Burlington Wreck.

At ten o'clock yesterday a wreck occurred on the Burlington at Burnham, a small station just west of Lincoln, in which two passengers lost their lives and many more were injured. The Wymore passenger train received orders at Lincoln to go onto the siding at Burnham to allow an extra heavy freight train to pass. For some reason the crew did not take the siding and the two trains met with a terrible impact.

But a few weeks ago it was published that the Burlington had just completed a year with a record of not having killed a single passenger, and this catastrophe makes a duplication of that record impossible for this year. No statement will be made by the company until a thorough investigation is made of the causes leading up to the wreck.

A very pleasurable event was the social given Friday night at the M. E. Parsonage. The entertainment was arranged for the purpose of raising funds to assist in the building of a Bohemian Methodist church at Crete. Ice cream and cake were served and those present report a most enjoyable evening.

The editor of this paper visited the Parmale one evening last week and was most agreeably surprised to find such a pleasant and commodious theater. It would be a credit to a city many times the size of Plattsmouth. The entertainment that night was good and clean and speaks well for the management.

In a letter recently received by M. S. Briggs from John F. PERSIAN WOMEN SHOW BRAVERY

Give Up Their Lives on the Field in Cause of Liberty.

It is a remarkable sign of the times that even in eastern countries such as Turkey and Persia the women are in the van of the political movements of the day.

In Persia they take part in the struggle for a constitution, and that they are willing and ready to lay down their lives for the cause is shown by a report from the Teheran correspondent of the St. Petersburg Russ, according to which, after the latest fight that took place outside the city of Tabriz between the royalists and the constitutional forces, the casualties among the latter included 67 women disguised as men who were found dead in the field.

The hero of the day was one Sata Khan, the military leader of the reform movement, who has been regarded for some time past by the people as the one and only possible deliverer of Persia. It appears that two days after the shah had annulled the constitution previously granted, Alned-Dowleh, the shah's commander, took the offensive, advanced on Tabriz and shelled the town, inflicting a loss of 100 killed and wounded on the revolutionaries. Then Sata Khan headed a sortie from the town.

His horsemen, covered by artillery, charged the shah's troops, including the Russian Gen. Lalkoff's Cossacks, took them by surprise and routed them. The revolutionaries followed up their victory, pursuing Alned-Dowleh's troops for 13 miles and capturing 13 guns, besides provisions and ammunition. The casualties on both sides amount to about 2,000.

For the moment affairs have quieted down, but it can only be a lull before a greater storm. The news of the severe defeat of the shah's troops has spread rapidly throughout the country and has enormously strengthened the reformers.

The Ill-Natured Man.

The ill-natured man, though but of equal parts with the good-natured man, gives himself a larger field to expatiate in. He exposes those fallings in human nature which the other would cast a veil over; laughs at vices which the other either excuses or conceals; falls indifferently upon friends or enemies; exposes the person who has obliged him; and, in short, sticks at nothing that may establish his character of a wit.

When Women Are Included.

Miss Crystal McMillan, M. A., B. Sc., explained to the women at a recent suffrage meeting in Scotland that women were only "the people" when there were taxes to pay or they committed crimes. When there was only voting to do "the people" means only men. A university woman suffrage union has been formed in Scotland.
