Supreme Court Holds His Appointment of Judges to Be Valid.

The supreme court Friday afternoon filed a decision in the suit of Oldham against Dean, holding that the appointments of former Governor Sheldon on the supreme bench are legally entitled to their seats; that the appointments of Governor Shallenberger to the same positions are illegal; that the State Board of Canvassers has power to canvass the vote on the constitutional amendment increasing the number of supreme court judges from three to seven, and that the canvass attempted by the legislature was without effect because the joint convention has no power to canvass, and that the acts of the legislature relating to the canvassing of votes cast for constitutional amendments were legally adopted. The present law relating to canvassing this vote is upheld.

The opinion was written by Chief Justice Reese, Judges Dean and Rose not sitting.

Governor Sheldon named Jesse L. Root, J. S. Fawcett, W. B. Rose and J. R. Dean as judges. The legislature challenged this right, claiming that the State Canvassing board had no right to declare the amendment carried, and that it alone had the power to canvass and declare the result. It proceeded to do so, and Governor Shallenberger named Fawcett, Root, W. D. Oldham and J. J. Sullivan as judges. Ex-Governor Elias A. Holcomb was offered one of the places, but he refused to make a fight for the place and Oldham, who was willing to scrap, was named in his stead.

THE SYLLABUS.

1. Section 4 of the act of 1877 (session laws of 1877, p. 112.) while in force, considered in connection with section 4, article V of the constitution, required the canvass of the vote of the people upon the question of the adoption of proposed amendments of the constitution to be made by the speaker of the house of representatives in the presence of a majority of each house of the legislature, who were required to assemble in the hall of the house of representatives for that purpose.

2. Section 4, article V of the constitution, requires the returns of every election for officers of the executive department of state to be sealed up and transmitted by the returning officer to the secretary of state, directed to the speaker of the house of representatives. Section 1, chapter III compiled statutes requires the returns of election amendments to be made to the State Board of Canvassers, directed to the secretary of state.

3. There being no specific provision for the canvassing of the returns of election on constitutional amendments and no provision for such returns to be transmitted to, or lodged elsewhere than with the State Board of Canvassers, held it was the duty of said board to canvass the returns.

4. The enrollment, authentication and approval of an act of the legislature are prima facie evidence of its due enactment. State ex rel. against Frank, 69 Neb., 327, 83 N. W. 74.

5. The silence of the legislature journals is not conclusive evidence of the non-existence of a fact, which ought to be recorded therein, regarding the enactment of law.

6. Act of April 5, 1895 (session laws 1895, chapter 4) held to have been legally enacted and not invalidated because of silence of senate journal as to concurrency in a formal amendment by the house. State ex rel. against city of Wahoo, 62 Nebraska 40, 86 N. W. 923, said act repealed section 4 of the act of 1877, supra, and placed the duty of canvassing the vote on constitutional amendments with the State Board of Canvassers, and which act was in turn amended and repealed by the act of 1897 (session laws 1897, C. H. 5.)

7. The canvassing of an election for executive state officers imposed upon the speaker of the house of representatives is a duty especially enjoined upon him, resulting from his office, as such speaker, and is a ministerial duty to be performed by him in the presence of a majority of the members of each house. When such voters are duly canvassed by him his duties are at an end.

8. The law does not permit the returns of election on proposed constitutional amendments to be removed from the office of the secretary of state and does not confer upon the speaker of the house any authority of power to canvass such returns.

9. A joint meeting of a majority of the members of each house to witness the canvass of the voters by the speaker of each house possesses no legislative authority and cannot create or impose duties or obligations upon executive state officers, where none existed before, nor can it canvass election returns or declare the result.

It will be remembered that the legislature wasted about two or three weeks on the matter of "re-canvassing" of the votes on the constitutional amendments, at a cost of a $1000 per day or a cost of $10,000 to the taxpayer.

The first food of the day.

Every man, woman and child begins the day with more or less vigor of mind and strength of body according to the first food supplied to the stomach. The best first dish of the day is a bowl of Quaker Oats. The stomach can assimilate it more quickly and with less effort than other foods. There is little or no waste and every ounce of food is converted into muscle, vigor and brain activity. The strongest people in the world are the regular eaters of Quaker Oats. You should eat it for breakfast every day.

If you are convenient to the store you'll probably buy the regular size package. For those who live in the country the large size family package is more satisfactory.

Fireless Cookers

We handle the National fireless cooker, and guarantee it to give entire satisfaction. Now that the hot sultry days are coming it will pay you to investigate this.
