Mark White and Wife Return From a Trip to the Gold Fields.

Mr. White Gives an Account of Their Travels in Those Regions - Says a Three Years' Resident in That Country is More Than Any Man Can Endure

Mark White and wife arrived home early this morning fresh from the Klondike. They are looking somewhat lighter in weight, but not in color, having a healthy rosy color in their faces. The former was busily engaged shaking hands with friends about the city and Mrs. White immediately went to the home of her parents, Prof. Stadelmann and wife, where she has been engaged in relating her experiences and visiting her father and mother, who were overjoyed at the return of their son-in-law and daughter. Mark wears the same old smile and is the same jovial Mark that he was before taking his departure for the gold fields of Alaska, notwithstanding the fact that his experience has been a rough one—as is necessary for anyone who goes to that country.

In conversation with a NEWS reporter Mr. White told an interesting story of the great Klondike.

"In the first place," said the man with a big gold nugget dangling from his watch chain, "I was just about two years late in getting into the gold region. Everything that was of any real value was staked out and the fellows who went in when I did had a hard time to find anything that would pay. It is a hard country to live in, and while it did not injure my health, being stout and hearty, the scurvy or some of these common diseases will get the best of any man who will stay there two or three years. One reason why I got along better than many men was because I was always on the go. I went into that country with the firm determination of winning a stake, if such a thing was possible, but I didn't, and now I am pretty well satisfied that the state of Nebraska will hold me—for a while at least. Some men who had built their hopes on getting rich got down-hearted when their claims did not pay and would go to their camps and stay, finally dying with scurvy.

"I have a contested claim on what is known as Gold Run, but I do not know who will get it. That is the only thing that would ever take me back to that country, and I am not sure I would go if I should get the claim."

Mr. White says that a man would not have one chance in a thousand in securing a paying claim now, and as there are about twenty men to every job it is a poor show. He did pretty well with his dog team in hauling freight, and as a result came out a great deal better than the average. Men are leaving the country as fast as they possibly can get away.

Prof. Stadelmann, Mrs. White's brother, who went with Mark, did not come back with them. At Cape Moran, several miles north of the mouth of the Yukon river, there have recently been discoveries made, and he went up to look over that country, but will probably come out soon.

Mr. and Mrs. White brought some nice specimens with them. Some of the gold they had made into rings, pins, etc. One of the most beautiful things was a pin Mr. White had made for his mother. It represented a set of miner's tools—a pick and shovel and a gold pan, with a small piece of gold in its natural state in the pan and a nugget on the point of the pick. He also brought one of the dogs which he used for freighting, which he prizes very highly.

About 2 o'clock Mr. White departed for the home of his parents, iv. White and wife, south of town, saying: "I am now going home and tell my good old father I have come home to die! Oh, not to die—to eat." And away he went.

Tries to End Her Life.
Mrs. John Geiser, who resides with her husband in the north part of the city, has been a sufferer from tumor for a long time, and becoming despondent a few days ago she secured a razor and attempted to end her sufferings by cutting her throat. She made a bad wound in the throat, but did not cut deep enough to have the desired effect. A doctor was called and the incision was sewed up, but it is not thought she can live long, as the tumor is very bad. The family have the sympathy of the community in their sad affliction.

An Enjoyable Affair.
A number of Plattsmouth people went down to Mr. Todd's grove, on the Platte, last Sunday. They took with them some well-filled baskets, and with the splendid ice cream and the cool drive home, all felt they had spent one of the most enjoyable days of their lives. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Selver and family, Mrs. George May and family, of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. S. Osborn and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thompson and son, and Ollie Osborn.

