PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA.

Salt Water Baths in London.
A flourishing business in England now is sending sea water up to London for the use of those who wish a dip in the ocean without the trouble of traveling down to the seashore for it.

As the Twig is Bent.
There is some hope for the boy who has to be driven into the bathtub, but there is mighty little hope for the boy who has to be driven away from the mirror.—Atchison Globe.

A Dude Wrote This.
A woman is said to have invented a machine for darning socks, but nobody has yet devised means for making darned socks comfortable.—Providence Tribune.

Willin'.
A certain newly-elected congressman met a society bud of Washington at his first reception.
"Do you like Balzac?" she queried.
"Well, I never played it," drawled the westerner. "But I'm willin' to take a hand."—Lippincott's.

The Touch Artistic.
"I'd like to take you to the theater tonight, old man."
"Thanks."
"And I would if I had the price. Could you spare a five?"

When Women Are Included.
Miss Crystal McMillan, M. A., B. Sc., explained to the women at a recent suffrage meeting in Scotland that women were only "the people" when there were taxes to pay or they committed crimes. When there was only voting to do "the people" means only men. A university woman suffrage union has been formed in Scotland.

Locating the Blame.
"You sometimes make mistakes in forecasting the weather."
"Not I," replied the expert. "My methods are strictly scientific. I can't help it if the climate insists on being a nature faker."—Exchange.

One's Own Judgment Biased.
Our opinion of ourselves, like our shadow, makes us either too big or too little.—Bronte.

Intricate Mechanism of Watch.
There are more than 2,000 distinct operations in the work of assembling a watch.

Owned by the British Public.
The value of pictures in the British National Gallery is about $6,250,000.

Millions of Miles of Salt.
The world's oceans contain 7,000,000 cubic miles of salt.

MADE A MATTER OF RECORD.
English Firm Has Neat Scheme to Prevent Disputes Over Amount of Money Tendered.

The lady behind the counter at one of the winter drapery sales in Oldham street wrote out the bill for my purchases (writes "B") on a little manifold book, which reproduced her writing by means of a carbon paper on the page below. When she took the half-sovereign I tendered in payment, and placing it on the upper page, pressed it hard, down with her thumb. I asked the reason. "We have instructions," she exp. in d., "to take the impression of any coin received by means of the carbon paper in the book. See (turning to the duplicate of my bill), there's the impression of your half-sovereign. You couldn't very well think you'd given me a sovereign after seeing that, could you? You'd be surprised," she said, "how often we have to show our books to people to convince them we've not made a mistake."—Manchester Guardian.

Pastoral Adjuncts.
In these days the demands upon the filled playwright are many and complicated. "Too busy to do a little work or be right off?" asked a theatrical manager, and the playwright signified his willingness to attempt it.
"All right," said the theatrical manager. "We've got permission from the author to put on a dramatization of The Minister's Vacation, that country cook that's so popular, and the author's willing we should work in only two more incidents to make the action lively.

"Now I want you to write up a cyclone and a couple of trick mules (we got the machinery for the cyclone, and the two mules are great. I want the pastoral flavor of the book kept and understood, but just a little more go in it)."—Youth's Companion.

Their Narrow Escape.
Midus, wearied beyond endurance at seeing that everything he touched turned to gold, looked about for some light occupation, with a view to resting his mind, and was about to go into the lumber business.

"But that won't do, either," he said. "If I should touch wood I'd knock the wood pulp business into a cocked hat and bankrupt the timber kings!"
Realizing that crowned heads should stand by one another, and uncertain, besides, what the Payne tariff was going to do with lumber, he forbore, and amused himself by going out and buying a gold brick from a con man—which, in his case, was a perfectly safe transaction.

New Hampshire's Name.
New Hampshire was called so with reference to the original patentee, who was governor of Portsmouth in Hampshire, England. It is known as the Granite state, from the fact that its mountains are largely composed of that stone.

Next Pure Reading Matter.
Poet—"Will you accept this poem at your regular rates?" Editor—"I guess so—it appears to contain nothing objectionable. Go to the advertising department and ask them what the rates are. How many times did you wish it inserted?"

Cannot Stand Prosperity.
Your novelist in his prosperity gets away from touch with the mass of humanity which gave vitality to his earlier work. Although his later works may be more perfect in writing craft they are less human.—Book Monthly.

Twenty-Nine Suits Shy.
A New York society leader says no gentleman can get along with fewer than 29 suits of clothes. It appears to be quite plain that our tailor does not consider us a gentleman.—Philadelphia Star.

An Impractical Suggestion.
"You must learn to trust your fellow-men," said the professional optimist. "There's no use in talking that way to me," answered the worried-looking citizen. "I'm in the grocery business."

Paper as a Bandage.
For a slight cut there is nothing better to control the hemorrhage than common unglazed paper, such as is used by grocers and market men. Bind a piece on the cut.

Don't Cross the Line.
Women have need to learn the great lesson that there is a line between essentials which, overstepped, leads to mental and physical shipwreck.

Never Be Afraid to Doubt.
Never be afraid to doubt, if only you have the disposition to believe; and doubt in order that you may end in believing the truth.—Leighton.

The Funny Things We Hear.
"What time is it?" "Just struck 12."
"Oh, it must be later than that. You couldn't have counted right."—Boston Transcript.

Progress in Argentina.
The main factor in Argentina's progress during recent years has been its constant railroad extension.
