Hurled to Death

Miss Ida Dovey, cousin of G. E. H. N. and O. H. Dovey of Plattsmouth.

Perhaps no fatality in recent years has cast such deep and universal sorrow over this community than the death of Miss Ida Dovey, at 12 o'clock on Monday night, as the result of a runaway accident.

On Sunday afternoon Miss Dovey, daughter of Isaac Dovey, and Miss Mabel Wilkinson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wilkinson, of this city, drove to Carthage, where they spent the afternoon and evening. They started home shortly after nine o'clock, and all went well until they reached a point near E. E. Smith's mill at the foot of Washington street, when their horse became frightened and in attempting to check the animal the bride bit was snapped in two. After this the girls had no control whatever of the horse and he continued his flight. The horse belonged to Mr. Dovey and it was hitched to a high seated open buggy. Just south of the mill the right front wheel of the vehicle came in contact with the banister on the north side of the stone bridge spanning the tailrace. The buggy was thrown on a rock, the right hand shaft was snapped and the cross-bar broken and the horse became free from the rig. The suddenness of the stopping of the vehicle threw both occupants out with great force. They were thrown over the bridge railing, landing on the west bank of the race upon a lot of stones lining the water's edge some twenty feet distant.

Just how long the girls were at the bottom of this ravine, possibly scrambling in and out of the water is unknown. About 10 o'clock Riley Hout and his lady friend passed that way. He noticed the loose horse, caught it and tied it to a nearby telegraph pole. Then, it is said he went to the buggy and heard moans issuing from beneath the bridge. The story runs that he saw at a glance that there had been a serious accident and he returned to the Pan Handle depot to obtain assistance. But Walter Rhodes says he and his two companions, Frank and Harry Rhodes, on their way home from Indianapolis, were the first ones to discover the prostrate forms of the two women. However, before going to them, they aroused Isaac Musselman, got his lantern and rushed to the water's edge. They found the two girls and then aroused some other persons and summoned physicians. Drs. Holloway and Robert Smith answered the urgent call.

The two girls were found in a sorry looking plight, but as quickly as possible the rescuing party secured the prostrate young women. When found Miss Dovey was lying almost entirely in the water and Miss Wilkinson sitting at the water's edge with her feet hanging over in the water. Both were in a helpless condition. The boys reached the Wilkinson girl first and raised her to her feet. They carried her up the embankment to the roadside. At the same time the others removed Miss Dovey from the water. She was unconscious and did not gain consciousness. Miss Dovey was removed first to the home of George Shipley and afterwards to the home of Clarence Willis near the scene of the accident. She received every attention that could be given. Miss Wilkinson, by the aid of two men, was able to walk to her home. She was hysterical, and, although she was badly bruised about the body and was bleeding from several ugly cuts, she seemed to be more solicitous about her friend's condition than her own, as she asked them time and again about Ida.

Miss Dovey was removed Monday morning to the home of Mrs. C. I. Lemmon, North Jefferson street, where she had made her home for many years. She lingered until 12 o'clock that night when she passed away.—Kingston (Ind.) Banner.

The young lady referred to in the above article is a cousin of Messrs G. E., H. N. and C. H. Dovey of Plattsmouth and the news to them is sad indeed.

Electricity at the Shops.

H. A. Garder, electrical engineer of the Burlington System, accompanied by his assistant, Mr. Collins, is in the city. The Burlington has been figuring on installing an electric light plant at the shops and Mr. Garder came here to inquire into the advisability of taking power from the city plant. After a thorough investigation he will make his report to the company and the result of his visit will be made known later.

First Electric Power.

The first electric power under the new order of things and the first machine driven by day power since the establishment of the electric plant in 1889, was set to going today when the new Monotype machine in the Daily News office was started up to test it.

Nebraska Again On the Map

The State Gets Back Into the Republican Column and Everybody Should Rejoice.

GOOD INDICATIONS FROM ALL OTHER POINTS

For an Off Year the Success of the Republican Ticket Over the Country is Generally Satisfactory.

William J. Gaynor, democratic candidate for mayor of New York, elected by 60,000, but rest of republican ticket elected by good majorities, which puts the financial matters in the hands of the republicans.

Tom Johnson, democratic candidate for the fifth time as mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, at last goes down to defeat by probably 5,000.

