INDIANS ON WARPATH.

Alarming Reports From Mexico In Regard to the Outbreak of the Yaqui Tribe.

Settlers in the Hostile Country Are in Great Need of Immediate Help.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—A special to the Herald from Austin, Tex., says: A dispatch was received here tonight from Casa Grande, state of Chihuahua, Mexico, saying that one regiment of Mexican cavalry had just left there and started on its way to the upper waters of the Yaqui river, in the state of Sonora, and that it is the evident intention of these troops to enter the Yaqui Indian country from the north and endeavor to drive the warring hordes out of their strongholds in the Sierra mountains, where they are rapidly gathering in large forces.

One body of rebellious Indians have fortified themselves in the Bacatote mountains, between the Yaqui and Metapuro rivers, and an effort is to be made to keep the two forces of warriors apart. It is known, however, that the two divisions are in constant communication by means of couriers, and it is feared the Indians are attempting to draw the Mexican soldiers into an ambush. Two more parties of American prospectors have just arrived from Casa Grande. They had a rich lacer camp near the junction of the Pappichio and Batopio rivers which they abandoned upon hearing alarming reports of murders and other terrible outrages committed by roving bands of Yaquis at points below them.

Captain Martin Moss, an old Arizona prospector, is a member of one of these parties. He was one of the first prospectors to enter the Yaqui country after it was made safe for gold hunters. He says the Indians are undoubtedly well prepared for a long and bitter resistance. He believes the majority of American prospectors will hear of the uprising. Any delay in breaking camp may mean their death.

Captain Moss also says there are not as many prospectors along the Yaqui river as is generally supposed. Several thousands went into the new country during the last two years, but the majority of them were disappointed in their search for gold and got out as quickly as they could. He estimates that there are not over 500 Americans in the whole district. There is only one extensive mining plant within easy reach of the Indians. It is in the vicinity of the Barocaya and is owned by California capitalists.

BANQUET TO THE NEW SPEAKER.

Colonel Henderson the Guest of Honor at Rhode Island Clam Dinner.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 7.—Men prominent in national, state and municipal affairs gathered today at the Pomphrey club, overlooking Narragansett bay, to do honor to Colonel David G. Henderson of Iowa, slated for the speakership of the house, who was the guest of the Rhode Island delegation in congress. In addition to the governor of the state and other state officials of note, there were present: Senator Dewey of New York, Senator Gallagher of New Hampshire, Congressman Boutelle of Rhode Island, Congressman Boutelle of Maine, Weymouth, Knox, Roberts and Fitzgerald of Massachusetts, Littlefield of Maine, Russell, Sperry, Henry and Hill of Connecticut, and Sullaway of New Hampshire.

Covers were laid for 250, a genuine Rhode Island clam dinner, with all the extras, being served. Congressman Capron of Rhode Island acted as toastmaster.

Brief addresses were made by Governor Dyer, Colonel Henderson, Senators Dewey, Wetmore and Gallagher, Congressman Boutelle, Hill of Rhode Island, Russell of Connecticut, and Captain McLean, U. S. N.

Colonel Henderson, in his remarks, alluded to the joy of freedom from the attacking public and his pleasure at meeting so many of his colleagues on such an occasion. The other speeches were of an informal nature.

Was It Murder?

Joseph Van Horn, who lives in Cass county near the county line, was in town yesterday and told about a shooting affray that occurred near Union a week or more ago. He said that a party of nine men were coming down the river on a boat and stopped near his place to eat dinner. While they were on the bank two of them got into a fight and one shot the other in the stomach. Joe helped carry the wounded man onto the boat, the men saying that they would come to this city where the man could receive better medical attention. As near as the News can learn the boat did not stop here, or at least no physician was called.—Nebraska City News.

Meeting of Stockholders.

The adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Cass County Agricultural society was held at Jones' livery barn Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Various matters of minor importance were considered, but no definite action taken in regard to the holding of a fair this year. The following board of directors was appointed for the ensuing term: President—A. B. Todd, Vice-President—Levi Churchill, Treasurer—F. J. Morgan, Superintendent of Grounds—Henry Eikenberry, Secretary—C. D. Cummins.

