

MINERS RETURN HOME.

Five Hundred of Them Are Back From Alaska And Tell Many Stories of Hardships.

Many of the Prospectors Are Broken In Health From Starvation.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 1.—Two steamers arrived from Alaska today, bringing about 500 miners, fortunate and unfortunate. The Laurada came from St. Michaels and the Humboldt from Skagway. The total amount of gold dust they brought down is estimated at $500,000. The reports from the Cape Nome district are still conflicting, but the fact remains that considerable gold dust was brought from there by passengers on the Laurada. The dust is very fine and has to be amalgamated.

S. A. Warren and O. H. Roberts of Denver, brought about $50,000 from the Eagle City district. J. Dickinson, who has been in that district six years, had $25,000.

From the Klondike came J. H. Ladd with $20,000, E. McGrath with $50,000 and Charles Anderson with $40,000. One stowaway miner struggled toward the assay office this morning with a sack of dust fifteen inches long and was asked where he came from. "Eagle City, sir, and that's on the American side, and I'm an American miner, and don't you forget it," he replied. He seemed to take as much pride in the latter part of his statement as he did in his sack of dust.

Many hard luck stories are also told. T. C. Martin of Chicago lies in Providence hospital and his old partner, Thomas Craigie of the same place, is dead on the barren and inhospitable shore of Kotzebue sound. Martin went in two years ago and is a physical wreck, glad to have escaped with his life. He says the tortures they experienced were awful and cannot be described. He had to be helped off the Laurada and into and out of the conveyance by a friend named Kyle, who took him to the hospital.

P. J. Peterson of Chicago, who came back on the Laurada, does not seem to be much worse off for a long, hard winter spent in the Kotzebue.

Others Are Less Fortunate. "I was the only one, though, out of thirty-one who pitched camp that was able, when the ice broke up, to walk out on straight legs," he said. Peterson wintered about 265 miles up the Kobuk river from the mission on Hoodlum inlet.

Mike Daly and two Frenchmen from Providence, R. I., are reported to have died last winter in the Koyukuk country. Their bodies were found this spring. Dr. Groves of Redding, Cal., died in the Koyukuk country of spinal meningitis.

Boring sea was swept by a terrific wind-storm on August 19, 20 and 21 that made all shipping caught out in it struggle hard to live. The British gunboat Phosant, the United States cutters Rush and Cordan and the Laurada were all caught out and had a hard time to live it out. All escaped, however, though the Phosant lost two of its lifeboats, which were smashed by heavy seas washing the decks. The huge waves that broke over the ship piled down into the forecastle, driving every jack tar to the different parts of the ship. The Rush and the Phosant after the storm put into Dutch harbor, where the Laurada saw them. The latter vessel was caught by a hurricane one day this side of Nome at about 10 o'clock on the night of August 19. It came up from the southwest and blew with terrific force until August 21. The Laurada was heading into it and shipped but few seas. Sailors of the cutters said it was the worst storm they every encountered.

Return to the White House. CANTON, Sept. 1.—To an accompaniment of enthusiastic cheers from the crowd that lined the station platform the special train that carried President and Mrs. McKinley started out of the station tonight at 9 o'clock. The president from the rear platform bowed his acknowledgments for the hearty cheers. The train is due in Washington at 10 p. m. Saturday. The president assured his friends here that he had a really restful visit and that he had thoroughly enjoyed the brief sojourn at his home and the intercourse with his old friends.

Dr. Rizey expressed his belief that Mrs. McKinley is steadily recovering from her indisposition of a month or so, although her state of health while here was such that she could see but few people. While in Pittsburgh she received such a shock from the firing of a cannon at the side of the cars as to give her a setback for the time being. She was able this afternoon to take a ride about the city among her favorite drives, being accompanied by the president and her niece, Miss Barber.

Nebraska Corn Crop. CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The monthly crop report which will be published tomorrow in the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy's paper, the Corn Belt, says of Nebraska:

In 316 reports, seventy-five say the condition is excellent, ninety-five call it good, seventy-seven say fair, thirty-three poor.

In Iowa the corn crop reports cover thirty counties. Thirty-five say the crop is excellent, forty-one that it is good, seventy-two that it is fair, and only two call it poor.

