AUGUST 9, 1909.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I desire to announce myself as a candidate for the office of register of deeds for Cass county, subject to the republican primaries which will be held on August 17. If selected as the nominee I shall put forth my best efforts to secure election and will give to the office my best attention. L. H. DAFT.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for Register of Deeds of Cass county, subject to the pleasure of the voters at the coming primaries. In asking for this nomination I desire to call attention to the fact that my services in the office of county surveyor, while being largely of a "thank you" nature, the remuneration being insufficient for the support of a family, have eminently fitted me for the duties of the office to which I aspire, and in case I should receive the nomination I shall use my best endeavors to be elected, and will give to the office my best attention. E. E. HILTON.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for County Superintendent of Cass county, subject to the pleasure of the voters at the coming primaries, which will be held Aug. 17, 1909. In asking for this nomination I promise if selected as the nominee to put forth my best endeavors to secure election. A. J. WICKLAND

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for Road Overseer of Eight Mile Grove precinct, No. 2, of Cass county, subject to the pleasure of the voters at the coming primaries. SAM P. BEAVER.

STATEMENT OF PRESIDENT TAFT ON NEW TARIFF BILL.

"I have signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of sincere effort to the part of the republican party to make a downward revision, and to comply with the promises of the platform as they have been generally understood and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election.

"This is not a perfect tariff bill, nor a complete compliance with the promises made, strictly interpreted, but a fulfillment free from criticism in respect to a subject matter involving many schedules and thousands of articles could not be expected. It suffices to say that except with regard to whiskey, liquors and wines and in regard to silks and as to such high classes of cottons, all of which may be treated as luxuries and proper subjects for a revenue tariff, there have been very few increases in rates.

"There has been a great number of real decreases in rates, and they constitute a sufficient amount to justify the statement that this bill is a substantial downward revision, and a reduction of excessive rates.

"This is not a free trade bill. It was not intended to be. The republican party did not promise to make a free trade bill.

"It promises to make the rates protective, but to reduce them when they exceeded the difference between the cost of production abroad and here, making allowance for the greater normal profit on active investments here. I believe that while this excess has not been reduced in a number of cases, in a great majority the rates are such as are necessary to protect American industries, but are low enough in case of abnormal increase of demand and raising of prices to permit the possibility of the importation of the foreign articles and thus prevent excessive prices.

"The power granted to the executive under the maximum and minimum clause may be said to assure the removal of obstacles which have been interposed by foreign governments in the way of undue and unfair discrimination against American merchants and products.

"The Philippine tariff bill section I have struggled to secure for ten years past, and it gratifies me exceedingly by my signature to give it the effect of law. I am sure it will greatly increase the trade between the two countries, and it will do much to build up the Philippines in a healthful prosperity.

The administrative clause of the bill and the customs court are admirably adapted to secure a more uniform and a more speedy construction of the meaning of the law.

"The authority of the president to use certain means assists him in the application of the maximum and minimum sections of the statutes, and to enable officers to administer the law, gives a wide latitude for the acquisition under circumstances favorable to truth of information in respect to the price and cost of production of goods at home and abroad, which will throw much light on the operation of the present tariff, and be of primary importance of officially collected data upon which future executive recommendation may be based.

"The corporation tax is a just and equitable excise measure, which it is hoped will produce a sufficient amount to prevent a deficit and which incidentally will secure valuable statistics and information concerning the many corporations of the country, and will constitute an important step toward that degree of publicity and regulation which the tendency of corporate enterprises in the last twenty years has shown to be necessary."

THIS is the year when every republican should make it his business to attend the primary. He should scan the list of candidates carefully and vote for those men that in his judgment will make the best servants for the people of the county. If every republican in the county will do this it will insure the election of every republican on the ticket this fall. There is no excuse why this should not be done. There be will no doubt about the result this fall if republicans will only do their duty at the primary and at the polls.

Spends Sunday in Omaha.

