Will Appeal to President
 Shippers in Spokane and the district tributary to it, headed by A. W. Doland, president of the Spokane Merchants' association, wearied of the repeated delays, evasions and numerous postponements by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Spokane rate case against the transcontinental railroads, are discussing plans to appeal to President Roosevelt to bring about an early decision in this now famous litigation. The Spokane case was the first instituted under the new interstate commerce law, which became effective January 1, 1907. The chief complaint is that the carriers are discriminating against this city and the immediate territory. The suit, which was instituted in the name of the Spokane chamber of commerce and other organizations, seeks equitable rates from eastern points to this city.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

The Journal is in receipt of a communication from one of its many readers which it prints below. It must not be understood as endorsing or opposing any of the sentiments of the writer, nor as committing itself to the advocacy or opposition of the cause advanced by the writer. It is a well written article and is deserving of careful study by all. Editor NEWS-HERALD.

for girls, and the Humane Society was made a state institution.
 A dozen other beneficial laws have been endorsed and carried by the women, and of the best was the election of Judge B. Lindsey.

Dear Sir:
 In view of the fact that your article against "Woman Suffrage was especially scathing and fossilized, "the lips of every respecting woman" should be opened in protest. In quoting Lincoln why did you forget to mention that he was in favor of woman suffrage? So were Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry W. Longfellow, John G. Whittier, William H. Seward, Chief Justice Chase, Chas. Kingsley, Herbert Spencer, Dr. Talmage, Bishop Potter, Bishop Spaulding of the Catholic church, and many of the great editors and literary men who have worked for this cause. Among women, we can cite the names of Florence Nightingale, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Louisa M. Alcott, Elizabeth Barrett Browning. These women were "self-respecting" and were respected by the whole world. Susan B. Anthony, who bore the gibes and ridicule and social frowns for long years, died honored and mourned by all nations.

The brewers seem to think the women can "do something," for at one of their conventions they made this resolution by unanimous vote: "Resolved, That we are opposed to woman suffrage everywhere and always; for when woman has the ballot, she will vote solid for prohibition. She assumes too much." What is the assumption of man when he represents a woman who does not assent to the representation? How about our fore-fathers and the "Stamp Act." The opinion of "fifty women" is a very meager test on which to base the desires of American women. To most of the leading men, the strongest reason for granting suffrage to women is that the foremost women of the land, who are devoting themselves to the uplifting of humanity are declaring that in the interests of their work it is necessary that the ballot be given to woman.

William McKinley, in the beautiful words you quote, veiled no insult to the women who wished for the ballot as a protection for their homes. If the suffragist is an "agitator," the agitating is always on the side of morality and better conditions and it is barely possible that in every city some politicians would rather see the dregs not stirred up.

"There is no real reason nor demand for woman suffrage." The demand now is most urgent for temperance reform is sweeping over the land and if women could vote the life of the saloon would be very short. Temperance women became suffragists because they were forced to be. They learned that a disfranchised person whether idiot, lunatic, convict, Indian or woman, is a cipher, so they were converted to woman suffrage.

"She never did anything." In Colorado the following laws were indorsed and passed by the efforts of the women: Women are co-equal guardians of their children. The age of consent was raised to eighteen. A state home for dependent children established, also state industrial school

Consistency to our cause compels us to seek the powerful weapon of the ballot, for it is the only effective measure for the defense of her home and children. "Mankind cannot rise above the mother of mankind." The "human question" lies at the foundation of the "woman question." The apostle Paul is often quoted to women. He also wrote, "There is neither bond or free, there is neither male nor female in Christ Jesus." A Subscriber.

THE REPLY.

An article addressed to the "Editor NEWS-HERALD" appeared in an obscure place in an equally obscure sheet, but by chance it came to the notice of the writer, and in another column we reproduce it. Evidently the author of that article was ashamed to send it to the editor of the NEWS-HERALD, and from the way the article was signed, she was evidently ashamed of her own off-spring. We cannot blame the poor mortal in the least; we would be ashamed of the thing ourself.

woman suffrage, poodle dogs, and the like. Let the man, who dares to say the Christian home, where mothers teach their boys purity of life and thought, and point the way to usefulness and distinction, is the nation's greatest safeguard, be tarred and feathered. Give us woman's suffrage, and teach the daughters of the land that their mission is not to make homes, but to get into politics and business. Aye! the home of the fathers must give way to the habitat of the suffragist.

Like the skunk and the porcupine, THE suffragist may be said to have a habitat, but no home. Home is a sacred place. The American home is the bulwark of the republic. Home is more than habitat, it is that sacred institution, where the true wife and mother, not suffragist, preside; where they teach the boys and girls purity of life and thought, and point the way to usefulness and distinction. We thank God, we were reared in a sacred home, and not in the habitat of the suffragist.

Since the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, there have been suffragists. Yes, there was Jezebel in the days of Solomon, the mother of Jesus was not. Then there was Cleopatra of Egypt. And in our own day and country, there was Susan Beatrice Anthony, Lily Langtry, Mary Ellen Lease, Belva Lockwood, Carrie Nation, Mrs. Chadwick and Mrs. Catt, all suffragists.

Yes, Colorado is ruled so to speak by THE suffragist, and, yet, Colorado has not that coveted prohibition. No, no, Colorado, ruled by suffragists, is known far and wide as the most debauched, prostituted, and corrupted electorate within the union that Abraham Lincoln saved.

The very day that woman draggles her petticoats in the mire of politics, mingles with the rabble of the street, we may bid good-bye to the home and the institution of marriage and society will rapidly relapse into barbarism. Woman has her rights, as well as her duties; but they do not lie in this direction.

Yes, Colorado enacted laws establishing "a state home for dependent children," also "a state industrial school for girls." Home and children! Oh, hang the home and children! Give us the state asylums for dependent children, and industrial schools for girls, and

Make home blessed and sacred and let it adorn the world, so that every living man may say, "It is a proud pleasure to me to be able to credit to my wife and mother whatever good things my fellow countrymen ascribe to me." Whether for good or for bad,—"Disguise our bondage as we will, 'Tis woman, woman rules us still."