Mormons Cause a Tragedy. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Wednesday night six Mormon elders were conducting a meeting in a school house at Pine Bluff, Stewart county, Tenn., when the building was stormed by a mob of over one hundred men. Those present fled in a panic to save their lives, as bullets commenced to strike the building thick and fast. Miss May Harden, a popular young woman of the place, started from the building between the two elders, with a view of checking the work of the mob. While the trio passed down the road, shots were fired from ambush and the woman was almost instantly killed. Her brothers vowed they would avenge the crime, and securing bloodhounds placed them on the trail of the assassins. Barton Vinson, a prominent young farmer and superintendent of a Sunday school, wrote a confession stating he had accidentally killed the girl and wished to rid himself of remorse. Shortly after the confession the bloodhounds trailed to his home. Vinson cut his throat, at the same instant sending a bullet through his brain.

Train Crew Kills Robber. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Springfield, Ill., says: Word was received here late tonight to the effect that a Peoria, Decatur & Evansville train had been held up by robbers at Lincoln, twenty-six miles north of this city. The robbers boarded the night passenger train when it stopped for coal at a mine near the city. Resistance was made by the train crew and one robber was killed. Further details of the affair are not now obtainable.

RAILROAD NOTES AND PERSONALS. Machinist Ed Schulhof is taking a lay off from his duties in the Burlington shops on account of a mishap to one of his eyes.

The Burlington's July statement was issued Thursday, and the officials of that road are pleased at the showing made. The report for the month was considerably better than the most sanguine officials had expected it would be. The surplus available for dividends showed nearly $500,000 increase over that of the corresponding month last year. The report shows earnings to have been made in all departments, with a small decrease in the proportion of fixed charges, which was largely brought about by the refunding done in the last year.

It is said to be the next thing to impossible for the Burlington to secure a sufficient number of men for bridge work and track laying on the new extensions.

T. H. Batten of the Burlington hammer shop had his right arm badly injured while at work Thursday and as a result is taking a lay off.

Electricity in the Cripple Creek Mines. Cripple Creek is perhaps the only gold mining district in the world where a miner can go to his work in an electric street car, descend the mine in an electric hoist, keep his mine dry by an electric pump, do his work by an electric light, run drills operated by electric air compressors (possibly, in time, to be superseded by direct electric drills,) and fire his shots by electricity from a switchboard remote from the point of explosion.

It is estimated that in the Cripple Creek district the use of above of electric power, as compared with steam power, effects a saving of from 15 to 50 per cent, according to the location and circumstances of the mine. Electrical power is revolutionizing the mining industry at Cripple Creek in reducing expenses, increasing profits, and making available lower grade ore, hitherto discarded or ignored as incapable of being mined and treated at a profit.—Thomas Tongue, in The Engineering Magazine for September.

Bahr Gets Back at Him. From Saturday's Daily. Sheriff Wheeler today brought to town John Frolich from Eagle, who was arrested upon complaint of William Bahr, also of Eagle, for striking the latter on the head with a club. One week ago Bahr was taken before Justice Archer and put under bond to keep the peace for threatening to shoot Frolich. Now Frolich is bound over to the district court in the sum of $200. He was given his liberty on his own recognizance.

Earnings of Men and Women. A comparison of the earnings of men and women in the state of New York shows that 69.2 per cent of them earned between $50 and $115 in the quarter, while 37.8 per cent earned between $75 and $100; the number that earned more than $150 in the quarter (equivalent to $2 a day) was insignificant. On the other hand, more than one-half the men earned more than $150 each.

Verne's Many Books. Jules Verne, the French author, who wrote "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and many other books well known by boys, has been busier than any other writer, having written six more books than the number of years he has lived. Perhaps Miss Braddon, among English writers, with 65 novels to her name in 37 years, most nearly approaches this wonderful record.

For wounds, burns, scalds, sores, skin diseases and all irritating eruptions, nothing so soothing and healing as De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Mrs. Emma Bolles, Matron Englewood Nursery, Chicago, says of it: "When all else fails in healing our babies, it will cure." F. G. Fricke & Co.

Dr. W. C. Dean, dentist, 409, 410, McCague building, northwest corner of Fifteenth and Dodge street, Omaha.

INTERESTING LEAGUE MEETING.

Pay a Glowing Tribute to the Memory of Mrs. Winslow. From Saturday's Daily. The business and social meeting of the Epworth league, which was held at the home of Miss Birdella Smith on High school hill last evening, was one of considerable more than ordinary interest. Merritt Kerr, one of the old members, who has just returned from the Philippines, was present and was received with a royal welcome. During the evening the soldier boy talked very entertainingly of what he had seen during his long trip—of the ways and customs of the natives of those islands, etc.