FLEMISH OAK.
The Favorite Wood for Fashionable and Artistic Furniture.
More and more beautiful are the articles of furniture made in Flemish oak—the wood that now seems the greatest favorite for fashionable and artistic furniture, says the New York Post. For the dining-room and library its richness and elegance of effect can hardly be surpassed. If some housekeepers still frown upon the dust-harboring quality of its elaborate carvings the argument is met by art lovers with the word that the most beautiful things need care and that carved Flemish oak richly repays the effort needed to keep it clean. Massive sideboards are shown in the long, colonial design, whose single shelf is supported by wonderfully carved little men, fourteen and eighteen inches high, with pointed heads. The massive dining-room table which accompanies the sideboard has still more and larger specimens of these same droll-looking little fellows. The beautiful Flemish oak chairs for dining-room and library have sides and backs in stamped leather of rich and subdued colors. In some of them a coat of arms is displayed—anybody's presumably—and it was the admission of the salesman when the question was asked that this sort sold better in democratic America than any other. The library tables are as often covered with the same stamped leather and left with their beautiful stretch of dark, highly polished surface.

HAPPY WEDDING IN COLORADO.

Supts. of Mrs. Mae Street, Formerly of Plattsmouth.

The following account of the marriage of Miss Mae Street, of Durango, Colo., on July 26, is taken from the Herald of that city and will be read with interest by Plattsmouth people.

"One of the prettiest weddings that was ever solemnized in Durango occurred at the home of the bride, on the boulevard, last evening, when Mr. Schuyler C. Morgan and Miss Mae Street were united in marriage by Rev. C. H. Miller.

"The house was beautifully decorated in white and pink, sweet peas being used in profusion. Preceding the ceremony the sister of the bride, Miss Clara Street, sang in her own exquisite manner, 'Calm as the Night and May Morning.' She was accompanied on the piano by Prof. York. As the last notes of the song died away the soft notes of Lohengrin peeped forth and the bridal party entered and took their places in the south parlor, where the flowers and vines were in the greatest profusion. Here they were met by their pastor, Rev. C. H. Miller.

"The bride was beautifully attired in the daintiest white organdy, with ribbon garniture—her dark hair was worn high. She carried an immense bouquet of white sweet peas, tied with a white satin ribbon, with long ends and loops. She was preceded by her sister, Miss Clara Street, her maid of honor. She wore a gown of transparent organdy, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas tied with pink satin ribbon.

"The groom wore the conventional black. He was attended by his brother, Judge Chancellor T. Morgan, best man. Rev. Miller in an impressive manner performed the ceremony—using the beautiful ring ritual.

"The bride's former home was Plattsmouth, Nebraska, where she will be sadly missed by her parents and friends. She is claimed by Durango as one of her fairest and most favored daughters. She has taught with success in our public schools; has been prominent in social and musical circles and in the work of her church. She is a talented singer and her lovely voice has been generously lent in Durango on many occasions. The groom is a prominent young lawyer of fine presence and marked literary ability. He was one of the first to enlist in the war with Spain and belonged to the famous company of Roosevelt's Rough Riders.

"Mrs. W. T. Street, mother of the bride, has been visiting her daughters and was present at the wedding. She was handsomely gowned in black and white silk."

MARY ANDERSON'S WAY.
How She Settled a Stage Masher in Short Order.

Mary Anderson Navarro had probably a more persistent fight against the wealthy stage masher than any woman in the profession who confined herself to the "strictly legitimate," says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Early in her career she was playing in Hartford and was entertained by a number of the literary people there, headed by Charles Duncy Warner, all of whom had the greatest admiration for her genius. At one of these "afternoons" she met a howling swell of the city and behaved graciously to him. On the strength of this young fellow ordered a big supper at a leading restaurant and asked a number of his friends to meet Miss Anderson, whom she certainly would not have met under any other circumstances. Then, during the last act of the performance, a messenger was sent to bid the fair actress to the feast. To the mortification of her host and amusement of his guests the messenger came back with only a verbal message that "Miss Anderson was not on a foraging expedition."

INFORMATION AND OPINION.

It is said that the railroads are storing vast quantities of coal for the winter, and this fact is taken to indicate that there will be no trouble experienced by coal dealers in getting orders filled this fall and winter. It is not believed that soft coal will be higher this winter than last.

