MURDOCK DEPARTMENT

By H. R. NEITZEL.

Bank Building. Murdock, Neb. Phone No. 99.

Deposit What You Like When You Like

But deposit your money
HERE.

It is possible that you have never felt the absolute necessity of having a bank account. It is probable you could drift along for years without one but IF YOU EXPECT TO FORGE TO THE FRONT in this life in a financial way it is essential that you have a Bank Account.

We give you a personal invitation to make this bank your depository - whether you have a small sum or a large one to lay aside for safe keeping.

Bank of Murdock

H. R. NEITZEL, Cashier.

Individual Responsibility Over $300,000.

Dr. M. Hoops is entertaining his brother.

Mr. Arthur Rikli has been on the sick list the past few days.

Miss Anna Baumgartner was an Omaha passenger Monday.

Wm. Weddell is out again after a long siege of sickness.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Brauchle were Omaha passengers last Monday.

Sixteen pupils took the 8th grade examination Monday and Tuesday.

John Ruge and family were Avoca visitors last week for several days.

John P. Mockenhaupt was up from Lincoln visiting friends this week.

The condition of Rev. J. E. Baumgartner is slowly but surely improving.

Wm. Bourke shipped a car of hogs to the South Omaha market Wednesday.

Miss Sarah Venner of Walton has been visiting the Westlake family here for several weeks.

Markets: Wheat $1.06, corn 56-57, oats 43, hogs $9.30, butter 16, eggs 15, hens 10, cream 25.

The trimmer employed by Martin & Tool was taken sick last week which caused the firm to rustle up another for the Easter trade.

Two of the younger sisters of John and Kate Amquert of Missouri are here visiting relatives for a short time.

Henry Tool had the misfortune to drop a cream separator upon his right foot which causes that limp in his gait.

Word received from Mr. Frasher states that he and family arrived safely in Seattle, Washington last Sunday.

Will Heirs has purchased the 249 acres of the First National Bank of Greenwood, formerly the Waldron farm.

From last reports Mrs. Mike Thimgan, now of Denver, Colorado, is very seriously sick and hardly expected to survive.

We understand that Louisville went "wet" last Tuesday while Ashland and Greenwood went "dry." What Murdock will do remains to be seen.

H. V. McDonald, A. J. Tool, H. A. Tool and Will Kleiser made up a fishing party that camped along the banks of the Platte four days and nights last week. They did not return empty handed. They brought back a few carp to show where they had been.

At the annual election the candidates put up by the Citizens were elected, namely Jacob Goehry, Sr. and Henry A. Tool. The original board of village Dads has never been changed from the time that Murdock was incorporated, which speaks well for all concerned.

Albert Dettman and Fred Obernolte left Wednesday for the far west. They go via Colorado and Utah and will view the more interesting sights along the route, while their destination is Boise, Idaho. Before returning they will doubtless take in the exposition at Seattle.

A most sad accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Carnicle near South Bend last week. Mrs. Carnicle was getting ready to scrub the floor when their two-year-old daughter backed into the pan of boiling water with the result that she died from the burns received after five hours later. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved family.

Last week Wednesday John Amquert surprised his many friends here by quietly going after his lady at Alvo, then boarding the train to Omaha where they secured a marriage license and were married. They then left for a short honeymoon trip to some Iowa point after which they will return and make Murdock their home. Mrs. Amquert is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hite, and her sister, Miss Josephine, acted the part of bridesmaid while Raymond Westlake was best man for the occasion.

Weeping Water

From the Republican.

One of Wm. Ash's little children is very sick with whooping cough.

A good many have garden and potato plants now for a good freeze.

Mrs. I. C. Leman of University Place was an over Sunday visitor in our city.

A good many from the country came in to take the 8th grade examination Monday and Tuesday.

P. G. Matthews who has been sick for some time died and the body was shipped to Hamburg, Iowa, for burial.

Mr. H. P. Haslain departed on Monday for Douglas, Wyoming, where he expect to work at the carpenter trade this summer.

The usual weekly wreck occurred on the M. P. on Thursday about three miles east of town; several cars went in the ditch and no one was hurt.

