

M. L. HAYWARD DEAD.

Passed Away at His Home at 6:30 This Morning.

Had Been a Sufferer From Paralysis For the Past Three Weeks. He Had Never Fully Recovered From the Attack He Suffered at Brownville—Biographical Sketch.

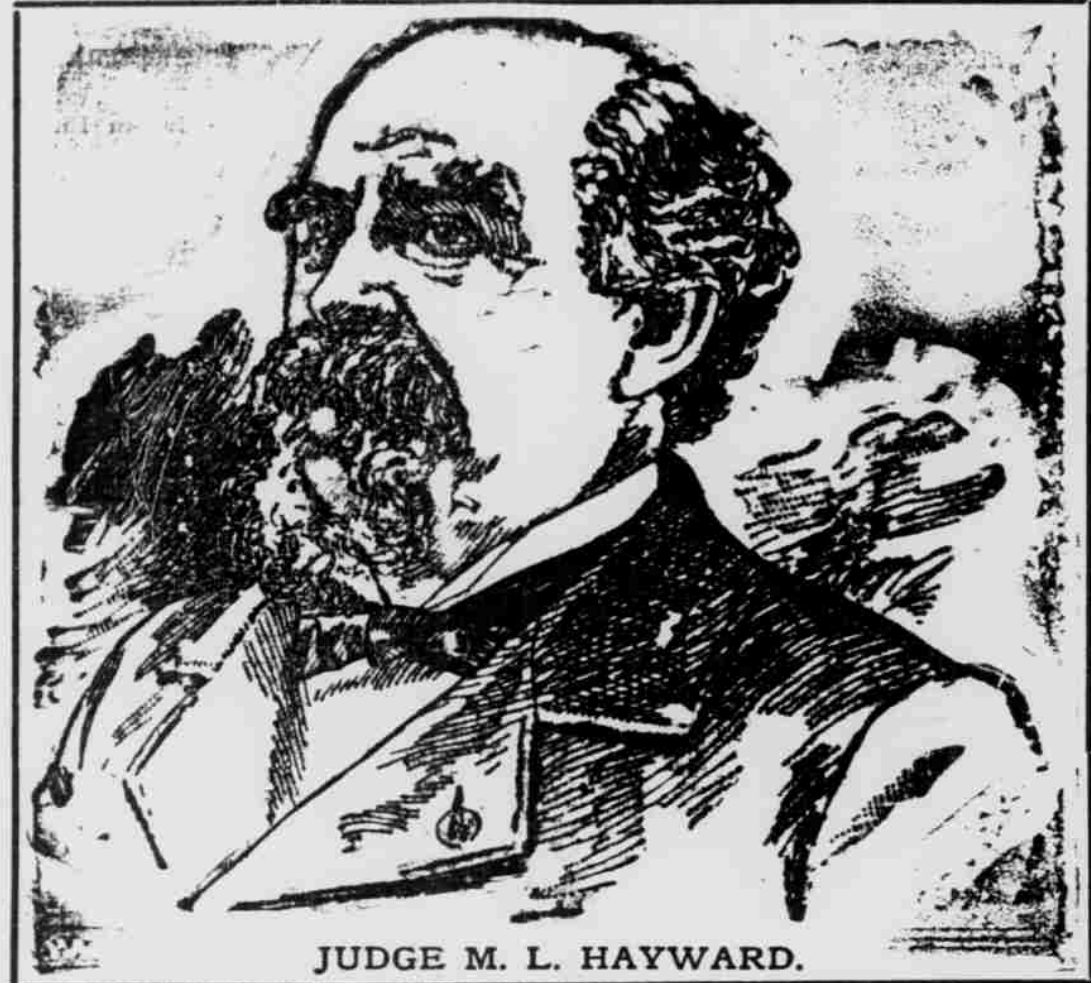

NEBRASKA CITY, Dec. 5.—(Special to THE NEWS.)—Senator M. L. Hayward passed away at his home in this city at 6:30 this morning. His death was not unlooked for, as he had relapsed into a state of complete unconsciousness several hours prior to death. He had never fully recovered from the first attack he suffered at Brownville July 15 last.

Monre Leland Hayward was born in Willboro, Essex county, N. Y., December 22, 1840. His father was William Hayward and his grandfather, David Hayward, who removed from York infantry. He was afterward transferred to the Fifth cavalry. He served until December, 1865, when he was discharged owing to disability caused by sickness. He took part in the several actions in the Shenandoah valley under Banks and Pope, and saw other active service.

