

A VERY NOISY WELCOME

Bedlam Breaks Loose When the Regiment Pulls Into Nebraska's Capital City.

Governor Poynter and His Staff Meets Trains Upon Their Arrival at the Depot.

LINCOLN, Aug. 29.—The first section of the train bearing the returning members of the First Nebraska volunteers reached here at 9 o'clock tonight. The occasion was the biggest thing in the way of an ovation that has ever occurred in this city. Everybody was out to greet the returning soldiers, and as the train pulled into the station bedlam broke loose. Every conceivable thing with which a noise could be made was brought into play and the very air was rent to pieces. The joy of the soldiers at reaching home again was only equaled by that of their friends and relatives, who had gathered in thousands to welcome them. It was the warmest greeting ever witnessed in this neck of the woods.

Now since the regiment started from this city last year on its trip to the Philippines has Lincoln been so gaily and profusely decorated with the stars and stripes. Hundreds of thousands of yards of bunting were pressed into service and not only were the buildings in the downtown district decorated, but residences all over the city presented an almost solid front of the national colors. All incoming trains were crowded with relatives of the soldiers and it is thought that fully 8,000 people came to the city to welcome home the soldiers. As early as noon today people began to congregate around the Burlington depot and by the time the first section arrived the crowd numbered over 10,000. At 8:15 a signal was blown at the city water works to let the people know that the train would arrive in thirty minutes. For several hours before the train finally arrived, the depot platform presented a scene of wildest enthusiasm. Campaign horns, giant firecrackers, revolvers and everything capable of making a noise was pressed into service.

Governor Poynter and his staff, in full dress uniform, with side arms, gathered at the executive office in the capitol building early in the evening and at the thirty minute signal all proceeded to the depot. Large delegations were present from Columbus, David City, Fullerton, Madison and Bennett to meet the companies from those places. Mrs. Killian, wife of Major Killian, was here with the Columbus delegation, which was headed by Mayor Fitzpatrick.

Ovations Along the Line.
The ovations along the route after the train entered Nebraska were continuous. Words are inadequate to paint the scenes all along the line from the state boundary to the state capital. At every station crowds were assembled and as the train went rushing by the air was rent with cheers to which the soldier boys responded with a will. The pent-up enthusiasm found vent in every conceivable way, and even at the door of every farm house by the roadside stood the inmates waving a warm welcome to the boys returning to their homes.

Adjutant Barry and the rest of the state house gang who managed to get on board the train at different points in their time endeavoring to induce the men to give the cold shoulder to the grand reception planned for them by the city of Omaha and go direct to their homes. In some instances they were successful, but most of the men wanted to go on to the metropolis and share in the hospitality so lavishly offered them.

Frost for Holcomb.
Holcomb and Hoxie met the train at Hastings and, in company with Barry, Eager and other popocrats attempted to hold a reception, but the immense crowd attracted all attention. Hoxie boarded the train and came along The Columbus train is being held here to take Companies E and K home. Many of Company E from Madison voted to go direct home. Company L has invited the regiment to make its headquarters at their army. Senator Thurston and party in a special car are attached to the first section, having joined the regiment at Denver.

Company A of York left the train at Hastings and went direct home on a special train that was in waiting for them. Twenty men of the company, however, remained on the train and will go to Omaha to participate in the festivities. On arrival at Lincoln Company I of Bennett ordered a special train. Company K of Fullerton, the David City company and the men from Madison will go to Omaha. A big delegation from Columbus was here as the train came in and used every effort to have the company go direct home.

Lieutenant Colonel Eager is in on the deal to have the regiment break up along the road, although he himself says he is going on to Omaha. Eager has ably seconded the efforts of Barry in this matter.