James Robertson returned this morning from Omaha where he visited over Sunday at the home of James Chisek, deputy sheriff of Douglas county. While there he met Thomas Chisek who had just brought three carloads of cattle to the South Omaha market. Mr. Chisek stated that there was a heavy rainfall in Norfolk and vicinity Saturday night and Sunday morning, a great deal of water running in the creeks and standing in pools by the roadside. A similar rain would be of great benefit in this vicinity now though crops are not suffering to any great extent.

A Fine Trip

Chas. C. Parmele and son Pollock returned Saturday noon from their trip by auto to Mr. Parmele's large ranch near Broken Bow.

They report a fine journey everything looking well and the roads in good condition. Pollock drove the car the entire distance with no mishap of any consequence which is certainly a good record for the boy who though but 15 years of age is considered one of the best chauffeurs in the city. The Overland machine which they used stood the trip well responding to all requirements and returned good as new.

Another New Auto.

F. J. Coddington who was in the city with a Reo Runabout auto Saturday, demonstrating its hill climbing qualities returned to his home at Syracuse and drove back a 30-horse power Reo touring car for which he had a prospective purchaser. He was accompanied by Jacob Frey his chauffeur who drove the touring car back for him while he delivered the runabout to Mr. Cole for $500. Mr. Cole lives near Mynard and is very well pleased with his new car which satisfactorily does everything that could be reasonably expected of it.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow; Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Plattsmouth people endorse our claim.

P. M. Lindsay, Marble Street, Plattsmouth, Neb., says: "Off and on for about two years I suffered from pains in my back and while at work, a dull, steady ache through my loins greatly disturbed me. I had reason to believe that the trouble was caused by disordered kidneys but I was unable to find relief from the remedies I used. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box at Gering & Co's. drug store. The results that followed their use showed that I had at last found the right remedy for my trouble and thus encouraged, I obtained another box. In return for the great improvement Doan's Kidney Pills have made, I heartily endorse them."

SHREWD MR. DOOLY

HE HAS DISCOVERED A USE FOR "SWITCHTAIL" COWS.

Jersey Farmer Has Device (Not Patented) by Which He Makes Animal Saw Wood with Her Caudal Appendage.

John Dooly of Jacksonville, N. J., has hit upon a plan that will hereafter make "switchtail" cows bring a premium, instead of, as now, being unmarketable. Dooly is the owner of a brindle cow that he has been compelled for years to milk himself. His hired men after the first trial of milking the cow refused to remain longer in Dooly's employ if compelled to put up with the lashing of old brindle's tail.

Dooly has tried for eight years to get rid of the cow, but her fame has spread over Essex and Morris counties, and a purchaser for her could not be found. She can snap her tail like a whip, and the result is that Dooly's face has not been minus several pieces of sticking plaster for years.

Dooly said recently, "I have been thinking for some time of using the old brindle's tailpower to some good effect, and at last hit upon a plan, which I have now put into effect with such good results that if any of the farmers around have any 'switchtail' cows they want to dispose of they will find a buyer at the Dooly farm.

"I cut a hole through the side of the woodshed," continued Dooly, "just opposite the circular saw, which we turn by hand to cut up wood in stove lengths, and through this hole I put a beam, which I balanced just like the walking beam of a ferryboat on the North river. On the inside end I fastened a stick leading down to the wheel that turns the saw. On the outside I fastened a rope. I tried the thing and it worked fine. Driving a stake into the ground near by, I tied the old brindle to it, and, fastening her tail to the beam rope, sat down to milk. I called Pat Dugan, the farm helper, and told him to feed wood to the saw. He thought at first I was crazy, but I ordered him to do as told.

"The next minute the old brindle gave her tail a switch to swipe me across the face as usual, but she couldn't. The rope held, and she could only switch her tail so far. Then she tried in the other direction, with the same result. By this time old brindle got pretty mad and she jerked that tail of hers back and forth as quick as lightning, and, say, that walking beam kept going at such a rate that you would a thought the circular saw was being driven by a ten-horse power engine.

"It just took 15 minutes to milk old brindle, and in that time she cut up two cords of wood into stove lengths. No, sir, I wouldn't take $500 for that old brindle cow now," concluded Dooly.
