MYNARD

Maybe you don't think it is cold in Mynard. If you don't believe it look at the shrubbery and the trees they are destitute of the green foliage they once possessed they are now wearing mourning for warmth and sunshine.

The Wiles brothers are resowing their oats. YThe seed of the first sowing failed to grow.

Our town merchant proves to be quite a horseman. In the line of swapping.

On account of the severe storm Sunday not many of the Mynard churchgoers attended Sunday services.

Little Roberta Propst is mourning the loss of her pet dog "Snowball" The cars having run over and killed it.

Mont Robb visited in Wyoming over Sunday with his family.

Tom and Grover Will are shipping two cars of fat cattle to the Omaha market.

Joseph Adams is having rock hauled from the L. C. W. quarry preparing to have his grain elevator remodeled and a few foundation put under the west wing.

Last week R. L. Propst and his son Willie threshed for Lawrence Stull. The grain was in fine shape for having stood all winter in the stack. Uncle Billy Smith of Plattsmouth looked after the separator and all went well until the last setting was mostly finished, when all at once a great disturbance took place in the cylinder end of the machine. After the excitement was over and the machine shut down, an examination found all concaves broken, cylinder bars bent, shaft twisted and other parts considerably damaged. Any experienced threshermen can tell why this all happened.

Miss Eva Porter attended the teachers institute at Louisville Saturday, returning by way of Ashland and Omaha Sunday.

man. W. B. Porter He is on your track. The old maids need not be afraid to give their age. W. B. is not in the market and he won't tell on you.

Our town is quite a shipping point for diamonds. On account of their value shippers of such articles know that they will be well worth cared for by the express company at this place.

Broke an Axle.

Edward Ossenkop and H. Wegener of Louisville drove in from their town yesterday in an automobile and shortly after leaving here for their return trip, they ran into a streak of hard luck. They had proceeded but a little ways up the avenue when they snapped an axle at a bad place in the road. It was necessary for them to desert the machine and take to a local hotel for the night and an automobile man was sent out this morning to two the machine in and replace the broken part. What happened to that road smoothing outfit that was ordered to put the avenue in a safe condition some time ago.

The Grew Players offer this week at the Parmele theater (Wednesday evening) one of the most daintily appealing plays in their extensive repertoire—"The Sewtest Girl in Dixie."

The scenes laid in one of the southernmost states, are most beautifully set, and the characters depict with fidelity some of the world famed and admired traits of southern people.

Mr. William Grew as the northern lover whose path is not of the smoothest, as may be surmised, plays with an earnestness and feeling for the part that impresses deeply; while Miss Marie Pettes is in her element as "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," making her audience almost forget that it is only a play—so real is she and so winsome.

Wine Graves suffered a sudden attack of heart failure at a Main street pool hall last evening and a physician was hurriedly summoned. It was some time before the affected man was sufficiently recovered to be taken home. He is feeling much better today and his condition is not at all alarming.

County Attorney Ramsey returned last night from a business trip to Lincoln and Murdock on which he has been the last three days.

A. F. Hedengren, bridge superintendent of the Burlington was in town last evening and stated that Akel Kron, the man that was injured by the peculiar bridge accident last week was still in a very serious condition. He was removed to an Omaha hospital a few days ago and there it was found that one of his lungs was badly crushed. The injury of the man may prove fatal.
