WILLARD CLAPP,
Chairman.

We have often wondered why somebody didn't start a republican paper in Lincoln. Lancaster county up to a year ago was quite strongly republican, and ought to be a good field for a live paper of the republican brand.

The Lincoln Daily News says that the boys who are upholding President Taft are the fellows who have good fat appointments. Then we suppose it is reasonable to believe that the fellows who are knocking so hard are the ones who didn't get them.

Our democratic exchanges are hammering away at the people about voting for a non-partisan supreme court. However they invariably insist that the voter should vote for the three democratic candidates for supreme judge. These democratic editors are very "non-partisan."

The Lincoln News says that if Governor Johnson was alive and a well man today he would stand an excellent chance of being president of the United States three years from now. Rats! A democrat stands just about as much show of being elected president three years from now as a non-resident has of getting a drink of beer in Lincoln on Sunday afternoon.

The World-Herald stands "amazed" at the president's partisanship. Good Lord! If there has ever been anything so vile, or anything so unreasonable, or anything so disreputable that has ever been fathered by the democratic party that the World-Herald has always stood up for we have never heard of it. It was only necessary to have the democratic brand to find the World-Herald its champion first, last and all the time.

The only fault that the opponents of Sheriff Quinton can find with his administration of the sheriff's office is that he has had it long enough. Four years does seem like an awful long while to the fellow that is out and wants to get in. But cheer up brethren, its liable to be a mighty long while yet before you can wear the badge, and it doesn't pay to keep so solemn melancholy too long.

B. I. Clements of Elmwood is a candidate for re-election to the office of coroner. Mr. Clements has made a good coroner, and while his duties have not been arduous, still there is no knowing what might happen, and it is a good thing to be prepared for the worst. An inexperienced man might cost the county several dollars which it was not necessary to expend. Therefore vote for Coroner Clements for re-election.

The Commoner does not like the speeches of President Taft being made on his trip over the country. Strange. But did you ever stop to think how easy it is for one without any responsibility on his shoulders to stand off and find fault with the one who has? Mr. Bryan and his Commoner have never been anything else but fault-finders and probably never will be in any position where there will be any responsibility on their shoulders so others can find fault.

Somehow the average democratic newspaper editor cannot understand how a republican can speak his convictions without first taking his soundings to find out how the public feels on the subject. They have had so much "politics for policy only" from their three-time presidential candidate, that they cannot comprehend how President Taft can take a stand for what he believes is right when it is liable to bring criticism from those who do not understand and who also think they know it all.

A communication to the State Journal over the signature of A. L. Tidd of this city appeared in that paper last week, and of course as it struck a tender spot on the body of that paper its editor tried to answer it. If, as the State Journal tries to put it, Mr. Rosewater "put one over" when the convention wasn't looking, where was its worthy chairman at that time and what was he doing. As chairman of that convention, he was in a position where if he has the good eye which the Journal claims, he should have seen the ball coming and when it passed over the plate swatted it over the fence.

No voter, when he goes to the polls, should fail to remember Prof. E. E. Odell, republican candidate for county superintendent. He has made the educational business a study and always successfully. He is built upon the board principle that every man who comes to him or every woman who has occasion to consult him along the lines of education, will be given equal consideration, no matter what his or her politics. He is not asking for the office for any other reason than that he is qualified for the position and if elected will give the office his very best effort. He is a graduate of the Peru Normal and has had experience at the head of some of our best schools. His experience and general good sound judgement makes him an ideal candidate and he should be elected.

Some people think that any old deal is all right in politics, but honesty in politics should be the watchword as well as in any other walk in life. The fake stories in circulation regarding the nationality of George Lushinsky and attempts to make him appear a saloon bum are decidedly unfair and will assist him rather than harm him as soon as the facts are made known. George Lushinsky was born in Germany in 1870 and came to America when small. He has been in the employment of the Burlington for many years and has shown himself to be a man of character and good standing. He talks and writes German like a native, is well qualified to fill the position and should poll every vote cast by the man who has to work for a living and earns his wages by the sweat of his brow and the work of his brawny muscle.