In the spring of 1863 he entered the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute, graduating in 1866. He went to White-water, Wis., where he read law for one year. Upon admission to the bar in 1867 he went to Nebraska City and formed a co-partnership with T. B. Stevenson, which continued until December, 1875, since which time he has continued in general practice by himself. He has interested himself in farming and stock raising and owns farm lands in Otoe county and in Kansas.

He was appointed to a vacancy in the district judgeship in 1886 and served out the unexpired term, which ended in 1887. He was a member of his native state, New Jersey, to New York in the early years of the present century. William Hayward removed to Whitewater, Wis., in 1865. M. L. Hayward was educated in the district schools of Essex county, and afterward attended the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute at Fort Edward, N. Y. He was among the first to answer the call for defenders of the union, enlisting in Company I, Twenty-second New York in 1862. He has been a delegate to frequent state conventions, and upon three occasions has been selected chairman, first in 1878-79.

On March 8, Judge Hayward was elected by the Nebraska legislature to succeed Hon. W. V. Allen in the United States senate, after a protracted struggle, in which the legislature was in a complete deadlock.

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

Court House Fire Discussed By Insurance Men and Commissioners.

The representatives of a number of insurance companies were in town today with a view of coming to an understanding in regard to the loss sustained by the court house fire.

An estimate of the damage to the fresco work on the walls and ceilings of the building was made by Louis Ottmar, showing that it would require something like $1,850 to repair the same. In addition to this there were estimates from L. G. Larson, W. R. Turner and George Longenhagen, showing the damage on the wood and brick work to be about $765.

The insurance men submitted a proposition to the county commissioners, asking that they be allowed to appoint an appraiser—the county to appoint one also—and agreeing to furnish a bond three times the amount of the loss, as it had already been estimated.

The commissioners could not see matters that way, and refused to consider the proposition. No understanding has thus far been reached, and it is not known what sort of an agreement will finally be decided upon.

ALVO ITEMS.

Little Carl Clements, in jumping off a wagon Wednesday, fell in such a manner as to break his right arm, leaving the bone protruding through the flesh.

George Hess left last Friday with his household goods for California, where he expects to reside in the future. His wife and family went about a month ago.

The work on Frank Barr's new coal sheds is progressing rapidly, and will soon be completed. Mr. Friend's new residence will soon be ready for occupancy and C. A. Bucknell's store received a new coat of paint recently Alvo is improving.

A large quantity of broom corn is raised in this vicinity each year, and the men who hold their crop of this year until now are getting a good price for it. One man sold thirteen tons at $150 a ton recently. Some who sold early got but $50 to $60 per ton.

George Foreman, living one-mile west of town has as fine a herd of shorthorn cattle as can be found. His herd consists of twenty head, besides which he has a large number of horses and hogs. Mr. Foreman is one of the most prosperous farmers in the county.

The farmers say money is more plentiful with them now than ever before. At a sale December 2 a farmer bought a team for $200 and paid the cash on the spot, while three years ago the same team would not have the state constitutional convention in 1875. He has been a delegate to frequent state conventions, and upon three occasions has been selected chairman, first in 1878-79.

IS A RUGGED YEARLING.

First Anniversary of the Independent Telephone System.

One year ago today the Plattsmouth Telephone company began operation in this city. Nearly every one prophesied that the new concern would meet with success, but no one anticipated that it would meet with the success it has. It started out with twenty phones and now has 310, and is connected with 140 towns, St. Joseph being the farthest point.

The company gives its patrons good service and is deserving the success with which it has met.

A BOY'S SUDDEN DEATH

Little Elmer Roman Dies in the Columbian School Building.

Had Left Home a Few Minutes Before Apparently in the Best of Health—Messrs. Gering and Cones Decide to Make a Slight Increase in the Price of Their Missouri Lands.

The sudden death of Elmer, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Roman, at the Columbian school building this morning, was a very sad affair. The little boy had just reached the school house and was going through the hall to his room, when he suddenly gave a scream and fell to the floor. He was picked up in an unconscious condition by Mrs. Thomas, the principal, and carried into the room. It was at first thought the lad had only suffered a fainting spell, and various restoratives were resorted to, but the boy died before he could be taken home. Janitor Harry Dickinson, who was looking after the boilers in the basement, was called and carried the unfortunate lad to his home, after which Dr. E. W. Cook was summoned. The cause of death was doubtless heart trouble, as the mother says the boy appeared to be perfectly well when he left home, a few minutes before.

Elmer was a bright little boy, and his sudden death has caused his parents great grief. It is not thought that a coroner's inquest will be held. Funeral services will be held at the residence, on Ninth and Gold streets, in the Third ward, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. A. Steeth of the Methodist church officiating. The remains will be interred in Oak Hill cemetery.
