

A Change in Business

George Ballance Sells Laundry to Denver People—Buyers Take Charge Monday.

A deal was consummated this morning whereby George Ballance disposed of his steam laundry in this city to Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Abbott formerly of Denver, but more recently of Omaha. Immediate possession is to be given, the new management assuming charge of everything Monday morning. Both Mr. and Mrs. Abbott are experienced laundry people and it is believed that they will give their patrons a service that will be up-to-date in every particular, Mr. Abbott informing the News that it is his purpose to install two new machines at the earliest possible moment with this end in view.

This is believed to be one of the most desirable laundry points in this section of the county and Mr. and Mrs. Abbott are to be congratulated upon this plant. Mr. Ballance did not profess to be a laundry man in any sense of the word, he simply taking the plant off the hands of his brother a few months ago in order to enable him to immediately seek a change of climate in the interest of his health. However, he has made a signal success of its operation and has constantly increased its business. Only a few days ago he took another lease on the premises for a five year term and had just completed the installation of a 25-horse power boiler to take the place of the old 10-horse. Mr. Ballance has not definitely decided his future, but it is probable that he will again enter his former business of real estate and insurance which he discontinued upon taking charge of the laundry.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott are stopping at the Perkins House at the present time, but will soon secure a residence and get their household goods here. The News welcomes them to our midst and trusts that their relations with the community may always be the most pleasant.

Cool Weather Comforts

Our Coal is the best cool weather comfort that you will be able to find in town. These chilly fall winds will soon turn into winter and you will need the comfort that our coal will give you. Better order early to avoid disappointments when an extra chilly day comes.

J. V. Egenberger

Coal Lasts 40 Hours Longer

When fire is burning at a cherry red heat it means economy of fuel. For coal then lasts 48 hours. When your fire is kept at a white hot combustion as it is in a base burner, there is a big waste, for coal lasts only six to eight hours at the outside.

But in Cole's Radiant Hard Coal Stove you can keep your fire at an economizing, slow, cherry red heat, yet get as much heat as you can from fire at a white hot combustion, as is necessary in a fuel-wasting base burner.

This is due to the tight construction, giving perfect control over the fire, and to the large sheet metal radiating surface, which is more sensitive to heat than cast iron in a base burner. You can always maintain a slow fire day and night. Figure the saving in one winter. It would pay you to throw out the heavy, clumsy fuel-wasting base burner and set up in its stead the amazing, fuel-saving Cole's Radiant Hard Coal Stove. And you can burn crushed coke, too, at $4 to $5 a ton. Then before the cold weather sets in and for spring heat the magazine can be easily removed and you have a front door feed for wood, coals and other light fuel. No base burner at twice the cost will permit that.

Two new appliances are a part of this wonderful stove without extra cost. The gas burning device utilizes the waste gases. The anti-puffing draft prevents the escape of these gases into the room. Make it a special point to see and examine this remarkable hard coal stove. It will solve your stove problems for all time.