Mrs. Wm. Spangler has so far recovered as to be brought home, although far from well, we hope that she will rapidly recover her former health.

Aller: Hinkle, the butcher, departed Wednesday for Douglas, Wyoming, where he has a good job. He deserves it as he is a good meat cutter and obliging to deal with.

After visiting and enjoying a good time at home for a week, Miss Fowler, Clarence Lau, Jasper Trimblin and Jamie Joyce, returned to their school duties at Wesleyan.

Rev. H. W. Cope of the M. E. church was called to Adams to preach the funeral sermon of the Pastor of that place, who died from an operation in the hospital in Omaha.

The city election passed off very quietly, and as there was one ticket in the field, it was unanimously elected. The petition to have but two wards instead of three was defeated.

Wm. Cherry has rented the Dubois building and by putting in a partition he has now a large and commodious room. When arranged he will have one of the best music and news depts in the country.

T. Stratton who kept the boarding house at the Swede quarry died Saturday and was buried Sunday, a large procession following the remains to their last resting place at Oakwood cemetery. We understand that one of the older boys is seriously ill with pneumonia.

On Thursday as an extra freight was pulling into the yards at this place they found a telegram awaiting them stating that they had run over and killed a man near Berlin. As none of the train crew saw him it is supposed he tried to board the train while under full headway and was thrown under the wheels.

The Modern Woodmen after their regular meeting at I. O. O. F. hall Saturday night, loaded them themselves with good things to eat and marched to Johnson's hall for a surprise on the Royal Neighbors, and the latter as soon as they could find their speech, made them welcome. The evening was spent in lodge drills which were enjoyed by all present.

The last number on the lecture course, the Euphonium Glee club drew a large crowd to the Congo, church and was a rare treat for all. The board of managers are to be congratulated for the excellent course of lectures they have furnished, also for their financial success, there being about thirty-five dollars left in the treasury which, by vote, was to be applied on a lecture course next year.

The High School Oratorical Contest by the Juniors drew quite a large crowd at the Congo, Church on Friday evening and was a great success. All did exceedingly well, of which the faculty was very proud. In the awarding of the prizes Miss Mabel McNamee received first and Miss Mayme Fowler received second. There were six contestants and the rest have the privilege of reading books to the amount of $50 awarded by the Crystals Club.

Louisville Gleanings

Special Correspondence.

J. R. Noyes was in Lincoln Monday evening.

Joe Cline of Lincoln was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Chas. Noyes was in Omaha Tuesday.

Nate Hazen and Chas. Amick were in Omaha Tuesday.

O. Ward shipped a car of stock to South Omaha Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wood left Tuesday evening for Calgary, Canada.

Miss Latta Koop returned to the state normal at Peru Saturday evening.

Mrs. Blanch Siples of Omaha was a guest at the Mayfield home over Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. G. Erhart and Mr. Frank Stander were in Plattsmouth Wednesday.

Mrs. W. F. Guess entertained a few friends Monday in honor of her anniversary.

Misses Edith Shyrook and Olive Stander were passengers to Weeping Water last evening.

Miss Ida Schoeman of Springfield was called to nurse her sister, Mrs. Wm. Hoover, who is sick this week.

The village election Tuesday, April 6, 1909, was as follows.

Wm. Diers 113 votes

Chas. A. Richey 114 votes

Geo. Frater 111 votes

Walter Blakes 169 votes

Sam Ball 75 votes

P. A. Jacobson 74 votes

W. A. Cleghorn 73 votes

Fred Lofgreen 73 votes

Her Fatal Error.

He was supposed to be a poor, but otherwise honest young man, while she was admittedly a thing of beauty.

"Will you marry me?" he asked.

"No," she answered.

"You are very short," he muttered.

"Ditto," she replied. "That's why there is nothing doing in the matrimonial line."

"Oh, I don't know," he sneered, as he extracted an obese billbook from an inside pocket and displayed a number of $1,000 bills. "I'm not so short."

Whereupon the unwary maid tried to fall upon his neck, but he gracefully sidestepped and she fell to the floor in a faint.

Standing.

"Lots of fun is peked at the crowd condition of the street cars."