If you have to hire a man to run your business, you will certainly engage one who has made business a success. The affairs of the county should be in the hands of good businessmen who knowing the needs of the county will know what is best to be done. Martin L. Friedrich has made a good commissioner. He has made a success in farming because he used business principles in conducting his farm. His unfortunate neighbors who have suffered from the misfortunes of crop failures know that they never had to go to Martin Friedrich for assistance and be turned away empty handed. He did not keep his good fortune to himself, but let others share it in their hour of need. Those who know Martin Friedrich best are for him for county commissioner the hardest, and his election is not only assured, but by a larger majority than ever before. People don't turn down public officers of the stamp of Mr. Friedrich, but keep them for they know their interests are well taken care of.

The street car strike in Omaha reached an acute stage during the past week and much rioting occurred at one time. The street railroad management declare that the strikers are wrong and the strikers say the same thing about the management. We have read very carefully the statements made by both sides in the controversy, and we think that both ought to make some concessions. A laboring man who has to leave home at five o'clock in the morning and not get back till seven, in the evening and then gets pay for only nine hours certainly has a grievance and the car company should listen to his complaint and give him some chance to earn his wages without being compelled to put in fourteen hours and draw only nine hours pay. On the other hand there may be some concessions that the strikers should make to the company, and both sides should remember that the rights of the public demand a speedy settlement of the controversy and get together in some manner.

This week on Tuesday will see the closing of the base ball season in the western League. It has been a season long to be remembered and will go down in base ball history as an important one. For the first time in a number of years the Western is an eight club league, the acquisition of Topeka and Wichita from the Western Association being the new clubs. The season started out with the new clubs in the lead, but as soon as the older clubs struck their gait the new cities dropped down considerable and will close the season in about the fourth and fifth places. Sioux City, the champions of last year, though starting badly, soon struck their gait and it soon became evident that they would lead the bunch when they passed under the wire at the close of the season. At one time Denver was a contender for the pennant, but lack of a good manager soon put them to the bad, and the race narrowed down to Sioux City, Des Moines and Omaha, which will probably close the season in that order. The sensation of the year however has been the Lincoln team. Starting in at the bottom they persistently held on to that position until August 17th, when starting out after an almost unbroken string of defeats, and under the management of Jimmie Sullivan, they began to climb and for the balance of the season won nearly seventy-five per cent of their games, at one time equaling the worlds record of six shut-outs in succession. Most of the teams have made good money, and many of them have disposed of several players to the big leagues, thus adding to their profits. The season in the big leagues has been also of the sensational order, in each case the fight for the pennant not being settled till the season was nearly over. Without much doubt Detroit will again win in the American and Pittsburg in the National. The fight in the American Association has been exceeding close, at one time less than one hundred points covering the entire eight clubs, while at the present time only a very few points divide Louisville, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

Geo. Lushinsky was born in Germany in 1870, and came to Cass county with his parents in 1870. He attended the public schools of Plattsmouth, and after completing the course took special instruction in the higher branches under Rev. H. B. Burgess. He was a diligent student and took high rank in his classes. He is a good and efficient scholar. He reads, writes and speaks German fluently. His first employer was Julius Pepperburg. About twenty-seven years ago he entered the employ of the B. & M. railway, in whose employ he has continued ever since, except nine years when he was employed by the Colorado Midland at Denver. He is a sober, industrious, and honorable man, and a member of the German church in this city. He belongs to the rank and file of the republican party, and he has the unanimous praise of hundreds of his fellow workmen. His election as County Clerk would be a fitting recognition of the honest laborer.

New Automobile.

Grover Will, who last week purchased a fine touring car of Parmele & Barker, was in town Saturday exhibiting his purchase to his friends. He already drives it like an old stager and is much pleased with its action.

Have you had coffee and biscuit this week at John Bauer's. If not, why not?
