To Build New Airship
 Spokane the Latest City to be Interested in Aerial Navigation.

Spokane, Wash., March 31.—One million dollars is the stated capitalization of the Spokane-Chicago Aerial Transportation company, in process of organization here to manufacture a machine with a carrying capacity of 200 passengers from designs by W. A. Whyte, inventor of a 10-passenger airship, with which he will give a public demonstration here early in April. He claims to have traveled 93 miles in 73 minutes with this model, adding: "My new machine will be of the heavier-than-air type and is to be 75 feet in length and 16 feet wide. The car and the frame-work will be mostly of aluminum not weighing more than 4,000 pounds, and it will have a lifting capacity of 8,000 pounds. The car will be controlled and operated with three 50-horse power engines and will have long, stationary wings, which are designed to give equilibrium and buoyancy at all times.

"The balloon is to be 500 feet in length and 75 feet in diameter. The bag is composed of 15 cells controlled by separate tubes, the inlets and outlets being operated by inflation and deflation waves. In addition, there is a percolator inside of the bag and this is filled with air by automatic means. "I have demonstrated that my machine is practicable for commercial purposes and the capitalists in eastern Washington and northern Idaho backing this enterprise of making flights to Chicago and return believe it will be a great success. I expect to attain a speed of 90 miles an hour under favorable conditions."

Mr. Whyte announced also that he will make a demonstration for the United States government in a short time with a high explosive to be hurled from airships in war, adding that the experiments will take place near an eastern navy yard.

Severely Injured.
 Claud Morgan, residing just across the river, near Pacific Junction, sustained an accident Monday which is likely to prove serious. In attempting to extract a shell from a 22-caliber rifle it exploded, the bullet entering the groin and lodging in the bowels. A consultation of physicians decided that the case was one of extreme danger to the patient, and ordered his removal to a hospital in Omaha. While his condition is very critical it is hoped that he may survive.

Will Cure Indigestion
 All Distress From Stomach and Indigestion Vanishes In Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis of Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, gripping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.
 Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Bell Company's New Home
 A Long Time Lease Taken on Fine Rooms.

The Nebraska Telephone Company has secured a 10-year lease of the second floor of the Falter & Thierolf building to be used as their central station. Manager Davis informs the NEWS-HERALD that the material has been ordered for the installation of the new common battery system and that work will be commenced immediately upon its arrival, which will probably be not later than the 15th of this month.
 It may be explained in passing that the common battery system means that the battery for the operation of the system is all located at one central point and it is then not necessary to have one or more dry cells at each local telephone. This is the system in use in all of the larger cities and Plattsouth is to be congratulated upon the fact that the Bell Company has decided to establish it here.

Will Go To Fairmont

Professor Brooks Decides to Leave the Plattsouth Schools.

Professor W. D. Brooks has just received notice of his election as superintendent of the Fairmont High school and has announced his intention of accepting the position. Professor Brooks has been principal of the local schools for two years now and has given the best of satisfaction and it is with regret that the patrons learn of his decision to leave. However, the promotion is of so pronounced a type that Professor Brooks felt that he could not refuse it, and while all will regret his departure from our midst, the best wishes of hundreds of friends will go with him to his new home.

Good South Dakota Farm.

160 acres, located 16 miles from Huron and only 2 1-2 miles from Broadland, Beadle county. Sixty acres broken and farmed 2 years. Every foot of the quarter can be plowed and in fact, lies exceptionally well. A number of Cass county men own farms near this one. Land is rapidly increasing in value in this section. Can sell this quarter for $28 an acre, if taken soon. For further particulars, call upon or address,

A Comparison of Methods

Work of Germany and United States In Conservation of Forests.

Germany faced the same great timber supply problem early in the nineteenth century that the United States faces today and in solving it developed heavy producing and well administered forests which are models for the rest of the world.

A study of the systems of forest management and wood utilization in the two countries offers many interesting comparisons. The United States takes 260 cubic feet per capita annually from the forests; Germany uses but 37. In other words, this country is already using seven times as much timber per capita as in Germany. American forests are now producing not more than 12 cubic feet per acre; German forests are producing 48 cubic feet per acre annually. Germany has reduced waste and consumption and increased production.

The United States has as rapidly growing trees and as good soil as Germany, and foresters say it is reasonable to think that this country will be just as successful as the European country in high per acre production when every owner of timberland get down to proper conservation and development of his forest property. It is known that the United States must continue in the future, as in the past, to rely upon its own forests for the great bulk of wood which is used. Despite the introduction of many substitutes, it is not possible to conceive the time when it will be practicable to do without wood for many uses. Granting this, foresters say, it follows that as a nation and as individual citizens everything possible must be done to put the forest land of this country upon a permanent productive basis.

The ultimate aim must be to cut no more from forests than they produce each year, and to make their yearly growth equal to the needs of the people. As in Germany, forest conservation in this country means just two things, first, the fullest possible utilization of the present supply of timber, which will make it last longer; and second, the handling of forest lands in such a way that succeeding crops of timbers will be secured.

At present only about one-fifth of our standing timber is in public forests. This term is used to cover the National forests, State forests, the timber on Indian and Military reservations, and National Parks. These forests are being managed according to the principles of scientific forestry so far as funds available for their administration permit. While the extent of the public forests will undoubtedly be increased in the future, it is not likely that for a very long time to come they will contain even as much as half of the timber supply. Four-fifths of our forests are now owned by individuals, companies, or corporations. The manner in which these forests are handled is, therefore, of the utmost importance in conservation.

If the lumber industry in the United States is to live, it means that large manufacturers will have to protect and develop their forest property. The land must be lumbered with care, fire must be kept out, young growth protected, and every principle of forestry applied to the management of the land so that it will continue permanently productive instead of becoming a burned over and barren waste, as has been the case of the forest regions which have passed through periods of excessive destruction as the result of careless lumbering methods.

Things Social
 At Mynard

An enjoyable day was spent at the home of Mrs. Wm. Wetenkamp on Saturday, March 27th, in honor of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snoko and daughter of Eagle. Those present were Miss Sophia Schwegmann of Bennett, Miss Marie Foulhaber of Lincoln, besides all of the children and grandchildren. At the noon hour all were able to indulge in a full meal. The afternoon was spent in general conversation, also instrumental and vocal music.

Miss Pearl Carey spent the evening with her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Wetenkamp last Sunday.

Wise talks by the office boy

Some one sent the boss a bunch of books entitled, "Business Nuggets," "The Road to Success," "The Man in Front" and such like, I think he's been looking them over, for when I came to work this morning he handed me this: Everything comes to those that wait, and the lazy boy waits to greet it; but success comes on with a rapid gait, to the man that goes to meet it." I had to laugh, because he's the boss; but to tell you the honest truth, a boy on this job doesn't get any chance to apply these wise hunches. Actually it's no credit for a fellow to be industrious here, because he can't be anything else. If he lets up for an hour he wouldn't get his orders out and then there would be people coming in and saying lots of fierce things, but nothing about "business success" or the "lazy boy waits to greet it."

Have you tried Curtis Brothers Janis. Retains all the fine natural flavor. Great. Picnic size, 25c. Don't forget to order a sack of Gools Best Flour with your next order.