The second and third sections of the train carrying Companies K, C, I, D, M and B arrived here at 10 o'clock Company G of Geneva branched off at Fairmont. Nearly all members of Companies C of Beatrice and H of Nelson will go from here to their homes on the early morning trains. The order for a special train to carry home the Bennett company was canceled late tonight, nearly all members desiring to go to Omaha. The Lincoln, Broken Bow, Fullerton and Columbus companies are split up, about half of each deciding to continue to Omaha.

Meets Old Time Friends.
EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Aug. 29.—Six years ago tonight William McKinley, then governor, opened his second term from Colonel John Taylor's porch, and the fact was recalled when Congressmen Taylor, who now represents the old McKinley district in congress, spoke from the same porch this evening, welcoming the president back to the old Eighteenth district. Seven thousand people thronged the grounds and street around the Taylor homestead.

In response the president said: "As I voice appreciation of this welcome, I can't help recalling that from this very place year in and year out I have met this people and they always gave me the same generous greeting. You have always been firm in your friendship for me, and though I have been absent for more than four years, that regard I feel for you has never abated."

Mrs McKinley came out on the porch for a minute to bow to the crowd and was given an ovation. The demonstration continued for an hour.

HONORS WILL ALL GO TO DEWEY.
McKinley to Be a Secondary Personage at the New York Reception.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—When the committee of the Dewey reception committee waited on the president at Long Branch last week Mr. McKinley told them that he would willingly do anything in his power to do honor to the admiral. He expressed his fears, however, that his presence as president of the United States might divert some of the honors that should be wholly for Dewey.

Acting Mayor Guggenheimer said today that the committee expects the president to come here on the Dolphin. If he does the mayor of the city and the governor of the state will stem down to the anchorage and Admiral Dewey will visit them. Then the mayor will return to his official boat. Admiral Dewey will go on board the Olympia and the president will visit the Olympia. His visit will be returned by the admiral, who will be presented to the visiting governors. In the meantime the Dolphin, with the president on board, will steam away and Mr. McKinley will take no further part in the official proceedings.

If the president does not come to the city the mayor, with the governor of the state and the others of the city's guests, will visit the admiral. He will formally return the call and then the naval parade will begin with the mayor's boat in attendance on the Olympia.

Boycott to Be Called Off.
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—It is believed the boycott against the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf will be called off by its connections. Counsel for a number of Chicago and Missouri river railroads have been advising, it is said, the officers of the companies to obey the injunction of the United States court to prevent them from canceling connection arrangements and pro-rating arrangements. It is also reported that the alleged boycotting lines have been advised not to answer or fight the injunction, but to continue operations with the Gulf road, and the permanent restraining order to be made permanent. Officials of the Chicago-Missouri river roads were today served with the court's order.

Farwell Reception.
From Wednesday's Daily.
The farwell reception of the Woman's club to Mrs. O. H. Snyder was held last evening at the home of Mrs. S. H. Atwood, the late president. The rooms were beautifully decorated with palms and flowers, the club colors predominating.

Quite a number of the club women were present to wish Mrs. Snyder farewell, and to extend their best wishes for her happiness and success in her new home. The music both vocal and instrumental was much enjoyed.

Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room, Misses Anna Sullivan and Elizabeth Waugh presiding at the punch bowls.

The club very much regrets Mrs. Snyder's departure, she having been one of the most popular and permanent members.

Frank H. Johnson Declines.
To my many friends who are urging me to become a candidate for the office of sheriff, I wish to say, after considering the matter carefully, I have concluded that I will not be a candidate. I feel grateful to my friends and thank them very much for the interest manifested in my behalf. Hoping that the policy and principles of the republican party may prevail. I am, Respectfully Yours,
FRANK H. JOHNSON.

A FEEBLE PROFESSIONAL CALL.

