GARFIELD PARK FLAG RAISING Was Attended By a Large and Enthus

instic Crowd of People. From Wednesday's Daily.

The flag raising and the dedication of Garfield park to public use took place at the park last evening, and was attended by a large number of people, it being estimated that there were close to 1,500 people on the

The affair elicited no small amount of enthusiasm, as the sight of the stars and stripes always brings out enthusiasm in a crowd of American citizens. In a neat little speech Mr. Windham, as secretary of the park commission, talked of the ground being set out for a public park and of the workings of the commission, and at the close introduced H. D. Travis, who spoke on the origin of the flag and how it was honored and loved by the American people. The M. W. A. band rendered a number of pieces during the evening, which added to the pleasures. The raising of the flag was very cleverly performed under the direction of Will Coolidge, it being rolled up untit the top was reached, when, by pulling a string, it of bicycle paths through the streets.
