ALL SORROWS are bearable if there is bread.—Don Quixote.

IF THE price of clothing was advanced by the new tariff, why don't the price of shoes drop?

WHAT'S a tariff for if not to keep out competition? Then what's the difference how high it is? Certainly the people have not forgotten the trade stagnation days immediately following Wilson-Gorman free trade act?

ALLOW us to rise in our place in the synagogue and remark that we can stand this hot weather a good deal better than the extreme cold. And ice bills are not half as formidable as coal bills. We can get out and ride fifty miles without any great discomfort, even in this weather, but in the severe winter weather we dread to be out long enough to run from the house to the office. Those who prefer winter can have our part of it and welcome. The less of it we have in ours the better we are suited.—York Times.

IF ALL the force and power which is wasted through avoidable friction in the world could be saved and used in doing the world's needed work, how much more might be accomplished. Life is full of avoidable friction, many people begin with it at the breakfast table and dispute and quarrel, fret and complain all along the line of their day's work. They don't "get along" well with the people they come in contact with. They have ability but half their power is lost in foolish and avoidable friction and they fail to accomplish the things they might otherwise do.—Norfolk News.

YEAR by year, month by month, week by week, some big event takes place in the economic world which emphasizes the fact that America is making big strides looking to a more equitable distribution of her wealth. While the country has been almost uniformly prosperous since the war of the rebellion, owing to a faulty system of distribution of the wealth created, capital has received too much for its share, to the detriment of labor. Many causes have contributed to this result. In a new country, where stupendous improvements are perennial, capital demands, and rightfully receives more returns than is the case in older communities. While capital performs a highly useful function in the productive scheme of the civilized world today, it should be considered as one of the tools of production rather than in the category with the workers, and should be treated as such in the distribution of the things created. Labor is the producer of all wealth and should receive its just share of all production. That this principle is coming to be more recognized is evidenced by the numerous laws which have been placed upon our statute books in the past few years having for their object the guaranteeing to labor of a larger share of its creation. The latest instance of note is the agreement just reached in Cleveland whereby the Cleveland Street Railway Co. has agreed to a valuation of 24 million dollars for all its property, these figures to be used as a basis of operation whereby the company shall not receive a compensation for the operation of its business to exceed six per cent on its investment. A semi-annual balance sheet is to be used as a basis upon which to revise the schedule of rates charged by the company, with the proviso that the price shall never exceed seven fares for a quarter, with universal transfer privileges, though the initial trial is to be made at a three cent rate with a cent added for the transfer privilege.

GEORGE LUSHINSKY, the Republican nominee for county clerk, is likely to prove one of the strongest men on the ticket. While he perhaps does not enjoy quite so wide an acquaintance throughout the county as some of the other candidates, he has plenty of time before election to get acquainted. And he makes friends easily. He is a genial, whole-souled fellow, one of the workers, and with his frank, open countenance, to know him is to admire him. Without saying anything derogatory of his opponent, the NEWS-HERALD makes the prediction that when the votes are counted it will be found that Mr. Lushinsky's name will be well up to the top among his party's candidates.

THIS third term hullabaloo does not seem to worry Sheriff Quinton in the least. He sought the nomination conscious of duty well performed, and his campaign will be made upon his record. While it is true he has already served two terms, it should be borne in mind that they were only two year terms and if the people of the county really desire efficiency in office they will see to it that C. D. Quinton is returned. The democratic "third term bawl" is likely to prove a boomerang when the voters come to realize that in Cass county several democrats have been elected to third terms, and in one instance at least the terms were four years instead of two.

THE controversy between Secretary of the Interior Ballenger and Gifford Pinchot still continues, notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, and it is possible that the President may yet have to take a hand in the game. Mr. Pinchot's reputation in the west rests upon a pretty sound foundation, and when he accuses the secretary of the interior of pursuing a course diametrically opposed to the policies outlined and instituted by President Roosevelt for the reclaiming of millions of acres of hitherto unproductive domain, the west insists upon being shown that his accusations are groundless.

On August 181,927 cars were loaded with grain, stock and other freight in Nebraska. On the corresponding date last year the total was 1,553. This shows a gain of about 25 per cent, confirming the story of the bank statistics—State Journal. And doesn't it also confirm the theory that about seven-tenths of the talk about the necessity for a revision the tariff was purely hot air? It smacks of demagoguery to be continually howling about laws the workings of which are so ideal as would seem to be indicted by the above paragraph.

THIS dry weather is limiting the supply of garden "sass" and the short pasturage is sending the price of butter up toward the clouds. The Minden Courier will probably charge it up to the new tariff along with the advance in clothing which has been caused by a pool of the wool dealers, the new law making no changes in those schedules whatever.

THE ticket nominated by the Republicans at the recent primary is one upon which the party should secure a sweep-victory this fall. Every man is a strong one, well equipped to perform the duties of the office to which he aspires, and there is no earthly reason why a single office should go to the democrats. All that is needed is to pull together.

"LABYRINTHINE complexity" is a phrase used by the State Journal in discussing the need for a simplification of the rate sheet employed by the Burlington railroad. It sounds wicked anyway, so it might be as well to call for an investigation.

IF EVERY Republican in Cass county would organize himself into a committee of one for the purpose of promoting the interests of his party, the result would be that every democrat would shortly move out of the court house.

IT is really astonishing now many people will be met in this world who absolutely refuse to play unless they are allowed to bat.

WONDER if the tariff of two cents per gallon has anything to do with the milk shortage in Omaha?

The family formerly resided here and their many friends will regret to learn of his condition.

"Paul Anthony, Christian."

No religious novel since "Ben Hur" has scored the success which has attended "Paul Anthony, Christian," by Hiram W. Hayes. It has for its motive the spiritualization of human thought and shows the ground work of Christian healing, the greatest religious question of the age. The subject has been handled in such a practical, every day sort of a way, that while, as one critic says, the "atmosphere of the novel is idealistic" it is not above the head of the average reader. Herein lies its great popularity. Three large editions have been run and it is expected that a fourth will be necessary for the coming fall demand. The Reid Publishing Company of Boston are the fortunate holders of the copyright.

Every Woman Should Know

That in the comforts and economies it bestows no other article ever made (at the same cost) equals a Bissell "Cyco" Bearing Sweeper.

The Bissell has displaced the dust pan and the corn broom, two primitive instruments of torture; has robbed sweeping day of its terrors, has made sweeping a pleasure instead of a drudgery and has saved housewives and servants time for other agreeable tasks by performing the work of sweeping in one-quarter the time the corn broom requires and with 95 per cent less effort.

THE BISSELL

Sweeper confines all the dust, thus protecting the furniture, draperies, curtains, bric-a-brac, etc. If there exists today a positive menace to the health of the entire family, it is the clouds of dust raised by the corn broom, which permeate every nook and corner in the home. The very latest improved "Cyco" Bearing Bissell sweeper can be bought at $3.00, and will last longer than fifty brooms. Why sacrifice health, comfort and convenience because of so slight an investment.