HAVELOCK ITEMS.

From The Times.

Mrs. and Mrs. Pat Egan and two children were up from Plattsmouth Sunday visiting with the family of his brother, Tom Egan.

S. C. Wheeler, traveling engineer on the southern division, and stationed at Wymore, was at the shops Wednesday on business.

Mrs. E. Perry came up from Plattsmouth Tuesday, driving overland, and will spend some time visiting with the family of her sister, Mrs. C. R. Dudley.

Mrs. George Copeland left last Wednesday for Arapahoe, Neb., accompanied by her son, George, and her niece. The latter will remain there at her home and Mrs. Copeland and George expect to return tomorrow.

George Ballance of Germantown was in town Tuesday looking after his business interests. His family left that evening for Denver on a three weeks outing, while George went down to Plattsmouth to visit his brother, William, and look after some matters there.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

An Atchison woman hates the men so heartily that she always looks slouchy, so they will not admire her.

There are still some old-fashioned people who believe that a man has to be horny-handed in order to be honest.

The most fortunate man in the world lives in Atchison. He is an old bachelor and has no kin strings tied to him.

"Well, I'll tell you all about it," a man said to a friend today. "No you won't," the friend replied. "I haven't time to listen."

We have noticed that a girl stops making fun of a young man's writing at about the same time that she quits showing his letters.

A woman's great consolation at a funeral is the presence of former old servants in the family who have come some distance to attend.

SAVED HALF.

Steamer Wrecked, Cut in Two and a New Bow Built.

A remarkable feat in marine architecture has been accomplished at WallSEND-on-Tyne. Last autumn the steamer Milwaukee, one of the largest cargo vessels afloat, owned by Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co. of Liverpool, ran ashore on the "scars" of Cruden, a line of half-hidden reefs on the Aberdeenshire coast. The divers who were sent down reported that there was a rock 30 feet long and 8 feet in height standing through the bottom of the vessel in the main hold. In these circumstances the idea of saving the whole ship was at once abandoned, and it was determined to cut the vessel at the after end of the main hatch, the bulkheads in the stern division of the steamer being undamaged, no water having reached the engines. The method resorted to for severing the vessel was the application of successive charges of dynamite, but so excellent was the quality of the steel that no less than 140 pounds of dynamite was required to burst the plates asunder. Eventually the after portion of the huge steamer was detached and safely floated, thus preserving the engines and boilers and leaving 160 feet of the forward section on the rocks. The salvaged half of the Milwaukee was towed to the Tyne and docked; the original builders of the vessel were intrusted with the rebuilding of the forward and missing portion. This work has been completed with great expedition. Such a feat stands without parallel in the history of the sea. Vessels have been cut in two and lengthened amidships, but there is no instance on record of half a steamer being saved from a wreck and then converted into a new boat by the rebuilding of the missing portion.

Destroying City Refuse.

Lord Kelvin of Glasgow has made an interesting report on the destruction of town refuse at Edinburgh, Bradford and Oldham. He says that in one instance he experimented on damp asphalt refuse, containing a large proportion of night soil and vegetable matter, which was all consumed without the slightest trace of smoke, and the residual products were, besides, of great commercial value. In another case the steam produced by the process of destruction was employed to drive electric lighting machinery and for other light purposes. No coal or coke was employed and there was an entire absence of smoke.

Different Pappas.

A North Omaha lad of seven winters recently committed an offense against the parental rule and was called to account. The little fellow prevaricated about it. "You should not tell me a story son," said the fond papa. "That only makes the matter worse," George Washington would not tell a lie, and when he confessed to his papa that he had done wrong his papa forgave him and did not punish him. "That was all right for George," said the youngster, "but they ain't making no pappas now like he had." The offender was let off with a reprimand.—Omaha World.

A Dangerous Topic.

"What has become of that little girl who recites 'Little Drops of Water'?" asked one of the boarders. "Well," answered the young man with wide ears, "with the present thaw in the streets and the possibility of a freshet up the river, her mother thought it would be just as well to keep her quiet for awhile."—Washington Star.
