Weather for Nebraska and Iowa.

Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, not much change in temperature.

Cecil Thomas and wife were among the travelers to Omaha today, combining business and pleasure for a days trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hainey, formerly of Pacific Junction left for that city this morning to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. C. L. Eperson. The deceased was a very dear friend of the Hainey's and was one of the earliest settlers in the western part of Iowa, having lived in the vicinity of Pacific Junction before the railroad lines were established through that part of the state. She had lived on different farms in that part of the state for forty-six years.

The case of W. S. Jones against the county of Cass was started in the district court. Jones is the sheriff of Nemaha county who captured Brann, the horse thief a short time ago. Two teams were stolen and a reward of $50 was offered for the capture of the fellows who stole each. It developed that Brann had taken both teams and after a reward of $50 had been paid by the sheriff for capture of the man, a claim of another reward, due on the second team, was presented, which is now being fought in court.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Young from near Nehawka were in the city for a short time today on their way to Omaha where Mr. Young is to have the cast removed from a broken limb with which he has been suffering for some time. Three bones near the ankle of the left foot were badly shattered by a mule some time ago and two of the bones were set without the knowledge of the third being broken. It has been a long ordeal that Mr. Young has passed through but he is expecting to be able to use his limb in a short time now.

Debaters to Wahoo.

The Plattsmouth debating aggregation left this afternoon at 3 for Wahoo for the much talked of district championship debate with the High school of that city. Besides the members of the team, John Falter, Lucile Gass, and Marie Douglass, there was a good crowd of high school pupils and teachers that boarded the train for the Saunders county town. Among the travelers were Superintendent Gamble, Principal Harrison, Livingston Richey and Miss Elizabeth Falter. The party will return to the city on one of the early morning trains.

Have you heard it? It's a week from Thursday, "Cupid at Vassar," at the Parmele theater, given by the high school students. Tickets may be reserved after Wednesday night by phoning High school building.

Bohemian Turner Leaves.

Frank Slovinsky, Turning Director of Nebraska for the Bohemian turners societies, left this morning for Crete where he will look over the athletes at that city. He has been in Plattsmouth since Saturday, being a guest at the residence of Louis Jiran. While here, he directed the gymnasium classes of the local organizations and got them in line for the state meeting of turners which will be held in August. He is of the opinion that Plattsmouth has a likely bunch of young men who will stand a good show at the fall meeting and he will return later in the season to see the progress they have made on the bars and horses. He will remain three or four days in Crete from where he will proceed to various towns in the western part of the state.

Find Some Not Counted.

With the idea that Plattsmouth should get all there is coming to her or in other words that no resident of the city should be skipped in the taking of the United States census, the Commercial Club officers have been keeping their eyes and ears open with the result that they have found quite a number of people in the city who have escaped the questions of the enumerators. When an investigation was made, it was found that Plattsmouth was in the same boat with many other towns of the state who have requested longer time in completing the population schedules. In one ward of the city 175 people were found who had not been counted and it is thought there are many more who should be added to Plattsmouth's population. It is not necessarily the fault of the enumerators that the people are missed for many times, people who are away from home will not be thought of by the person who gives the information for the house, or a resident may move from one location to another, thereby missing the enumerator at both places. It is probable that a recheck will be made by the Commercial club so that Plattsmouth's population may include every resident of the city.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Following the suggestion of Senator Burkett the Department of Agriculture will conduct a test experiment as to the efficiency of their preventive serum for hog cholera. The Department has selected July as the time, and favors the South Omaha stock yards as the place to make the test. Thirty shoats of about sixty pounds weight will be included in the test, and the officials are confident of successful results. They are much gratified at Senator Burkett's interest and co-operation and feel that Nebraska farmers will derive tremendous benefit by taking advantage of their discovery.

Tuberculosis, orthopedies, anaesthetics, hypodermics, poliomyelitis and spinal meningitis are only a few of the words that filled the air in Washington last week. The physicians of the country were in convention and handled these epithets very carelessly, yet apparently with nothing but peaceful and beneficial results. Several national associations of the doctors of the nation assembled here to discuss the great movements for the eradication of contagious and other diseases that war is now being waged upon. A number of prominent Nebraska physicians were in attendance. Dr. H. Winnet Orr of Lincoln gave a report upon the recent epidemic of poliomyelitis in Nebraska, and Dr. J. H. Lord of Omaha, reported the work of the State Orthopedic Hospital. The latter was admitted to membership in the National Orthopedic Society.

Senator Burkett is preparing an argument which he will present in the Senate in favor of forcing the railroads to charge less for a short than for a long haul. The Senator believes in giving the greatest good to the greatest number, which is not accomplished, in his opinion, by the long and short haul rates now in operation. There is no doubt that the country west of the Missouri river and Nebraska towns in particular feel keenly the effects of the present long and short haul rates, and it is to correct this discrimination that Senator Burkett will offer his argument.

Among the Nebraskans who were visitors at the National Capitol during the past week were Mr. C. C. Smith of Exeter, who had an exhibit of office supplies on view in the Treasury building; Mr. A. H. Smith also of Exeter who was assisting with the exhibit; Hon. Victor Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, who stopped here on his way west from attending a meeting of the American Press Association; Dr. J. H. Tyndale, of Lincoln, a delegate to the National Tuberculosis Convention; Edgar Allyn Russell, of Lincoln, but now a cadet at Annapolis. He came here for an examination of his eyes for alleged color blindness reported by the Annapolis physician which threatened to interfere with his graduation. He passed a successful examination here, however, and was assured that he would be caused no further inconvenience on that score. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Loman, of Lincoln who have been visiting for a year in Mr. Roman's native land of Sweden, spent a day or two here on their way home. They expected to stop in Chicago and also in Galesburg before finally reaching Lincoln.

Soldiers Coming Friday.

The Plattsmouth aggregation of ball artists are going to try their luck at the national game again this Friday, and if proper arrangements can be made with Old Sol and Brother Pluvius, the best game of the season will take place on the diamond out on Chicago avenue. The management of the association have signed the Fort Crook bunch, the 16th infantry, for a game on the home grounds and they are going after a Lincoln battery to do their work for them. The soldiers are a fast set and made a great showing against the Indians last Sunday which was witnessed by a large delegation of local fans. With a battery from the Western league Plattsmouth will be able to get a strong lineup, one that ought to put up a tight game for the boys in blue. There is also a game planned for the very near future with the C. B. & Q. men from Omaha. It is not because Plattsmouth has not the local material for a battery that she sends away for one, but from the fact that business is such at their places of employment—the shops, that it is impossible for them to leave their work.

Stamped by James.

"Master James says he doesn't want to go for his walk this morning, ma'am," said James' nurse.
"No, I don't. I want to stay home and ask you some questions," broke in James, aged five.
"What are the questions, dear?" inquired James' mother. "Can't you ask them and then go out?"
"But I want you to answer me before I go," James continued, with a look of anxiety upon his face. "Please tell me, mother, which is the front of a pill."
"That will take some reflection," replied the puzzled parent. "Are there any more like that?"
"I want to know," said James, "if the snake that spoke to Eve talked English?"
"You go for your walk, James," suggested his mother, "and let me have time to think."—New York Press.
