NEW JOB AT THE COURT HOUSE

Office of County Clairvoyant Required if Journal Construction of Law is Right..

It is generally believed that a man who has been elected to the state legislature is a pretty smart sort of a fellow, but it took just about two columns in the Journal last evening for the editor thereof to show how ignorant he was of the law. The late lamented legislature was probably composed of more pig headed members than any legislature that ever convened in Nebraska. We don't mean to assert that the editor of the Journal, who was a member of that legislature was "pig headed." Nay, nay, Pauline. Far from it. But it may be that having associated all winter with so many of that kind he might have become inoculated with the germ, so to speak. In any event his attempt to answer the argument of the Daily News of Saturday regarding the construction of the law in the matter of Sheriff Quinton over the fees of his office, was so awful punk and nonsensical, that it leads one to believe that either the Journal takes its readers to be fools or else the associations of last winter were very harmful to that editors think tank.

The Journal makes two quotations of the law. First he quotes it right, then attempts to quote it the second time and leaves out that much of the law which is the part that settles the point in controversy. The part he leaves out is as follows:

Make a report to the Board of county commissioners or supervisors under oath, showing the different items of fees except mileage collected or earned, from whom, at what time and for what service, since the last report.***

The slippery editor of the Journal leaves out the above and also leaves out the commmer immediately following the word "report," in order to make the law read in a way that will deceive the people who read the Journal into the belief that his contention is correct. But in his anxiety to deceive the people he makes himself appear ridiculous by quoting the law as follows:

"Shall under oath report to the board of county commissioners on the first Tuesday in January, April, July and October, the amount collected for the current year and shall THEN pay all fees over to the county treasurer."

How in the world the sheriff is going to pay over fees for the CURRENT year, in April or July or October, is something we are unable to understand. Is the sheriff supposed to be gifted with second sight and can look forward into the future nine months and can tell in April just what fees will be collected for the rest of the year? Can he tell when he makes his report in July for the past three months what the fees are going to be for the next six months? Can he tell the first of October what his fees will be for the rest of the year and would the Journal expect the sheriff after gazing into the far distant future and discovering the amount of fees he expected to collect, to pay to the county those fees before they were ever earned?

When the Journal quotes the law there are some things that it should be sure about. First, that it quotes it right. Second, that it punctuates right, third that it understands the meaning of the words used, and fourth that it really knows what it is talking about. By following those suggestions it will appear much more reliable and less a laughing stock.

If the Journal's construction of the law is the correct one, there will be an opening for a job for some good clairvoyant at the court house in the future, for it can hardly be expected that the sheriff should go to the expense of a seance every time he wants to make his quarterly reports for the CURRENT YEAR.

LATER:-The following action was taken by the county board at their meeting this afternoon:
C. D. Quinton filed with the county board a request that they check up his books immediately. Board refused to grant the request until the last of the year, at which time the board will check the books of all county officers as the law requires."

Racek-Koubek. Joe Racek and Miss Mary Koubek were married in the Holy Rosary church in this city Monday, Father Shine officiating. The happy couple will reside in this city, he being employed in the Burlington coach shop.

Miss Bertha Swift of Henry, Ill., who has been the guest of the family of her cousin, A. W. Atwood, departed for her home Tuesday. Miss Swift was returning from Colorado, where she enjoyed a visit with relatives and with the climbed Pikes Peak.

Pet Democratic Law Broken

Democratic State Committee Breaks the Law Passed in the Special Interests of
W. J. Bryan.

The Lincoln Evening News, a paper which the democratic press delights to quote as being all right published in its issue of Tuesday the following:
"On the same day that Governor Shallenberger published his state ment criticising republican members of the supreme court and the federal court of Nebraska for nullifying laws passed by the democratic legislature, the democratic state committee annulled and violated another act of the same body which no republican authority has attacked. By failing to file anywhere in Nebraska within the time legally specified a statement of contributions received for their campaign, the officers of the democratic state committee have not only become nullifiers, within the definition laid down by the governor, but have shown their contempt for or a forgetfulness of a cardinal tenet espoused by William J. Bryan in his presidential campaign one year ago.

While the accredited representatives of the Nebraska democracy were thus setting at naught a statute which nobody has undertaken to assail in the courts, the republican state committee was taking steps for full and exact compliance with that statute. Its observance of the law has been completed by filing with the clerk of Pawnee county, which is the voting residence of Treasurer H. C. Lindsay, a detailed statement of the receipts up to last Saturday and a supplementary showing for Monday, which was the last day allowed for getting the first report on record. The republican committee will obey the additional requirement of the campaign publicity act by filing daily statements of its receipts from now until election.

At the beginning of the campaign, the democratic state headquarters was removed to Columbus, where Chairman J. C. Byrnes and Vice Chairman Chris Gruenther have been in charge. If any report of campaign expenditures were made by the democratic committee, it would probably be there inasmuch as Byrnes and Gruenther are in full control of the party organization and work.

Editor Strother of the Columbus Journal, who is a republican, went to the county clerk's office in that city this morning, accompanied by a witness, and demanded of the officer to be shown any report of campaign funds collected which had been filed by or for the democratic state committee. He was informed that no report of any kind or character had been filed, and the clerk said he knew nothing about it. The clerk is a democrat and a political associate of Byrnes and Gruenther.

Dr. P. L. Hall of Lincoln is treasurer of the democratic committee, and it would have been possible under the law for him to file the statement of campaign receipts in this county. He has not done so.

The following telegram was sent this morning to William J. Bryan at Edmonton, Alberta, where he is billed for an address today during a tour of western Canada:
"Nebraska campaign publicity law, enacted by last legislature, has been observed by republican state committee and ignored by democratic. Time limit for first filing and two subsequent daily reports now past. Please wire comment.

LINCOLN EVENING NEWS."
In order to make sure of reaching Mr. Bryan, the same message was wired him at Calgary, Alberta, where he spoke on Monday.

At 2:30 this afternoon, no reply had been received from Mr. Bryan, but this may be due to difficulty in reaching him on his journey from Calgary to Edmonton.

The contention of Mr. Bryan and his political lieutenants all through the canvases of 1903 was that publicity should come before election, in order that the voters might be cognizant of what funds had been placed at the disposal of each party, and where they came from. The democratic state committee, composed of Mr. Bryan's followers, has apparently forgotten this cardinal feature of his presidential program in its efforts to make the non-partisan judiciary issue paramount.

Things Social At Mynard

Special Correspondence.
W. T. Richardson appears to be in the poultry shipping business of late.

W. R. Murray and help have been working early and late barreling apples.

R. L. Propst is beautifying his home by having cement walks built about his house.
There will be preaching at the M. E. church next Sunday evening, everyone is welcome.
Mrs. Allen Troope of Elmwood has been visiting with her sister Mrs. Lois for several days.
