

Bon Fire Fine Winter Hats

In Front of Fanger's Saturday Night, March 19, Between 8 and 9 o'clock

In order to get rid of every winter hat in our store so as to make room for our new Spring Millinery, I have decided to take this drastic means to dispose of the above mentioned stock. Previous to this Conflagration Sale I will inaugurate a Graduation Sale and it will be conducted in the following manner: Commencing at one o'clock noon Saturday I will place on sale every winter trimmed hat in my store at 98 cents. Every hour the price will drop 10 cents. Here is how it will be done.

|        |        |        |        |        |        |        |
|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|
| 1 to 2 | 2 to 3 | 3 to 4 | 4 to 5 | 5 to 6 | 6 to 7 | 7 to 8 |
| 98°    | 88°    | 78°    | 68°    | 58°    | 48°    | 38°    |

This sale is commenced at one o'clock in order to give the ladies from the country a chance to participate in the greatest Closing Out Sale of Millinery ever conducted by a store in the State of Nebraska. I want to impress upon the minds of the ladies the well known fact that the feathers, flowers or other trimmings on these hats are worth three and four times as much as is charged for the entire hat the hour when the sale opens. I positively will not carry over one of these hats and do as is done by some dealers push them off on the public a year from now as new creations in millinery. They will be burned in plain view of the public that all who SEE may know.

Remember the Big Bon Fire Sale of Millinery Saturday Night, March the 19th Between 8 and 9 O'clock

John Meisinger, Jr., a well known farmer from the neighborhood of Cullom, was in the city today, and in a conversation with a News man, said he wasn't worrying about his corn not growing. It has been rumored around that as much as sixty per cent of the last year's corn could not be used for seed, but in the tests made by Mr. Meisinger, about ninety-five per cent of his corn was fertile. Meisinger planted the seed, according to the directions issued by the commercial club, of eighteen ears that he had raised on his own farm, and of the eighteen kernels tested, all but one of them grew.

The Eastern Star will hold a St. Patrick's party at their rooms in the Masonic temple tonight.

DIAMOND DUST

Kansas is happy. Walter Johnson the pitching prodigy, who was born in Humbolt in the Sunflower state is returning to the home of his boyhood and Kansas rejoices.

The Omaha management is trying, so it is stated, to get Red Fisher returned from the St. Louis club. Red has been putting up some good ball since joining the St. Louis club and it is doubtful whether they will let him go. We can hardly see what the Omaha management would want of Fisher. Last year as soon as it became known the red headed fielder had been sold to the big league club, he slumped in his work and so openly that the public was not slow in its condemnation. Should he come back to Omaha what assurance has the Omaha team that he would not be in the dumps all season on account of his being set back.

George Graham, the popular Omaha player who has been out of the game two seasons on account of a bad knee has had an eastern specialist examine the sprained member and has come back with the assurance that with careful work, he may be able to get into the game again this year. This will be good news to the players and fans of the Western, for Graham is a clean player and well liked.

The Lincoln park will have many improvements this year which will be greatly appreciated by the fans. One will be a ladies rest room near the entrance to the grand stand. Other improvements being made will make the grounds of the Antelopes the best in the league.

John I. Rodgers, who formerly owned the Philadelphia base ball club died Monday from a stroke of apoplexy caused from riding a horse too strenuously. He was at Denver at the time of his death and the body will be shipped to his home.

Sioux City ought to be in the game with such a line-up as this:

Pitchers—Freeman, Burnett, Alderman, Chabek, Burkhardt, Linn, Kass and Rossback.

Catchers—Towne, Miller, Morriarity.

First base—Stem.

Second base—Andreas.

Third base—Weleb, Beers.

Shortstop—Truesdale.

Outfielders—Neighbors, Fenlon, Isbell, Stovall, Campbell, Prendergast, Noblett.

President Fairweather says there will be some changes which will look even better than the above.

Is Marriage a Failure?

Have you joined the Once-a-week Club meeting every Friday night at the Parmele theatre. If not you had better get busy, and be initiated into the realms of high class dramatic entertainments that are being held once a week in this city. When the Grew Company first proposed their one night a week visit to this city in high class productions, many doubted the success of the plan, claiming that the public would tire of seeing the same faces every week. From the attendance at the return engagement of this company last week, claim was disproved beyond a doubt.

On next Friday March 18 at the Parmele theatre, the William Grew players return for their weekly visit, in the latest New York and Paris success, "Is Marriage a Failure," a three act comedy by A. Plaudet, and adapted from the French by A. Daly. Every member of the popular company has been cast to advantage.

Back from Texas.

E. H. Bender, an old friend of the editor of the Daily News is in the city in the interest of a Texas land proposition. He will give a lecture Friday night in which he will illustrate with lantern views of the lands. It will be an interesting meeting and people ought to attend whether they are interested in Texas lands or not, for from it one will gain some information about the Lone Star state which the probably would not discover othey wise.
