WOMAN'S CLUB SESSION.

Some Interesting Topics Are Fully Discussed.

Members of the Junior History Class Will Aid the Club to Suppress the Cigarette Habit—Two Boys Attack An Old German Citizen and Warrants Are Issued For Their Arrest.

From Saturday's Daily. The Woman's club held its regular meeting in the club parlors last evening. Mrs. Toliff being ill, the parliamentary drill was omitted and the time allotted to the discussion of that subject was given to business furthering the interests of the club. Owing to recent affliction, the resignation of Mrs. Waugh, as leader of "Current Topics," was received and accepted, the board going into executive session and appointing Mrs. Sleeth to fill the vacancy.

The members of the Junior History Class having interested themselves in the subject of suppressing cigarette smoking, were appointed by the club as aids, their hopeful enthusiasm, as reported by Mrs. Stoutenborough, being considered by the ladies a valuable factor in this work. The corresponding secretary was requested to write to the secretary of the Wymore Woman's club as to the success of the club in that city, which is reported as being actively engaged in that crusade.

The Plattsmouth club, by vote, was put on record as being opposed to reorganization, which is being agitated by eastern clubs, thereby depriving the smaller clubs of a vote in the proceedings at the biennial at Milwaukee. Miss Gase, as leader of "Literature," occupied the remaining time with a most interesting comparison of the poets Whitman and Poe, reading extracts from the best known poems of each and inviting discussion as to their relative merits. The second part of the poem "Evangeline" was also taken up and the analysis of principal characters given Mesdames Wise, Unruh and Sleeth to be reported on at the close of the study of Longfellow. This part of the evening's program was very entertaining, the study of "Evangeline" interesting the class, who were all admirers of this beautiful poem.

Professor McHugh will speak before the club next Friday evening.

Franks of Bad Boys. Herman Funder, an old German citizen who lives on Wintersteen hill, appeared before Judge Archer last evening and told that official a little tale of woe. In substance his story was to the effect that while on his way home he was attacked by two boys, William Grobe and Frank Newman, and they proceeded to make life a burden to him by using a club and throwing stones. He asked the judge that the boys be justly punished for the offense, so that they would not molest him in the future, and warrants were accordingly sworn out for their arrest. Up to the time of going to press the boys had not been found.

Case Goes to Jury. The case of the state vs. Charles Sharp was given to the jury in Judge Frost's court this morning. County Attorney Munger occupied an hour and a half in closing. He created considerable confidence in his muscular ability by yanking around the heavy boxes of merchandise to show how carefully every mark had been obliterated and their identification made impossible. The aged father and two good-looking sisters of Sharp have been in attendance every day. The nervous tension told on the young ladies, and one displayed her interest and agitation by rising and leaning anxiously upon the big radiator in the center.—Lincoln News.

Banker Routs a Robber. J. R. Garrison, cashier of the bank of Thornville, O., had been robbed of health by a serious lung trouble until he tried Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Then he wrote: "It is the best medicine I ever used for a severe cold or a bad case of lung trouble. I always keep a bottle on hand." Don't suffer with coughs, colds, or any throat, chest or lung trouble when you can be cured so easily. Only 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at F. G. Fricke & Co's drug store.

MYNARD NOTES.

R. M. and S. O. Cole were in Omaha buying pianos last week.

Jake Shepherd intends leaving for his cattle ranch near Alliance in a few days.

Miss Ada Murray, who has been visiting with her sister in Omaha, has returned home.

The Misses Rosa and Daisy Harris of Union have been the guests of Miss Mabel Rosenthal, the teacher.

J. H. Becker was in Mynard one day this week attending to receiving his rent corn from his land west of here.

F. P. Lint of Atchison was attending to some grain business in Mynard this week. He is the traveling representative of the Greenleaf-Baker Grain company of Atchison.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair unless propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at F. G. Fricke & Co's drug store.

HAD DREAMS OF WEALTH

Air Castles Built in Three Nights Vanish in One Second.

Out on Chicago avenue there lives a citizen who had a rather unusual and at the same time amusing experience the other morning. In fact, the little incident "embarrassed" the gentleman to such an extent that he hesitated for several days before he even told his wife about it, and then only after the latter had solemnly promised to keep the matter a profound secret. Of course, the "cat was thus let out of the sack," for she thought the joke was so funny and too good to keep, and now his friends are enjoying a hearty laugh at his expense. This is the story:

For many years Mr. Brown (this isn't his real name, but that doesn't matter) has been of a rather superstitious disposition, and whenever he could find literature which treated upon "superstitious signs" he would read it in preference to anything else. He had been especially "weak" on the subject of dreams, and while he had never had any actual experiences to verify the statement, he had often expressed himself as being a firm believer in the saying that if you dream about hidden wealth for three successive nights you will certainly gain possession thereof if you dig, etc. About a week ago Mr. Brown had a dream of wealth, and in the aforesaid dream he saw a large iron casket—full to the top with bright, shiny gold pieces—and it was planted only a few inches under the ground in the northeast corner of his wood shed. He thought nothing particularly about the incident until he dreamed about the same thing the next night. He pondered for some time over the matter, but finally decided to wait until the next morning, and if he was again favored with the dream he would go hence to the wood shed and dig up the promised wealth. He decided to follow the example of the wise man of old, and kept his plans to himself.