Among other business disposed of the following tribute to the life of Mrs. Winslow was drawn up and placed on the records: "As a token of the respect and love which we all feel for our dear friend and co-worker, Grandma Winslow, who has recently been called from us, we desire to express our deep sorrow for the loss which we, as a League and as individuals, have sustained in her death. Her life, which was one of loving kindness, ever prompted by the most thoughtful and unselfish impulses, was Christ like in its ministrations of strength and inspiration to us in our work, and our hearts unite in a prayer of thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father for the presence of a character so worthy of our admiration and earnest emulation. We shall each strive to attain those Christian graces and virtues which made this life so beautiful and its closing so complete."

The meeting was the most enthusiastic and interesting of any held for a long time, there being a large crowd in attendance.

SCURVY IN INFANTS. Within a few years physicians have discovered a new disease in children. It seems to be the same as the scurvy that attacks sailors and others who have been forced to live for a long time on a monotonous diet, especially one containing an insufficient quantity of fruits and vegetables.

Strictly speaking, this is not a new disease, but rather a newly recognized one, formerly looked upon in many cases as merely a form of rickets. It is a chronic affection, coming on very slowly, the parents' attention being first attracted by the fact that the child does not seem to thrive.

The baby, most commonly from six to eighteen months old, is peevish and at the same time apathetic; if left alone it makes little complaint and does not interest in what is going on about it, but it begins to resist and to cry as soon as any one attempts to lift it.

It becomes pale, ceases to gain in weight, or even falls off, loses its appetite, throws up its food, and often has diarrhea. Sometimes, however, the appetite, instead of falling away, becomes ravenous and the poor little baby eats and eats, and cries for more, and still wastes away.

A peculiar symptom of the disease is the appearance of pear-shaped swellings on the thighs and legs, the smaller and pointing toward the joints. Frequently these swellings, which are due to a collection of blood beneath the membrane covering the bone, are noticed on the arms as well, or even on the collar-bones. Black and blue spots of variable size appear in the skin of the limbs and sometimes of the body.

It is curious to note that scurvy attacks the children of the well-to-do more frequently than those of the poor. The cause of the disease is undoubtedly improper diet, but just what kind of improper diet has not yet been decided. It occurs most frequently in children who are fed on artificial food, yet nursing infants who have never had anything but mother's milk sometimes suffer, and this change is something that needs careful study, since it will have peculiarities of its own in almost every case. The addition of some fruit juice especially that of oranges, limes or grapes, to the new diet is generally of great value, and sometimes will effect a cure without other modifications of the previous diet.

A Drink for the Soldiers. One of the most frequent causes of suffering among soldiers who march under a hot sun is intense thirst. Few sensations are more distressing than the parched and burning feeling that attends this condition of the tongue. Experiments and tests of various sorts show that cold tea is one of the very best beverages for thirsty soldiers. The infusion should not be strong—just enough to be bright and refreshing. It is, of course, made with sterilized water, and if supplied to the army in moderation would do more to keep up a standard of temperance than almost anything that could be furnished. Soldiers are told they must not drink water when passing through the enemy's country, or where there is danger of contamination. Naturally, they resort to spirituous liquors, than which nothing is more demoralizing. A small quantity of tea, sweetened and refreshed, and is also, to some extent, a stimulant. It is, in addition, what housekeepers call "tasty," and leaves a pleasant feeling in the mouth and throat. Army officers almost always look with concern upon anything that interferes with a plentiful supply of excellent drinking water. In camp and in places where depots of supplies are easily reached, cold tea can be furnished in quantity, especially if there is an opportunity for distilling or boiling water. The former is preferable if the supply is exceedingly bad. If it is only tolerable, boiling answers very well. Persons who are in the habit of using it acquire a decided taste for boiled water, greatly preferring it to that which is uncooked.

GUNS THAT DON'T KILL.

Guns have plenty of uses apart from killing. For instance, the signal gun of a ship is intended solely for an announcing her arrival on a coast.

Again, in desert countries, where water is difficult to collect out of a mere dampness of sand, a gun barrel sunk into the ground will collect moisture in the bore, and many a life has been saved by a timely suck at the muzzle.

In many an English town the 1 o'clock gun fired by electricity from Greenwich observatory is used for setting all the clocks; while the minute-guns are fired for public mourning and national rejoicings take the form of a royal salute.

A slaver captured with a cargo of slaves in the tropics was put in charge of a prize crew. On her voyage the water ran short, and both slaves, slavers and prize crew were dying of thirst. This set one of the marines—a sergeant—thinking, and he hit upon a brilliant idea. After gaining reluctant consent from the captain he took all the available gun-barrels, plugged up the breech-ends of a few of them, filled their bores with sea-water, and set them end up among the coals of the galley-fire. As the steam rose he ran it through one gun-barrel until it got cool. The cooling steam collected in the shape of excellent fresh water, of which he procured a steady though small supply.—Answers.
