Plattsmouth Telephone No. 85. Nebraska Telephone No. 85

February 14, 1910.

The announcement of Col Hayward that he will enter the race for the republican nomination in the first district clears up the atmosphere to some extent as regards the senatorship, as it takes Mr. Hayward out of that possibility, but complicates the situation in the district for the nomination for congress. However with three such men as Pollard, Hayward and Tobey to select from, no matter to whom the honor falls the district will be well looked after.

The Honorable Windy V. Allen of Madison has about made up his mind that he would again like to go down to Washington as a United States senator and make another fourteen-hour speech. Senator Allen made them sit up and take notice, or rather possibly made them lay down and go to sleep when he sprung his long distance speech, and it may be that he can go back and repeat. Anyhow if he gets into the senatorial scrap there will be something doing from six o'clock in the morning till six o'clock the next week.

At the present time it looks as if the republican who would have the honor to contest with a democrat to be the next governor of Nebraska, and in contesting win the laurels, is Mr. Aldrich of David City. There is one thing about it and that is, if Mr. Aldrich is nominated for governor on the republican ticket, Mr. Shellenberger, Mr. Dahman, or who ever the unlucky individual may be who has to carry the democratic ticket on his shoulders, will find the road hard and rocky and that it will be necessary to have many supply stations along the route with which to refill his can. Mr. Aldrich is a campaigner who understands the want of the people. He is a man who has a record as a member of the Nebraska legislature which will help him in his campaign. He is a clean man and an honest man and a man who if elected governor will be a credit to the state. If Aldrich receives the nomination, it will be Aldrich all along the line.

For Senator, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, W. V. Allen, Wm. B. Price, Ashton M. Shellenberger, W. H. Thompson, William J. Bryan, Richard Metcalf, and a few lesser lights. The above comprises the democrats one of which may be selected to lead the form hope this fall. It is an array of talent which to a democrat ought to look good. But will they land, is the question which at the present time absorbs the minds of a great many. Of the above bunch it is possible that Governor Shellenberger may much rather take a try at his old job of governing Nebraska a part of the time and making speeches the rest. In this decision he may have to face the honorable gentleman from Omaha who makes no bones that he takes his straight and believes that it should be placed in a position where it could be secured at all times in the day or night and if the wayfaring man should want it though a fool, he need not err in his search. Then too there are others who feel that the job of being governor looks like a good one to aspire too, and among the number is George W. Berge of Lincoln, who has two or three times come so close, only to see the much wanted office slip away and out of his reach. Oh, it will be a great scramble this fall when the corn begins to open its ears and the wheat brushes its beard for the conflict.

Beatrice is contemplating putting in a system of street railway down there. Here is where her troubles will begin.

The state of Wisconsin has decided that there shall be no more common drinking cups in that state. Every man will be required to carry a jug of water and will not be allowed to let his neighbor even smell of the nozzle of the jug.

A man in Lyons, this state, is building him a residence out of lumber sawed from trees he planted himself on his homestead years ago. It is seldom that a man lives to be sheltered by the act of his own hand done years before.

The indebtedness of New York City is something like thirty millions more than the total debt of the United States. New York has increased her indebtedness about one hundred and ninety millions during the past year. How would you like to pay taxes in the big city.

Walter Wellman, a Washington correspondent, and by the way a Nebraska man, says that the people will stand by Pinchot as against President Taft. Wellman may think that he knows something about the matter but he will find that he has the dope wrong all along the line.

F. S. Howell is now a full fledged representative of Uncle Sam and will in the future know that he can have three square meals a day without bothering his head about it. He has received his commission as the new United States District Attorney for Nebraska and from now on will make a record no one need be ashamed of. We predict for Mr. Howell a brilliant career in the department of justice to which he has been appointed.

Mr. Fanger, the rustling merchant who will soon retire from active business in Plattsmouth by reason of the fact that his health will not permit him to continue the strenuous business life which he has led during the past ten years, in an interview with a News reporter yesterday said that he thought that the Plattsmouth papers must go to all parts of the United States from the fact that the gentleman who is expecting to come to Plattsmouth with a cloak and skirt factory had received offers from commercial clubs all over the country to come to their towns and put in his factory. This is only another exemplification of the power of the press and its ability to spread either good or bad news all over the world. For instance, the Daily News goes to California on the west to Boston on the east, to Florida on the south and Canada on the north. It reaches nearly every state in the Union and therefore the things which Plattsmouth is doing in a few days are heralded from one end of the United States to the other. We are of the opinion that very little should be said by the papers until a factory is landed for sure, but in the effort of one paper to beat the other to it and get a scope on a loathsome contemporary it is pretty hard work to keep these matters from becoming public property.

