GREEKS IN BATTLE

MUTINOUS NAVAL OFFICERS IN TORPEDO BOATS ATTACK SHIPS.

LITTLE DAMAGE IS DONE

Fighting in Which the Field Batteries Also Take Part, Lasts for Twenty Minutes—Will Suppress Outbreak by Force.

Athens, Nov. 1.—A naval battle was fought at Salamis, the ancient port, where, over two centuries ago, the Persians suffered an ignominious defeat by Themistocles.

The correspondent has just returned here from Scaramanga, whence he witnessed 20 minutes of fighting between field batteries and big warships on the one side, and the mutinous band of naval officers, which quitted the capital Wednesday with torpedo-boats, on the other.

Torpedo Boat Hit.
 Some of the projectiles struck the arsenal buildings, but the correspondent saw only one shell hit a torpedo-boat, the Sphendona, which immediately was enveloped in a cloud of smoke.

During the action the torpedo-boats gradually retired, steaming backwards until they obtained the shelter of the headland, when the firing ceased. The rebel vessels, while the engagement was in progress, returned the fire of the warships and field batteries, but apparently little damage was done on either side. The rebels were led by Lieut. Tibaldos, and reported to have numbered 200 men.

The position of the mutinous torpedo-boats resembles that of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkin, which mutinied in 1905, and fired on Odessa and then roamed the Black sea for several weeks, and the government is apprehensive as to where it next will hear of them. It is rumored that they have gone toward the island of Crete.

In the chamber of deputies Premier Mavromichalis said the government was determined to suppress the outbreak by force. The ministers he said, were occupied in reforms in all branches of the administration and would not neglect the navy. Therefore, the officers' impatience was unjustified. The premier added, however, that if the naval officers had been led astray they still had time to rehabilitate themselves.

HUNT FOR WOMAN IN BIG SWINDLE

Said to Be Chief Pilot in Directory Frauds—Over $500,000 Gleaned.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Search is being made for a woman supposed to be the head of a gang of directory swindlers, which is said to have gleaned half a million dollars by its operations.

Two members of the gang have been convicted.

Evidence was adduced in a second trial, begun while the jury was still out in the first case, that this remarkable woman was Mrs. Sarah A. Bowen, who, with her husband, Arthur A. Bowen, is a fugitive.

The state expects to show that it was Mrs. Bowen who stood on the bridge of the piratical commercial craft and piloted it through legal shoals, grand jury rocks and police narrows into the fat harbors of plenty, where business houses were looted all over the United States. That a delicate feminine hand was at the tiller is indicated by the manner in which the fraud was carried on. So cunningly planned and executed were the expeditions into the realms of wary and conservative business that men of tried and true conservatism were completely hoodwinked.

Ingeniously worded contracts were signed in such a manner that when the portion bearing the signature was torn off there was left a neat little primissory note for several hundred dollars. Mrs. Bowen also handled the money thus gained, according to information in possession of the state, and dealt it out in portions according to her own judgment for the further exploitation of the scheme. The men in the deal were her pawns and it was only when they quarreled among themselves that her plans went awry and the police scattered the band.

Emmanuel Goodhart and Melville E. Kline were the men who were found guilty in Judge McEwen's court of swindling the London Automobile Supply Company of $800, paid supposedly for a subscription to an advertising space in a business directory. While the jury was deliberating Kline and K. Hughes were placed on trial before Judge Scanlan. The accusers in this case are F. P. Barnes, a furniture dealer at 191 Michigan avenue, who estimates his loss at $200; the Western Methodist Book Concern, which lost $1,800; the Moneyweight Scale Company, $800, and E. C. Cook & Bro., $300.

As field marshal for his resourceful wife, the real head of the enterprise, Bowen had a misunderstanding with Reid Kent over the distribution of money. Kent wrote to some of the victims and as a result Klein was arrested March 22.

POLICE FIGHT WITH ROBBERS

Light in Office Betrays Thieves—Sur-render After Twenty Shots Are Fired After Them.

Chicago, No. 1.—More than 20 shots were fired by two detectives in the pursuit of two suspects following an attempted burglary of the Crescent Electric Company, West Jackson boulevard and Canal street. The chase continued four blocks, until the fugitives surrendered in the shadows of St. Patrick church, Desplaines and West Adams streets.

Detectives Burton and Fee of the Desplaines street station were summoned to the electric concern by citizens who had been attracted by a light in the office. The robbers, who had forced an entrance with a "jimmy," fled from the rear of the building when the detectives approached.

Brooklyn Has Water Famine.
 New York, Nov. 1.—Unless the city quickly pays a man who has been supplying one-tenth of the water consumed by Brooklyn, that borough will suffer a water famine. Asserting the city owes him $130,000, the contractor has closed his pumping station.

Needle Traverses Body.
 Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 1.—The removal of a needle from her left ankle, which ten months ago had entered her right foot, is the unique experience of Mrs. F. W. Force, well known club-woman and a probation officer of this city.

U. S. MEETS ITS FOOD DEMAND

Though Growth Exceeds Production America Holds Own in Supplying Wants.

Washington, Nov. 1.—In spite of the declaration that the production of food-stuffs is not keeping pace with the growth of population, the department of agriculture announces that the United States is more than holding its own in the task of feeding its people. The bureau of statistics declares that during the fiscal year the United States imports of farm products were valued at $540,000,000, which was $14,000,000 less than in 1906 and $87,000,000 less than in 1907. In the nine years since 1900 much less than one-half of the imports have been products of the farms.

Troops to Avert Lynching.
 Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 1.—Ten militiamen were ordered to Basin and others were held in readiness for immediate service as a result of the arrest of five men charged with complicity in the Tensleep raid, in which three sheepsman were killed. A lynching is threatened.

Pacific Fleet at Manila.
 Manila, Nov. 1.—The United States Pacific fleet, Rear Admiral Sebree commanding, arrived at Manila bay two days ahead of its schedule. The voyage from Honolulu was uneventful.
