Confess Fraud.

"King Solomon," self-declared son of an East Indian prince and known all over the continent as "a student of the mystic, seer and palmist," at the practice of which he has amassed a fortune, confessed at a revival meeting in Calvary Baptist church in Spokane that he is a fraud and impostor. He admitted being a negro, saying that by posing as a scion of the nobility he had taken thousands of dollars from the unophisticated in his career as a fortune teller, and that he has been in 27 jails in the United States and Canada for various offenses. Following the confession, which was given in a dramatic manner, Solomon reached the climax in his profession of Christianity by saying in broken tones with tears streaming down his cheeks: "I just can't resist God any longer and I want to lead a better life." Afterward he told Rev. Dr. McPherson that while he gained wide notoriety by claiming to have forecast the Galveston flood he had never been in Texas, adding that his forecast was bogus. He admitted also that he served a term in prison for crooked work in California.

Mr. Duncan, a druggist of Omaha, spent with Charles Hartford and wife, and while here enjoyed a hunt over the Platte river bluffs.

When buying candies, why not buy the best? We always have a fine line of the superior grades on hand. Nemetz & Co. next to P. O.

C. Bengen who recently had a sale with the intention of moving to the city and making his home here was a business visitor Saturday.

Miss Birch departed yesterday afternoon on the M. P. for Hawarden, Ia., where she will act as trimmer in a fashionable millinery house.

In Line for Easter.

Miss Ella Walliek of Omaha, formerly trimmer in the millinery parlors of the Boston Store, has accepted a position with M. Fanger, and in the future will be found at that popular place of business. Miss Walliek has the reputation of being the finest trimmer in Omaha, and in securing her services Mr. Fanger has placed himself in a position to please the most fastidious in the line of millinery goods.

UNION OF LABOR AND CAPITAL.

The two great forces in the contest now going on between labor and capital are gradually growing into a closer and closer relationship. The coming together and uniting of these forces will not result from any formal rules, but by the correct application of the great human principles. No system of formulas or by-laws will ever prove sufficient for so vital a union. Among the great principles which both the capitalist and the laborer must recognize in their true relationship are:

1. Each man is to make the most of himself, and give full recognition to the rights of others. He must develop a strong and healthy body, his mind must be able to think clearly, his conscience to decide moral questions rightly, his will prompt to act, and his heart able to love. Each man must be fully developed in all these essential qualifications.

2. Each man must learn the highest regard for the principle of liberty. This principle rightly applied enforces upon each individual, whether he be a laborer or capitalist, the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." It is the old principle of put yourself in the other man's place.

William Lauridge, the popular blacksmith of Murray, was a Saturday visitor in the city, looking after business and renewing acquaintances.

O. G. Hale, the painter who has been down with lung fever during the greater portion of the winter, is so far recovered as to be able to be around again.

Peter Campbell and family of near Kenosha were business visitors in the city last Saturday, looking after friends and renewing acquaintances.

J. J. Lohnes of old Eight Mile Grove was in the city Saturday. His wife underwent an operation in and Omaha hospital recently and he reports that she is getting along nicely.

Henry Speck, Earl Dunn and Jesse York went up to Omaha Saturday evening to attend the "Round Up" at the Blvd, the boys report the show one of the best of the season.

John Kraeger of Mt. Pleasant precinct, was a visitor the latter part of the week and made the NEWS-HERALD a pleasant call. We are always glad to have our friends drop in. Call again.

Charles Maitland and wife of Louisville are in the city for a few days, being called here by the illness of Mrs. Maitland's father, Thomas Vroman, who has been confined to his bed for some time.

L. F. Kohrell of near Kenosha, accompanied by his son Carl, were business visitors in the city Saturday. They will in a short time move to south of Union where they will occupy the farm of A. A. Reynolds, near the Otoe county line.

J. H. Adams and W. F. Gillespie of the grain firm of that name at Mynard were looking after business in this city Saturday. They report the price of corn as being sixty-five cents very fine and one which makes farming very remunerative.

William Gilmour was a visitor in the city Saturday from south of the city. In collision with another team while coming into the city recently he very severely injured one of his hands, but he reports that the bruise is getting along nicely.

Mrs. J. F. Clugey, accompanied by her niece, little Hazel Stattler, who makes her home with Mr. Clugey and wife, departed for Union yesterday morning where they will visit relatives for a few days. Mrs. Clugey is a sister of Mrs. David Tillman.

We are pleased to note the improvement of Sam G. Stone, who underwent an operation at Omaha a few weeks since for the removal of an abscess. He has been confined to the house the most of the winter but was able to be on the streets Saturday.

J. P. Falter, manager of the Coates block, has had a railing placed on the east side of the stairway in that building which will be a boon to those aged persons who are compelled to climb the stairs. J. M. Johns did the work and the addition makes the stairway much more attractive.

3. Each man must learn the real appreciation of values. Both the capitalist and the laborer must recognize that character is more valuable than money. Ideas, feelings, knowledge, the sense of the beautiful represent forces of infinitely greater worth than money.

4. Each man must recognize the fact that all men are not created equal in nature, but that all men are created equal before the law of God and man. One is created with great oratorical ability, another is not. One is created with physical powers, another is not. Each must do his best. A union of capital and labor on these great fundamental principles will be a vital union.

It is one of the fads of the day to attribute nervous prostration and early death to the mad race for wealth. Naturally, any pursuit which breaks the rules of moderation reacts strongly upon the nerves and physical powers. An excessive race for anything naturally uses up an extraordinary amount of tissue. The successful pursuit of money-getting or in fact any successful business pursuit calls for moderation of living and evenness of temperament rather than madness of any degree. When we keep this distinction in mind, and look about us, we observe that those who are successful in business and money-getting are with a very few exceptions, men who are well preserved physically and mentally, and live from three to four score years. Nearly every community has its rich man, and as a rule he is numbered among its oldest inhabitants. This has been the rule from the beginning of history. Money-getting requires care, and this care extends to eating and other daily habits, which tend to longevity, as well as prompt collections.

Wise talks by the office boy

Some one sent the boss a bunch of books entitled, "Business Nuggets," "The Road to Success," "The Man in Front" and such like, I think he's been looking them over, for when I came to work this morning he handed me this: Everything comes to those that wait, and the lazy boy waits to greet it; but success comes on with a rapid gait, to the man that goes to meet it. I had to laugh, because he's the boss; but to tell you the honest truth, a boy on this job doesn't get any chance to apply these wise hunches. Actually it's no credit for a fellow to be industrious here, because he can't be anything else. If he lets up for an hour he wouldn't get his orders out and then there would be people coming in and saying lots of fierce things, but nothing about "business success" or the "lazy boy waits to greet it."

Have you tried Curtis Brothers Janis. Retains all the fine natural flavor. Great. Picnic size, 25c. Don't forget to order a sack of Goods Best Flour with your next order.