"Yes. It's a standing joke."—Kansas City Times.

LIKE "EASY MONEY"

AMATEUR BEGGAR'S HARD LUCK STORY WON.

But Perhaps If He Really Had Been Hungry His Nerve Would Have Failed Him at the Critical Stage.

After turning down an uncouth looking stranger who expressed his desire for the price of a meal, John A. Thompson continued thoughtfully on his way.

"Must be embarrassing to ask a man for a dime and get turned down," mused John. "That poor fellow didn't know how to put up a plausible story. 'Tisn't so easy, meebby. Like as not I couldn't do any better."

These thoughts led to still more thoughts and the first thing John knew he had determined to find out if he could tell a hard luck story that would get the money.

Slowly and with measured stride, he strolled on down Superior avenue. He had decided to watch and prey, and keep on watching until he sighted his prey.

By and by, a well-dressed man, valise in hand, whom John felt sure was a total stranger to him, came walking briskly along.

John Thompson stopped him. "You doubtless have just finished a hotel dinner," began John. "I am hungry. Were you ever hungry?"

"I don't care to be cross-examined," returned the stranger tartly.

John winced slightly. Could the stranger know that he made his living cross-examining people? But he took hold of the man's lapel and renewed his line of talk. "I've got to have a piece of money, I tell you," he said with vehemence. "I'm hungry. You wouldn't stop to argue if you'd ever been real hungry. Possibly you've been reared in the lap of luxury and don't realize how gray the sky line looks when you haven't even the price of a sandwich in your pocket."

"You seem like an intelligent fellow," remarked John's victim, sizing him up, curiously. "You shouldn't have to go hungry. There is work for all in this world."

"You are complimentary," returned John, "but it does not alleviate my craving for food. My stomach has been almost entirely depleted for 24 hours. Have you no sympathy? Is there no feeling of humanity in your soul?"

"Your clothes are good tailor-made garments, I take it. You shouldn't be without funds. You've seen better days."

"You're evading the issue," sighed John, sadly; "the fact remains that I am hungry, almost to the point of starvation. If you are unwilling to aid a poor, needy person like me, say so and—"

"Oh, well, take this," cut in the stranger, dropping a quarter into Thompson's hand. "I didn't say I wouldn't help you. I am simply interested in sociology and wondered why a man, evidently of some intelligence, should—"

John was smiling whimsically as he replaced the quarter in the hand of his benefactor.

"I just wanted to see if I could do it," he explained. Then drawing a crisp new five-dollar bill from his vest pocket, he added: "Walk on over across the street with me and have a cigar or something."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Dream of Grouchy Man.

Landlord W. J. Akers is authority for this story, told a few days ago by Congressman Adam Bede during a brief sojourn in the city.

It's about a man who got up wrong foot foremost, refusing to respond to his wife's cheerful greeting and working himself up into a sullen fury for no reason at all.

"Did you sleep well, dear?" she sweetly asked, all unaware of his hum.

"Sleep, nothing!" exclaimed the grouch. "I did nothing but dream."

"How nice," she giggled. "I wonder if you dreamed of me?"

"Just that," he affirmed. "All night, too."

"And what did you dream, dear?" she ruthlessly pursued her inquiry.

"Dreamed you ran away with a fellow," he growled.

"Yes? And—"

"And I was wondering what in thunder he was running for."—Cleveland Leader.

Police Dogs Useful in Parks.

In the Amsterdam and Harlem parks and woods the police dog is invaluable and has already saved many a woman and child from molestation. The idea that such dogs are about causes a wholesome dread in the minds of would-be criminals. It is hoped that The Hague will also soon be favored with canine additions to the police force, for the extensive parks and woods are often rendered dangerous by tramps and other undesirable individuals.

Defends "Art" on Billboards.

Charles M. Bowman, a councilman of Wilkesbarre, has achieved fame by defending theatrical billboards. In a speech which turned the tide in the city council that seemed setting against these prominently pervasive objects, he said: "Where, I say, where can you get finer art than is on some of the billboards? These pictures excel in beauty the paintings of Benjamin West or the sculpture of Michael Angelo and are a delight to the naked eye."