In Massachusetts the returns up to midnight indicate that Gov. Eben S. Draper, republican, has been re-elected over James H. Vahey, democrat, by a greatly reduced majority, estimated at 10,000. Governor Draper's majority last year was 60,000.

In Rhode Island Governor Pothier, republican, was re-elected over Olney Arnold, democrat, by a substantial majority.

In Virginia the early returns indicate that the democratic ticket headed by Judge Mann for governor has been elected by about the usual majority.

In Philadelphia Samuel P. Rotan, republican, was elected district attorney over D. Clarence Gibboney, representing the law and order society and the reform element. Rotan's majority exceeded that in a previous campaign, being estimated upwards of 30,000.

The returns from San Francisco, where reform issues are uppermost, indicate a triumph for the union labor ticket and a defeat for Heney for district attorney.

The Pennsylvania state election for treasurer, auditor general and judge of the supreme court resulted in the usual republican majority.

In Maryland the constitutional amendment disfranchising the negro is still in doubt, the Baltimore vote being strongly against the amendment, while returns from the interior indicate increasing strength for the amendment.

In Indianapolis, where the temperance issue has figured, Lewis Shank, republican, is elected over Charles A. Gaess, democrat.

Results In Cass County

Republicans and Democrats Divide up the Offices and Neither Side Really Happy.

The following are the majorities as far as telephonic communication can give them and are probably as correct as can be had at this time. They are figures given out by the county clerk: Schlatter, Treasurer, democrat, 607; Beeson, Judge, republican, 499; Quinton, Sheriff, republican, 460; Trunkenboltz, Surveyor, republican 250; Foster, Superintendent, democrat, 170; Clements, Surveyor, republican, 97; Morgan, Clerk, democrat, 89; Friedrich, Commissioner, republican 79; Snyder, Register, democrat, 48. The canvass of the returns by the official canvassers will probably take place Friday, but it is not supposed that the result as to those elected will be changed though the majorities may be somewhat different.

Still Coming.

Mr. Wilson and family arrived Tuesday from Auburn, where they have resided for seventeen years, to buy a little home in this city of fifteen or twenty acres.

Divorce papers have been filed by Frances Hospelthal against Caspar A. Hospelthal, her husband, charging desertion. Hospelthal, it is alleged deserted his wife and child the 17th of last March and is now residing in North Dakota.

The Scottish Rite Masons.

Forty candidates will receive the degrees from the fourth to the thirty-second, inclusive, at the convocation of the Scottish Rite Masons of the Spokane jurisdiction in that city the week of November 22. Sovereign Grand Commander James D. Richardson, 33d degree, and Sovereign Grand Inspector General Ernest Bertrand Hussey, 33d degree, will be in attendance, others assisting being W. S. McCrea and F. E. Michaels of Spokane, who received the 33d degree at Washington, D. C., recently, and Rev. Dr. William J. Hindley, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church and chaplain to the Spokane chamber of commerce, and Richard B. Harris, also of this city, who were elected Knights Commanders of the Court of Honor. The Spokane chapter, which has 375 members, is arranging a series of receptions and banquets in connection with the ceremonials, at which it is expected there will be 500 visitors from various parts of the United States and Canada. Dr. Hindley will deliver a series of lectures preceding the degree work during the week, the subject being "The Symbolism of the Ring." "The Breaking of Bread" and "The History and Philosophy of Scottish Rite Masonry."

Died Wednesday Night.

Mrs. Mary Green, aged 56 years, passed away Wednesday night at the home of her son, Heston Green, in Sidney, Ia. H. B. Green formerly resided in this city, and their son, I. B. Green, and family still reside here. The deceased is survived by her husband and three children, Mrs. C. D. Hyde, Mrs. Tom Jennings, Heston and I. B. Green.

Mrs. Victoria Powers and Mrs. Lizzie Roth, who has been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Margaret Applegate, and their cousin, Mrs. Ida Applegate, in Union, departed on the Burlington from this city this morning for their home in Villisca, Ia.

Mrs. Lutie K. Hatch of Jacksonville, Ills., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Atwood, received word that her home city in the local option election Tuesday went "dry" by a majority of 202.

SHOT IN THE FOOT.