The calm that always comes after a storm seems to have struck Nebraska. The insurgent uprising at the capital city seems to have quieted down and most of the insurgents seem to be figuring some way to get back to the place where they were before they left the reservation and started out on the war path for the purpose of killing off the president and his supporters. Everything is quiet up on Salt creek and will probably remain so. Nebraska is a progressive republican state. It is not an insurgent state as the country will discover if it ever comes to a show down. This is not the first time that members of both the republican and democratic parties have stirred up an insurrection and in some instances it has worked to the defeat of the party in which the insurrection took place. These things come by reason of the fine bracing air which the average Nebraskan outside of South Omaha has to breathe, but is no evidence that the state will ever break away from the protection of the glorious star spangled banner and try to toot her own horn. We were of the opinion that when Frank Harrison spent several months down in Central America among the insurgents of that country that he would come back to Nebraska and organize a band of wild eyed braves who would want to get off of the reservation and do things to the president, and our expectations have been realized. Chief Harrison could not sleep nights if he was not creating a sensation and scrapping somebody. The hotter the scrap the better the chief likes it and a whole lot of times Mr. Harrison is the real stuff. Of course he is a little off this time, but you can't expect him to be right all the time.

The Lincoln Evening News has had another stroke. When afflicted with one of these cursed things it is impossible to distinguish between one thing and another, mostly another. It has several times during the past few months taken occasion to diagnose the editor of this paper with results so far from the facts that it is not strange it should start a "why" department in which the public could see their foolishness in print. The Lincoln paper has taken every opportunity to misconstrue the published opinions of the editor of this paper and has failed to correct impressions sent out when opportunity was offered. Its latest is that the editor of this paper wants State Treasurer Brian to run for the U. S. Senate. The editor of this paper has never intimated that he favored Mr. Brian for the senate, though if we had, such a stand would be a mighty good one. When Editor Taylor of the Central City Nonpartisan said in his valuable paper that the republican party needed a leader in Nebraska, we suggested Treasurer Brian as the right sort of a man for a leader, and we still stick to that suggestion. That is "what we said" and we still persist in saying it. He has made one of the best state officials that the state ever had, if not the best, and the Lincoln paper knows it. There are some people in the capital city of Nebraska who do not like Lawson G. Brian because they can not work him, and that is one reason why he has made himself so popular with the people. A man does not necessarily have to be a United States Senator to be a leader of his party. W. J. Bryan, a leader of the democratic party, yet he never was elected to anything since he became a leader. A man cannot be a leader of his party who is continually getting cold feet over his party and getting frightened over the future. The leader of a party must be a man who will take a stand with his party and after taking that stand maintain his position. No man ever found Lawson

G. Brian bushwhacking in the rear and hiding behind the trees in a political battle such as is on at the present time, but up in the front standing up for the principles of the party which no man need be ashamed to stand up for. You always know where to find him on any controversy and he is not afraid to let the people know where he stands. Such a man will make a success as a leader, and it is not necessary for him to be a United States Senator to be that leader. We have two good United States senators at present and they are going to continue in those positions notwithstanding that so called republicans and mushwashy newspapers are trying to have it otherwise.

ADJUTANT GENERAL HARTIGAN.

May Organize a Company of State Militia at This Place.

Adjutant General John C. Hartigan, of Lincoln was in the city today visiting old friends and was the guest of E. H. Westcott for a few hours. General Hartigan, has an extensive law practice at Fairbury, but since the inauguration of Gov. Shellenberger, has been Adjutant General of Nebraska, with headquarters in Lincoln. Mr. Hartigan is a son of M. A. Hartigan the well known attorney, who resided in this city for years and was one of the leading members of the bar. John C. graduated at the Plattsmouth High School in 1887, and afterward pursued his studies at Lincoln. General Hartigan is a pleasant gentleman to meet. The object of his visit here was to organize a company of the state militia at this point. The matter is well worth the effort, and should have the hearty support of the citizens, especially the young men of the city. General Hartigan was seen at the Burlington station shortly before leaving for Lincoln and stated that the outlook here was very good for a good company. That the more thickly populated districts were better for the success of a militia company than the thinly populated sections of the sandhills. He has disbanded several companies with in the past few months, owing to lack of interest in the drills. The general will return in a few days and explain the matter more fully if there has been any misunderstanding in the statements made heretofore.

AN EXPERIMENT IN KEEPING APPLES

Good Prices Received in Keeping the Fruit till now.

