at random. They stand as representatives of a long list of eminent names that belong to the west, but have been embellished by the insatiable east."

Some five years ago a leading Presbyterian paper, published in Chicago, had this to say of the same Dr. Hillis recently called to Plymouth church: "We give a portrait of Dr. Hillis this week. It is proper to say here that the trustfulness of this young minister into not only his own congregation, but into the hands of his parishioners, is a fact which will be some day remembered, and we think, quite likely to be remembered by the youth of America, if to some extent, to some of our youth, who had early his large in stock at Ames."

A CRITICAL TIME

During the Battle of Santiago.

SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba Were All Heroes—Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations To the Front Saved the Day. P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect savior of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

Lies About the West. A yarn comes from the far west about a slot machine bearing the announcement "Put a quarter in the slot and get a surprise." Sometimes a non-defeat who thinks he wants a surprise drops in a quarter. He gets the surprise all right, for the mechanism points a loaded revolver at him and displays this notice: "Drop in all your money and your watch, or I'll explode in thirty seconds."—New York Tribune.
