He was captured before he had gone very far and is now languishing in jail. We are sorry for Bert as he was such a good natured soul but he always seemed to have a great dread for work.

Nebraska Farmer Editor Talks Regarding Contest.

To the editor of the NEWS-HERALD:

I consider the subscription rally in which will be given away a five passenger, 22-H. P. Buick automobile, a fine piano, and other prizes, the biggest event of the kind ever pulled off in this state. I do not know of a contest ever having been held in which the prizes were so liberal, or the competition so fair between all contestants. I can say for the automobile that it will be as fine a machine as $1500 will buy, and is especially suited to use on country roads.

I do not want your readers to lose sight of the fact that the opportunity which is afforded them to procure the Nebraska Farmer and the NEWS-HERALD at the very low price of $2.00 is one of which they should avail themselves. The Nebraska Farmer is being used as a text in many hundred schools in Nebraska, and for this reason, if for no other, I think that every farmer should have the Nebraska Farmer in his home where it may be read and studied by the children in the rural schools.

To the contestants I would suggest that the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm" is applicable in this contest and the ones who get out and begin hustling at once and continue to hustle from early until the contest closes will be the ones who will win the prizes. Yours very truly,

NEBRASKA FARMER COMPANY, S. R. McKelvie, Editor and Manager.

Soaked Friday Evening.

Comrade T. W. Glenn called on H. J. Streight Friday afternoon and took him out for a walk, for Uncle Henry's health has not been the best of late. The atmosphere was fine and the ex-soldiers tramped as far as Rocky Point near the big bridge when the air reached the dew point. It was about as big a dew as the boys had ever been out in, and they neglected to take anything in their haversacks to take off the chill. There was nothing left for them but to walk the chill off. They turned their steps homeward, and when they crossed lower Main street on the return march the water was half way to their knees, but they had the belief it was warm, so that it did not injure them in the least.

When they arrived home there was not a dry rag on them, and it does not appear who told them to get in out of the wet.

Will Visit Mexico.

C. C. Parmele, Frank Schlater, A. S. Will and Fred Egenberger will depart tomorrow morning for Old Mexico, whither they go to look for land investments. They go to El Paso, Texas, and cross over to Mexico at that point, intending to look at a tract of land just across the border. Their objective point, however, is in the sub-tropical country, and after looking at the country around Torreon, they will go direct to Mexico City, and then plunge into the tropics.

They expect to be gone about a month, and will beyond doubt have a very enjoyable trip.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy

You can take my word for it—whatever a fellow hopes to be, he will be, unless he gets on the wrong car. Whenever I hear one those worldly wise chaps using that expression, "Where do I get off?" I always feel like edging up and saying, "Put him off at Plattsmouth because he will then know just where he is going to get off and we will all know where he is getting off. We know that he will get off better than he expected for the simple reason that we are primed to the muzzle with new goods and we don't care how soon the people know it. Times are improving, business is improving, people are improving, everything is improving except the weather and you can't improve that because it isn't made to be bossed. Have you tried our Plattsmouth brand of M & J coffee? Then you can't go wrong on.

The prayer of said petition is that said decree be set aside and that he be discharged as such administrator.