Dr. Hall Gets a Free Ride and Jump From a Rapidly Moving Train.
From Thursday's Daily.
Dr. J. H. Hall had an experience last night which he will not soon forget. Along late in the night he received an urgent call in an obstructed case across the river. Taking a case of instruments with him, while visions of a good fee floated in his mind, he took it down to the river and crossed on the bridge. Soon after getting over into Iowa he met the party who had called for him and was informed that he had arrived too late and his services were unneeded. Just then a freight train was heard coming from the east and he was told that he could just as well get a free ride back to town, as the train would stop in the yards here. So he waited till the caboose came along and, as it was moving slowly over the bridge, he sprang aboard. There the conductor told him the train would stop in Plattsmouth, but he might get off at the west end of the bridge, possibly. By the time the caboose reached there, however, the train was going too rapidly and the conductor told him it was too dangerous to be undertaken and advised him to wait till they got to Louisville. He suggested that possibly they might stop up at the Occipolis crossing of the M. P. railway and he could possibly jump off—and walk home. As the train approached the crossing he thought it was slowing up, and, gathering his instrument case and his cane in one hand, he braced himself on the rear step—and jumped into the darkness, only to learn when it was too late that he was entirely mistaken as to the speed of the train, for when he struck terra firma his cane and case of instruments went flying off in different directions, the case flying open and the instruments scattering about very promiscuously, while he landed first on his feet and then fell forward, striking one cheek and both hands on the hard cinders, scratching off the epidermis and giving him such a shock as to almost take the life out of him. After a time he managed to regain his feet, and, looking at his watch, discovered that it was 2:30 o'clock. He then leisurely picked up his belongings and walked into town, arriving at home in the sorest condition he ever experienced—and without a cent of a fee to pay him for all of his rough experience.

MARRIAGE OF A YOUNG COUPLE.
Home of Wayne Twitchell the Scene of the Happy Event.
From Wednesday's Daily.
The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Twitchell, on Garfield park square, was the scene this afternoon of an auspicious event, wherein the lives and fortunes of two estimable young people were joined, under the impressive rites of the German Lutheran church. The rooms in which the ceremony was performed presented, with the artistic furnishings and draperies, a most fitting background for the group which formed the central tableaux upon this memorable occasion.

At 2:30 o'clock, as the inspiring strains of Lohengrin's wedding march floated through the flower-scented rooms, the bridal party marched to the bay window, where, beneath the folds of the stars and stripes, the hymeneal knot was tied by the Rev. Mr. Freund, uniting "for weal or for woe" the lives of Miss Joie Oehlrich and Mr. Alfred Weber of Omaha. Miss Marie Martens was the maid of honor; the Misses Lotta Fricke and Georgie Whidden officiating as bridesmaids, while Mr. Wayne Twitchell gave the bride away, Mr. Fred Martens acting as best man.

The bride, who is a young lady of great sweetness of character and many accomplishments, looked charming in a gown of white French organdie, over which fell the bridal veil of Brussels net, which was caught up and held in place by the engagement ring, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The groom is a talented young business man of Omaha, of sterling worth and many attributes—his many friends testifying to his excellent qualities.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party sat down to a beautiful spread collation. Mr. and Mrs. Weber departed on the north bound train this evening for their future home in Council Bluffs, carrying with them the sincere and hearty well wishes of their friends, together with many handsome and costly presents.

The invited guests were Mrs. G. Fries, Misses Mary and Emma Smith, Georgie and Neenah Whidden, Henrietta Fries and Lotta Fricke and Mr. John Heelock of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. S. Burton; Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Guild, Mrs. C. S. Johnson, Mrs. Henry Marten and Misses Mary and Amelia Martin and Louise Smith.

Adjudged Insane.
From Thursday's Daily.
Oscar Thompson, a young man who resides with his mother and brother in the south part of town, became violently insane last evening, attacking his mother and pounding her into a state of insensibility. He then attacked his brother, who had interfered to protect their mother, and pummeled him most outrageously. He was finally overcome and Marshal Slater took him to jail.

The board of insanity was called together today and after an examination of the unfortunate man adjudged him insane. He will probably be sent to the asylum tomorrow. This is not the first time he has been afflicted that way.