As if there was some mysterious power which controlled the tide of events, it came to pass that the dream of wealth again visited him in his slumbers the third night, and upon awaking next morning he rejoiced exceedingly. His wife wondered why he arose so early (4:30)—he had never done so before—but he told her he wished to cut some stove wood. He lost no time in getting a lantern and proceeding to the shed. The first thing to do was to remove a half cord of wood, which he did after working like a hero for ten minutes; then he had to saw through the floor, and finally he came to mother earth. The assault he made upon the only barrier which lay between himself and the "wealth" would pale to utter insignificance the abilities of the most experienced well digger. In the course of another half hour he had reached a distance of three feet below the surface, and he was in the act of measuring the depth of the opening by the length of the spade, when something happened which made his heart go flippity-flop. The spade had struck a metallic substance! Faster and faster he worked, and soon he had the dirt removed around what proved to be an old fashioned iron cooking utensil. It was badly rust worn, and a layer of hard clay covered the top. He lost no time in bringing the "find" to the surface for examination. Slowly he removed the clay; his hands shook as if he had hold of a live electric wire—he had never been so nervous in all his life.

Then it came to pass that the air castles which had taken three nights to build were dashed to smithereens in one second, for behold! Instead of finding numberless $20 gold pieces, as had been foretold in his dreams, his gaze fell upon about two pounds of old rusty shingle nails! For a moment Mr. Brown was dejected and disappointed, but the consoling thought came to him that no one knew about it; he would replace the dirt, etc., and return to the house.

It was a sad expression which Mr. Brown wore on his face when he went to the shops that morning, but his experience has had one moral effect—he has destroyed all the superstitious literature and will hereafter read THE NEWS instead. May his conversion bring him blessings two-fold, and—no more empty dreams of wealth.

Louisville Operator Goes "South"

From Monday's Daily.

George S. Lee, who has been employed as night operator for the Burlington at Louisville, skipped out early this morning with a good supply of tickets and money belonging to the company. Nothing was known of the theft until about 10 o'clock this morning. It appears that Lee got aboard passenger No. 29 at Omaha, and when Conductor Lantz came through the train he produced a ticket for Kansas City. The conductor was acquainted with Lee, and questioned him as to when he left Louisville, etc., and the replies which were forthcoming were of such a character as to arouse the suspicions of the conductor. When Plattsmouth was reached Mr. Lantz made his suspicions known at the depot, and it was decided to send a message to the agent at Louisville and find out if a ticket to Kansas City had been sold at that place this morning. He replied that there had not, and asked that Lee be placed under arrest. In the meantime, however, the thief had "smelted a mouse," for when the train was searched he was nowhere to be found. He certainly got off in the local yards.

Later—it is reported that the thief was captured at Union this afternoon.

What's Your Face Worth?

Sometimes a fortune, but never, if you have a sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cents at F. G. Fricke & Co's drug store.

CITY AND COUNTY.

He reports a very profitable session—the largest attendance and the most enthusiastic in the history of the association.

Adjutant General Barry has issued an order for Company F, Nebraska national guard, of Lincoln, to hold an election Monday evening. The promotion of Captain E. J. Strelight to the office of major has caused a vacancy which is to be filled. First Lieutenant Bolshaw and First Sergeant Brown are candidates for the office.—Lincoln Journal.

Mrs. Louis Foltz, wife of ex-commissioner Foltz, passed away yesterday morning at her home in Weeping Water. She had for some time been afflicted with kidney trouble, but her case was not thought to be serious until Wednesday, when she was taken with the grip and sent for a physician. The doctor went out Wednesday and again yesterday morning, but found her dead the latter time. Mrs. Foltz was about sixty-two years old and leaves a husband and several children to mourn her demise.

MONDAY.

The friends of Miss Olga Martin will be pleased to learn that she has secured a good position in a millinery store in Indianola, Ia. She has five girls under her supervision.

Miss Grace Walker leaves this evening for Chicago, where she goes to take up stenographic work. Miss Walker's many friends in this city wish her success in her new location.

Judge Paul Jenson opened the March term of district court this afternoon, but the only business done was the calling of the docket.

Miss Anna Pollock, who has been teaching the school west of Mynard, has three or four weeks' vacation. She expects to spend part of this time visiting schools and noting the methods of other teachers.

Frank D. Hill, A. Boyle and Ed McGinnis of South Bend and Charles Sumner of Loupville were in town today, having been called as witnesses in the Brownell-Jones case in police court.

DR. I. D. JONES IN TROUBLE.

Has a Couple of Rather Serious Charges to Face in Police Court.

From Monday's Daily.

Constable J. L. Hartshorn came in from South Bend Saturday afternoon with Dr. Isaac D. Jones, whom the officer had arrested on a warrant issued by Judge Archer. The complaint had been filed by William Brownell, a druggist in South Bend, and charged the doctor with having committed adultery with his daughter, Mattie. The prisoner was turned over to Deputy Sheriff McBride and the time for the preliminary hearing set for this morning.

H. D. Travis appeared for the prisoner this morning and County Attorney Root was ready to conduct the prosecution. The hearing resulted in the doctor being bound over in the sum of $500 for his appearance for trial in police court at 10 o'clock next Friday morning. John McGinnis and Frank Hill going on his bond.

When this matter had been disposed of, Constable Hartshorn served another warrant on the doctor—the charge being abortion and the complainant was Miss Minnie Kanef. The preliminary hearing upon the latter charge was also had, and the case set for next Friday morning. Messrs. McGinnis and Hill also going securely for Mr. Jones in this case in the sum of $500. It is thought some sensational features will be brought out at the trial next Friday.

No Law for Reductions.

Some people think that all they have to do is to allow their taxes to run as long as they want to, and the officials will knock off the interest and penalty, but such is not the case, for no body of men has any right under the law to make any reduction on any taxes after they have become delinquent, and if they do they are liable on their bonds for so doing. It has been done, but under a recent ruling of the supreme court all of it can be collected. There should be a stop to all things of this kind, for it is not fair to those who pay their taxes promptly when they are due and never grumble.—Nebraska City News.
