Plattsmouth No. 85 Nebraska No. 85

AUGUST 30, 1909.

WHEN a merchant will not patronize his fellows, but sends out of town for every little thing he needs which he does not carry, can he scold others for doing likewise?

ONCE more America walks off with the honors in an international contest. This time Glen Curtis the only American who entered in the flying machine contests in France walked off, or rather flew off, with the honors. Uncle Sam has proven his powers on land and sea many times before and now he takes to the air for this latest victory. We are now prepared to meet them coming or going, up or down, in or out, with no fear for the results.

IT HAS been suggested by the Lincoln Star that all the Republican party in Nebraska needs in order to win its battles, is a leader. True, too true. It might also suggest while in the suggestive mood that the Republican party also needs a few less high privates in the rear ranks who take to the tall timber when they should be behind the guns helping to win battles. No one wants to be the leader of an army filled with soldiers who are liable to take a shot at him in the back when things don't go to suit. Load your guns for the enemy and then shoot to kill. All this country is or has come from the hand of the Republican party and what it has done in the past it can and will do again.

WASHINGTON is quick to foresee the political significance of the Grosscup decision limiting the powers of the interstate commerce commission. If the supreme court agrees that the government's power to fix rates through a commission is neither in the law nor in the constitution, the public will have but two avenues of escape from extortion. One will be a constitutional amendment: the other government ownership of railroads. An amendment will be viewed as a practical impossibility by most people. That will mean an immediate turn to the other recourse. In that day the railroads will be amazed to find how many people dread public ownership and ordinarily have no sympathy with socialistic enterprises will hold the evil of public ownership to be a lesser one than the evil of unrestrained private control.—State Journal.

IN SATURDAY'S issue of the Daily Journal appeared an editorial much tainted with insanity, in which it is charged that A. L. Tidd is still editing the NEWS-HERALD. The NEWS-HERALD said: "Two years ago thoughtless republicans in this county elected a democratic county clerk, treasurer, and superintendent of schools." I desire to say to the "Kunne!" that I did not write that editorial, but I will now say to the republicans who two years ago aided in electing those democratic officials, that their support was certainly misplaced. An examination of the Klopp-Bartlett & Co's. bills as well as other printing bills including the Plattsmouth Journal's bills, will show an extravagant waste of the taxpayers money. That, "Kunne,!" is what I would have said had I written the editorial you commented on. A. L. TIDD.

"SHAM BATTLES."

The time is past for sham battles on the tariff question. The only victory we have won on the tariff in recent years was the victory of 1892, when we attacked the PRINCIPLE OF PROTECTION. No real fight can be made until a distinct line is drawn between the opposing forces. —W. J. Bryan, in Commoner.

At last has the lid been taken off, and the mask thrown aside. Grover Cleveland was elected upon a free trade platform, but his Congress did not have the nerve to give the people what they demanded. They compromised on the Wilson-Gorman act, a kind cross between free trade and a tariff for revenue only. The child, however, bore enough of the characteristics of its sire, that when the American people got a good look at it they repudiated it, and the Dingley act of 1897 was the result. Since that time the nation has enjoyed an unprecedented prosperity. Although the democratic party was overwhelmingly defeated and has not dared to say a word about free trade, the leaders were not satisfied with the verdict and have bided their time with what patience they could until a reintroduction of the subject seemed more propitious. And now, glory be, the fates have been kind, even beyond their most sanguine expectations.

As was to have been expected, when the democratic free trade show met with such a frost from the public, many of their newspapers, unable to stand the pressure of forever being on the losing side, boldly announced their conversion to the principles of protection and Republicanism. But a high tariff has always been a source of annoyance to them. Guardedly the "revision" talk was commenced. The tariff was said to be a "sectional" matter, though just how one section of the country could be benefited from the operation of an economic principle to the detriment of another section was not made clear. The "near" republican papers of the country lined up with the democratic press, and in a short time a horde of patriots who didn't know the difference between a prolapsus and a protocol were lustily shouting for a "revision of the tariff." After about four and a half months of as earnest labor as a Congress ever indulged in, the Payne-Adrich bill became a law. While it is true that the free trade vultures cannot find much balm in it, the almost universal demand which they succeeded in stirring up for a revision has emboldened them now to demand more concessions for their European theories, as is evidenced by Mr. Bryan coming out unequivocally for free trade.

The Republican party, however, cheerfully accepts the gauge of battle thrown down by Mr. Bryan and agrees with him fully that "the time is past for sham battles." It will be a pleasure to fight, bleed and yea, die if necessary, in a shindy wherein the uniforms will permit of a ready distinction between friend and foe. It is the jabs under the belt from unexpected quarters to which the NEWS-HERALD objects, and with the lines drawn between the opposing forces, as suggested by Mr. Bryan, a new political alignment will result which can but be beneficial to the Republican party. The difference between free trade and a protective tariff is as wide as the poles, and remembering the experiences of this country under the democratic times of 1893-7, we do not believe that the American people are ready for their repetition.

Fine job work done at this office.

Every Woman Should Know

That in the comforts and economies it bestows no other article ever made (at the same cost) equals a Bissell "Cyco" Bearing Sweeper.

The Bissell has displaced the dust pan and the corn broom, two primitive instruments of torture; has robbed sweeping day of its terrors, has made sweeping a pleasure instead of a drudgery and has saved housewives and servants time for other agreeable tasks by performing the work of sweeping in one-quarter the time the corn broom requires and with 95 per cent less effort.

THE BISSELL

Sweeper confines all the dust, thus protecting the furniture, draperies, curtains, bric-a-brac, etc. If there exists today a positive menace to the health of the entire family, it is the clouds of dust raised by the corn broom, which permeate every nook and corner in the home. The very latest improved "Cyco" Bearing Bissell sweeper can be bought at $3.00, and will last longer than fifty brooms. Why sacrifice health, comfort and convenience because of so slight an investment.

We have just got in a line of Ladies Wool Skirts consisting of Voils, Serges, Panams, Checks, Shadow Stripes and Mohairs, ranging in prices from

$1.50 TO $10
ALL SIZES

These skirts are up-to-date and nicely made, and are priced to you at a close margin of profit, as we intend to build up a skirt business in our store and believe that this is the way to do it. Our skirts will be a big saving to you, ask to see them.

We are well pleased with the result of our Wash Goods and Muslin Underwear Sale. Some of these lines left, but this is the last call.