A shooting scrape this morning created some excitement, overshadowing for a time the election aftermath. Last night Tom Sherwood went to the home of Jimmie Williams and demanded the right to talk to his wife who was stopping with her parents. Being refused he became enraged and smashed the glass door, at the same time, it is alleged, threatening to kill his wife. The screams of the women called Chief Amick to the scene, but before he arrived Sherwood had left. The chief notified the night watch to arrest Sherwood upon sight, but failed to do so. This morning the chief met Sherwood and informed him that he would probably be placed under arrest soon, whereupon Sherwood said he would like to have a talk with his wife, promising to be decent about it and not make a scene. Amick and Sherwood went to the Williams home and the latter tried to persuade his wife to return home with him, but this she refused to do, saying that she was afraid of him. They left the house and started down town, but after going a short distance Sherwood stopped, saying he had forgotten to tell his wife something and wanted to return. They went back and just at that time Mr. Williams appeared upon the scene. He rushed into the house from the rear and grabbing a shotgun as he ran, went out the front door. Sherwood saw him coming and attempted to make his escape, but was a trifle too late. Williams fired as Sherwood ran, hitting him in the foot, below the ankle, before the chief could reach and disarm him. Sherwood was taken to Dr. Livingston's office and Williams arrested and taken to jail.

The cause of the trouble is ancient history in Plattsmouth. Sherwood and his wife have not been able to live in peace and harmony and a long time ago separated. They became reconciled somewhat, at least sufficiently to resume their family relations, but only for a time. Trouble was resumed and another separation took place, the wife taking up her residence with her parents. Sherwood, it is claimed, has made numerous threats against his wife and it is unquestionably due to these threats that he was shot.

Acknowledge the Benefit

Plattsmouth Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Proves it.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Plattsmouth, given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

J. W. Hickson, Oak Street, Plattsmouth, Nebr., says: "I will never cease to praise Doan's Kidney Pills, as they were of such great benefit to me several years ago. My kidneys and back were a source of constant suffering and I was subject to attacks of lumbago that came on without the least warning. The simplest movement was painful and I was annoyed more or less by the irregular passages of the kidney secretions. I read so much about Doan's Kidney Pills, that I finally procured a box from Gering & Co.'s drug store. I was so gratified with the results of their use that I publicly endorsed them in 1906 and at this time, I heartily renew that statement. I hope that other kidney sufferers will profit by my experience."

Mrs. Pickett Dead.

The mother of the Burlington station agent, W. L. Pickett, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. R. Guthrie, in Lincoln Tuesday, aged 74 years. The burial will be at Ashland probably Thursday beside her husband. Mrs. Pickett was born in New York, but has resided in Nebraska for thirty years, and has been in feeble health for some time.

Douglas Wilson of Auburn has purchased the Pearlman place, consisting of fifteen acres near this city, and with his family will reside here.

THE SHORT BALLOT:

Who did you vote for yesterday? There are probably not one hundred men in Nebraska who can correctly name all of the candidates they favored in the election booth. Nearly all may be able to call the names of the three judges of the supreme court. Below that part of the ticket the memory is likely to retain only a vague impression. Voting is a serious business, and may be so regarded by a majority of the men who exercise the right of franchise, but the task imposed by our long ballot is beyond their inclination to master, even if it is not beyond their powers. There is something in the charge that below the head of the ticket the direct primary is likely to lead to accidental nominations. The fault is not inherent in the primary. It belongs to our system of making nearly all public positions elective. One of the good results following the adoption of the primary is the lesson it teaches of the futility of attempting to choose under our archaic system men with qualifications for offices that require special or technical ability.

The remedy is the "short ballot." In state affairs, the governor would be elected under this system, and the heads of the departments would be his appointees exactly as the president selects his cabinet. The county commissioners would have personal responsibility for departments, possibly, and would engage experts to do the work exactly as the directors of a bank select their bookkeepers and accountants and cashiers to look after the business. In the city the commission system concentrates public attention upon five men, whose names take the place of the ten or fifteen general city officers usually chosen under the old municipal system. The "short ballot" is the direct road to efficient, economical and responsible government.—State Journal.

James Craig, a son of J. M. Craig, who for many years owned a large farm near this city and later built a fine residence in this city and with his family occupied it, who has been visiting friends in this city and vicinity for several weeks, departed Tuesday morning for his home in Burwell, Neb.

John Campbell, of South Bend, was in town today and is very pronounced in his views upon certain subjects, and by the way he is not always right in them as he is willing to concede now.