R. R. Nichols, of near Murray was in the city with a load of apples which he shipped to Wausa, Nebr. Mr. Nichols has fine success in keeping his apples this winter. Having quite a crop of the juicy fruit last fall, he made up his mind to try an experiment. Having brick and other material on hand, he went to work and built an apple house 20 x 30 ft. and about 10 feet high. He put a concrete floor in it and also floored it above, putting about a foot of sawdust on the upper floor and then roofed it in. The walls were fourteen inches with a two inch hollow between. Mr. Nichols put his apples in this house and they have kept very nicely, far better than he expected, and he now has some of the finest apples on hand which he will be able to market at more than three times the price offered him in the orchard last fall. Mr. Nichols brings some of the fruit to Plattsmouth occasionally and it brings the top price.

Private DeWolf Here.

Private J. DeWolf, of the Sixteenth U. S. Infantry stationed at Ft. Crook, was in the city over night departing for Glenwood this morning to see his brother Emery. Private DeWolf enlisted in 1898 and was a member of Company B. the Eleventh United States Infantry, and was stationed in Cuba for a long time, returning from the island last March he was changed to the Sixteenth regiment. Mr. DeWolf formerly resided at Weeping Water and enlisted from that place.

Saw His Property.

P. H. Bennett of Randolph, Iowa, who recently purchased the building in which the Daily News is situated, was in Plattsmouth yesterday looking over his newly acquired property. He left it in charge of George L. Farley who will look after it and also the renting of the portion lately vacated by Dr. Baines.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT JR.

TO BE MARRIED

Elenor Butler Alexander will be the Bride of Son of Ex-President.

Mrs. H. Addison Alexander of New York has announced the engagement of her daughter, Elenor Butler Alexander, to Theodore Roosevelt, jr., eldest son of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Young Roosevelt velt, since his graduation from Harvard has been learning carpet manufacturing in a factory at Thompsonville, Conn. Miss Alexander is 21 years old. Her father, Henry Addison Alexander, was formerly a prominent New York lawyer, but now resides in Paris, where for several years he has been counsel for the American embassy.

Old Friend Absent.

G. M. McKee of Clarinda, Iowa stopped off yesterday in the city to visit his friend John Bauer Jr., but found him absent from town attending the retail hardware men's convention at Lincoln. Mr. McKee departed for his home this morning on No 6 but expected to spend some time at Glenwood enroute.

W. C. T. U.

The Nation is Going Dry. Nebraska's Going Dry. Cass County's Going Dry. PLATTSMOUTH'S GOING DRY. Six million more abstainers today than there were fifty years ago. The liquor traffic is in its last struggle for existence, as practically all nations are enacting temperance laws and having temperance teaching in the schools.

The old sots will soon be called to that bourne prepared for them by the saloons and license signers, and the young are being taught to avoid this destroyer of home and life. License in every form has been tried and found a failure. No government has a right to license an evil. The belief that wine and beer are temperance, drinks has been disproved.

The city of Griffin, Ga. has placed a tax of $5,000 on "near beer" so many of the "soft drink parlors" have gone out of business.

Dr. Wilbur Chapman in a recent speech was defending Maine against the lies told by the brewers emissaries and said, "I have dared to stand up before Australian and American audiences and say that of course liquor is sold in Maine, and it will be so long as men choose to be demons, but if I were to choose a city in which to bring up boys, I would choose one where there are no saloons and where you would have to sneak in to get a drink. Ten thousand shames on the men of Maine if they ever vote to allow the saloon to be licensed in their state."

William E. Johnson of the United States Indian Service, is a man totally without fear and a "terror to evil doers." He has just secured the one thousandth conviction of liquor selling to the Indians since The "Salt Lake Office was opened 19 months ago. Guess the law violators will soon begin to realize that "prohibition does prohibit" when the right man is behind the law.

Gov. Shafroth of Colorado comes to the defense of "woman suffrage" in that state. Rev Dr. Underhill in a talk before the City Club of New York last week said, "that he indorsed an article by a woman to the effect that suffrage had demoralized the women of Colorado, and that 10,000 women of the under world controlled the elections in the City of Denver." The Governor denounced these statements as being "untune, unwarranted and unjustifiable." We cannot permit it to go unchallenged. The wives, daughters and sisters of Colorado men are the equal of any women on earth in refinement, education and feminine graces, and none of these qualities have been damaged in the slightest degree by their 16 years of participation in public affairs and the government has been immeasurably improved by such participation. They have been on the right side of every moral question. "Eighty per cent of all the women entitled to vote in Colorado cast their ballots at the last election, and of the 65,000 women who voted in Denver last fall not more than 600 were in any wise connected with the under world. It is a great outrage that the women of our state should be so maligned, but we must content ourselves with stigmatizing such statements as false and malicious."

Suffrage is coming to Nebraska. Let all the men be prepared to stand for their women in the same style as the marly Governor of Colorado. Our constitution reads, "WE, THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES." Women are "people" as well as men. The mother would vote to save her boy
