Drawing Card In History.

ROYALTY TO SEE BIG MILL.

Noblemen From France, England and Germany Coming—No Other Single Combat Ever Attracted So Much Attention.

In the history of the world there have been several fights that stand out as truly great. Everybody knows or ought to know all about the battle between David and Goliath. Mythology celebrates the desperate struggle between Hector and the invulnerable Achilles, and we all know that Spartacus was a great scrapper, and nearly every male child has heard of the Sullivan-Kilrain fight. But none of these can compare in point of interest before the actual combat with the Jeffries-Johnson battle, which is scheduled to be held at the Emeryville race track, Emeryville, Cal., July 4.

It is estimated that the crowd that will cheer the victor on that day will be ten times as great as that which turned down its thumbs at the bout in which Spartacus won the gladiatorial championship and as many times as big as the gang that saw Hector do his sprint around the walls of Troy before Achilles finally put him out.

At first the promoters planned to erect a structure that would hold 20,000 people, then 30,000, and now Rickard and Gleason have shaped up arrangements to seat 50,000 wild eyed fight fans. Reservations for seats have been received from all over the world. People who have never before taken any interest in boxing are going to see the fight of the century. Hugh McIntosh of Australia is to leave the antipodes for San Francisco with a party of 200 or more. From England half a dozen lords are coming to take in the big mill. The party is expected to arrive in this country early in May.

Noblemen from France and Germany are also bound to see the big mill. Jack Gleason says he has a request from China asking him to reserve 150 seats. Nearly every big city in the United States is to have one or two special trains headed for San Francisco. It looks as if Rickard and Gleason will have to increase the seating capacity of the arena once more.

Of late there has been a lot of frenzied writing about the probable receipts, and some of the unthinking have estimated that $500,000 or even $1,000,000 will be raked over the box office desk. It is to be said that $250,000 will very nicely and generously cover receipts.

They are saying that a full million will be bet on the result of the greatest of all fist fights. A million is a lot of money, but there are many wise boys and hunches who are quietly stowing away the dollars against the time when the betting begins to be lively, and it is possible that the aggregate of the wagers at the last will look like a picture of the national debt.

Is it not barely possible that retirement of all this coin to stakeholders' hands might bring on stringency, tight money and large uncertainty? This is not the financial editor's department, but it is humbly suggested that if the Jeff-Johnson mill takes the money out of circulation, as some of the sport writers say it will do, the treasury experts had better arrange to have all the big prizelike transactions carried out by check.

At least it is wise to leave enough money in circulation to handle prosperously. We want no more clearing house certificates.

The promoters have made arrangements with nearly all of the leading railroad lines to the coast and with their co-operation will put into effect a system of supplying tickets for the big fight that cannot fail to satisfy everybody.

In brief, the plan is to make reservation for a certain number of seats for each railroad. A person intending to make the trip to Frisco to see the fight has only to apply to a railroad agent, deposit the price of the ticket he desires, and the railroad company will issue to him an order on Mr. Gleason or Mr. Rickard for a seat in the reservation secured for them.

This order will be countersigned by an agent of the railroad when the railroad ticket is issued. Under this plan speculators would have to buy a railroad ticket with each ticket for the fight. The tremendous expense, of course, bars them from doing this.

Every safeguard will be taken against counterfeit tickets, and Gleason and Rickard will be indemnified by a substantial bond by the ticket manufacturers. The whole scheme has been thoroughly worked out and pronounced flawless.

Gleason has mapped out a color scheme in conjunction with the tickets that promises to prevent the confusion usually attendant upon big events of this kind. There will be eight prices of admission. Each different priced ticket will be of a certain color. The entrances to the arena will be painted in colors to correspond with the tickets. A man holding a blue ticket will know that he can't go astray if he enters the arena through an entrance painted blue. The same will, of course, apply to the other colors.

BIG ENTRY FOR PENN MEET.

All Told 210 Colleges and Schools Will Compete In Relay Races.

The University of Pennsylvania relay races on Franklin field, Philadelphia, April 30, will be one of the biggest athletic meets of the year. The entries up to date include nine parochial schools, forty-one grammar schools, forty-seven high schools, fifty-eight preparatory schools and fifty-five colleges. This makes a total of 210 colleges and schools with teams in the races.

As there are ten colleges and schools that will have more than one team, there now are 220 teams entered. Pennsylvania will have teams in the one, two and four mile championships and in the freshman championship; Dartmouth has a team in the one mile and another in the four mile, and so on.

Nearly every big college in the east and west will be represented.

How Fortune Changes.

How strangely baseball fortunes do mutate! Some years ago Pat Tebeau gave his brother George a temporary job in the Cleveland outfield just to help him out with a little money. Now George is one of the biggest magnates, with probably twenty times as much money as Pat has tucked away.

Both Wood.

Somebody had thrown a stone at the village constable as he patrolled his beat at night, hitting him on the helmet.

The perpetrator of the outrage was not recognized, but on searching for the missile the constable found a peculiarly shaped stone, which, he averred, he had seen ornamenting the window sill of a man whom he charged with the assault.

"I experimented with the stone, your worship," said the constable. "I threw it at an old 'elmet' of mine, and it made exactly the same mark as that made by the stone which struck me."

"But what good was that when your 'ead wasn't inside the 'elmet?" asked the suspect.

"I thought of that," triumphantly retorted the officer, "so I put a block of wood inside the 'elmet, and it was just the same as if my 'ead was in it!"—London Fun.

California Visit Was Pleasant.

In a pleasant letter received yesterday from Mrs. Isaac Pollard she spoke of the enjoyable time she and her two daughters, Mrs. Barnum and Mrs. Wallace had had during their winter's stay in sunny California. They met many of their old friends from Cass county at Long Beach, where they spent most of their time, and their stay was made one continual round of pleasure by the hospitality of the former Cass county residents. They returned to their homes at Nehawka about the first of April and were glad to get a glimpse of old Nebraska after seeing the blooming flowers and vegetation on the sunny coast for so long.

Lads Get Spring Fever.

Truant Officer Amick rounded up seven little kids that 'us playin' hooky' this morning and marched them up to the office of the superintendent of schools. They were sent to their respective rooms and after this if they are not in attendance as they should be, and as the law requires, there are liable to be some cases up in the justice court in the near future. During the winter months they have been rather lax in the enforcing of their ordinance relative to compulsory attendance at the public schools, but now that the warm days are approaching, there are too many of the lads that are getting in the habit of skipping, and the school officials have decided put a stop to it.
