

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Thousands of millions of cans of Royal Baking Powder have been used in making bread, biscuit and cake in this country, and every housekeeper using it has rested in perfect confidence that her food would be light, sweet, and perfectly wholesome. Royal is a safeguard against the cheap alum powders which are the greatest menacers to health of the present day.

PLAIN REASONS FOR A TARIFF COMMISSION.

We have for two or three years past at different times found opportunity in these pages to show reasons why some kind of tariff commission or bureau at Washington ought to be organized on a permanent basis to deal thoroughly and carefully with perplexing problems and disputed facts relating to various schedules and industries, and also to aid in the problems that arise in the administration of the tariff and its application to particular countries. In February, as our readers may remember, there was held in Indianapolis a large conference called by the National Manufacturers' Association, to organize a movement on behalf of the idea of a permanent tariff commission. The committee appointed at that time under the chairmanship of Mr. H. E. Miles, of Racine, Wis., has been working quietly but diligently at Washington, and its efforts have met with growing encouragement from week to week, as the difficulties of devising a tariff under the present methods have been brought to light in hundreds of concrete instances. It would be a great mistake to undervalue the intelligence of the committees of the two Houses of Congress. Mr. Payne and others of the Ways and Means Committee have an extraordinary knowledge of tariff facts. The same thing may be said of Mr. Aldrich and some members of the Senate Committee. But there are many issues involved in the framing of a tariff that require a more prolonged and thorough inquiry than it has been possible for either of these Congressional committees to bestow. The experiences of Germany, France, and other countries in tariff-making, as set forth in this Review last month, show that it has been found useful abroad to entrust the complexities of tariff-making to experts working patiently as a commission. Of course, no one proposes, whether here or in Europe, to give any authority to the findings of a tariff commission, until thoroughly discussed by the proper law-making bodies and enacted into statutes.—Review of Reviews.

THE business man who will not advertise is driving the hearse.

THE citizen who will do nothing to help his town is helping to dig its grave.

THE citizen who "knocks" and howls "hard times" preaches the funeral sermon.

A TOWN whose citizens have no public spirit is on the way to the cemetery.

THE fellow who condemns everyone that stands up for the morality and decency of his home town, is assisting in its burial.

"A publication in this immediate locality took the Journal to task for endorsing Mayor Jim Dahlman of Omaha for re-election. The people of Omaha gave Jim Dahlman four thousand plurality and the Journal is satisfied."—Plattsmouth Journal, May 5.

We can understand why "the Journal is satisfied," but we cannot understand how the respectable element of the rank and file of the democratic party can swallow the Journal's rot. The Journal has never condemned gambling, prostitution and lawlessness. And, above we give the Journal's boast that it is the friend of Jim Dahlman, the "friend" of John C. Mabray, the swindler, confidence man and buncoist. Below we give the views of others on the election of Jim Dahlman. And, here we ask the question. How long will the respectable element of the rank and file of the democratic party tolerate the Journal's policy?

"The dog has returned to his vomit, and the sow to her wallowing in the mire." This strong Biblical illustration is called to mind when we read in the papers that Omaha has re-elected Dahlman by an increased majority. Three more years of the cowboy mayor. Three more years of as wide open a town as he dares to make it. Three more years in bad odor with the rest of the state.—Central City Record.

Omaha voted Tuesday to continue the Dahlman regime. This we consider a disgrace to the good name of Nebraska. It means that the saloons, breweries, prostitutes and other lawless elements of the city are going to defy the legislature and any one else who would put a restriction upon their wide open policy.—Pender Republican.

No, thank you, it would be impossible for us to ally ourselves with the democratic party, so long as the present management has control, with all deference and respect to the many good citizens who comprise the rank and file of that party. Too many things come to disgust us to make such affiliation possible, even if we do vote its ticket. — in a wife as a protest against republican degeneracy. A reading of the Omaha World-Herald during one municipal campaign in its home city would so intensify our disgust that it would be impossible to vote the democratic ticket for several months until the odor died away. Only a few years ago the World-Herald attacked Mayor Moores viciously because of his trucking to the "liberal" (criminal) element. Then came Dahlman, and now the World-Herald is supporting him with all its might, making a special point against his opponent, Mr. Breen, that he is decent on the "liberal" question. In view of the notorious fact that Dahlman is ten times worse than Moores ever was, it is plain that the World-Herald roasted Moores because he was a republican and not because he stood for unclean elements in the city government. Possibly the World-Herald may find it out after a while, but if it did not know it, there are multitudes of decent democrats all through the state who feel the same sense of nausea.—Ashland Gazette.

THE only reason some of the Democratic Senators can think of for opposing free lumber is that the Democratic platform favored free lumber.

A PROCURER for the white slave trade is one who takes, or leads innocent girls into lives of prostitution. It is rumored that Plattsmouth has a procurer for the white slave trade.

ECCENTRICITY has always abounded when and where strength of character has abounded; and the amount of eccentricity in a society has been proportional to the amount of genius, mental vigor and moral courage it contained. That so few now dare to be eccentric marks the chief danger of the time.—John Stuart Mill.

THE democratic press is hysterical just at present as to the interest of "the ultimate consumer." The first question to be determined is, who is entitled to Protection. Our belief is that the American wage earner is entitled to the first consideration. He is entitled to be protected in his employment and the wages he receives. He is a producer and "an ultimate consumer." Any tariff schedule which reduces his opportunity to secure employment is wrong. Any tariff schedule which does not make ample provision for the difference between foreign wages and American wages and a reasonable profit is wrong. The American workingman is a producer and he is the largest consumer, particularly of farm products, and the farmers have always reaped their greatest financial harvest under a Protective Tariff. The politician may spin his fine theories, and a hysterical democratic press may shout "robber tariff," but the fact remains, that the farmers' bank account always increases under a Protective Tariff. Facts always have and always will beat theories. The farmers are not as ignorant and as easily caught as the democratic press assume they are. So long as the farmer knows that under a Protective Tariff he is able to buy an additional quarter section of land every second or third year, he is not so very badly worried about "the ultimate consumer."

THE chief of the Omaha detective force is investigating certain parties in this city. Something may develop later. Other individuals are making investigations on their own account. It is barely possible that something is brewing. He who sows bad seed may reap frightful harvest.