THE editor of the Post has been advertising the fact that he would send hot political letters from every precinct in the county, but a correspondent of THE NEWS has given away the secret of how the letters were to be prepared. The editor of the Post prepared such a letter as he wanted written and sent it out for the correspondent to copy and return as his own views over his own name, but the gentleman refused to have his political views dictated to him, so declined to sign the article, but has touched on the situation in another column of THE NEWS. Better revise your list, as politics have changed some in Cass county in the last four years.

Marriage in Spain takes place by day or at night, according to the fortune of the young people or their station in life. If well to do the ceremony comes off in the early part of the morning.

SOME PLAIN TALK FROM CAVEY.
Citizen of Western Cass Expresses a Few Political Opinions.

WABASH, Neb., July 31. — Editor WEEKLY NEWS HERALD—Dear Sir: An article appeared in the Saunders County Journal, July 27, signed "Taxpayer, Wabash Neb." In his article he says the taxpayers of this county ought to know that there have been several jobs perpetrated with judicial sanction. In his article he mentions one case, the B. & M. against Cass county, and says our present district judge is owned by the B. & M. He also says this same judge seeks a renomination at the hands of the populists and democrats, seeks an endorsement of the reform forces of this county and district of what, he says, is judicial robbery. The party who wrote the article referred to did not have the manhood to sign his own name but signed it "Taxpayer" and claims to belong to the reform forces. If he will write his honest convictions or the convictions of the parties in Plattsmouth he will be the article for, he will say his reasons for condemning our district judge are because he or the ones he wrote it for could not use the judge of the district court. The people out here are aware who wrote the article for the lawyer in Plattsmouth. A leading populist and a number of leading democrats inform me that it will do the lawyer no good as the present judge will be renominated.

Politics out here are commencing to warm up. We are told you fellows down there want the earth on convention day, sheriff, county treasurer, clerk of the court and county judge. As to sheriff we understand Frank Johnson is being pushed out here they are all friendly to the boy from Manila, providing he is not being pushed by the old politicians who have been laid to rest. As to county treasurer, history repeats itself—Plattsmouth will have the treasurer. If a republican received the nomination in western Cass, the democrats would nominate a man from Plattsmouth and the republicans down in that neck of the woods would vote for him and repeat the same old story, but the boys on the back, vote her straight—that is, the boys out here should vote her straight, when election comes—and on county treasurer the republicans of eastern Cass did not see the treasurer on the republican ticket. But I think you fellows will do better this time.

Trichinosis Epidemic.
The most serious epidemic of trichinosis on record happened in 1865. In the little town of Heidesleben, in Saxony, a butcher killed three hogs and made them into sausages. They were eaten by a large number of the inhabitants of the little town. Several hundred persons fell desperately ill and over 100 died.

Champion Shot of the World.
Miss Annie Oakley writes: "Myself and many of the Buffalo Bill Wild West Co. have given Allen's Foot-Ease, the powder to shake into the shoes, a most thorough trial, and it does all if not more than you claim." It instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for swollen, hot, aching, nervous or sweating feet. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Sample sent free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Another Excursion to the Black Hills.
Date, Tuesday, August 8.
Rate, one fare for the round trip. Limit, thirty days from date of sale. The summer resorts of the Black Hills are filled as never before. Hot Springs and Sylvan Lake are crowded with pleasure seekers. The hotels and sanitariums are doing the biggest business in their history, but there is still room for more.

That Hot Springs thermal waters have lost none of their old-time efficacy is proven by the fact that more people have been cured or benefited this year than at any time in the past.

Remember the date of this low rate excursion—Tuesday, August 8. Remember, too, that the Burlington route runs a through sleeping car to Hot Springs. Get aboard it at Lincoln or anywhere north of there and go through without change or delay of any kind.

Real Warm Weather Rest and Comfort.
There is a powder to be shaken into the shoes called Allen's Foot-Ease, invented by Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y., which druggists and shoe dealers say is the best thing they have ever sold to cure swollen, burning, sore and tender or aching feet. Some dealers claim that it makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It certainly will cure corns and bunions and relieve instantly sweating, hot or smarting feet. Allen's Foot-Ease costs only a quarter, and the inventor will send a sample free to any address.
