Balzac and Black Coffee.

Balzac was addicted to the use of strong black coffee and depended upon it as a nervous stimulant during the hours which he devoted to composition. Its effect he has himself described in these words: "The coffee falls into your stomach. Immediately everything starts into action. Your ideas begin to move like Grand Army battalions on the battlefield, and the battle opens. Memories arrive at a run, standards flying; the light cavalry of comparisons breaks into a magnificent gallop; the artillery of logic dashes up and unlimbers; thoughts come rushing up as sharpshooters; characters spring up on all sides; the paper becomes covered with ink, for the struggle has begun and ends in torrents of black water like the battle in black powder."

Burns as a Tax Collector.

In the olden days candles were taxed articles, and it was the duty of Robert Burns as an excise officer to see that the tax was not evaded. He generally looked the other way, however, as when passing through the kitchen one night at William Lorimer's of Kennishall, where the gudewife was busy making candles, he merely remarked, "Faith, madam, ye're thrang the nicht," and passed into the parlor.—St. James' Gazette.

Notice to Pay Up.

To the Ladies and Gentle men: I have purchased a business in Omaha and expect soon to move to that city to make my future home, and as there is considerable money outstanding on my books I would like to get all these matters straightened up before I go away, I shall leave about July 4, and at that time will place all my business in the hands of an attorney, who will take charge of the remaining stock here and also attend to my collections in this vicinity. If those who know they are indebted to me will kindly call and settle on or before that date it will be greatly appreciated. M. Fanger

Millinery. Children, bring in your old hats Wednesday the 8th and I will furnish trimming free of charge. Mrs. Julia C. Dwyer. 201-3t

Teddy has been treated like a prince during his trip abroad, has been wined and dined by all the high nabobs of the monarchies, has been the guest of German army officials during special maneuvers for his entertainment, and now to top off the vacation of the former president, which has otherwise ended so pleasantly. Rudard Kipling has announced that he will write a poem about the distinguished Teddy.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wiles went up to Omaha today where Mr. Wiles will attend the Masonic banquet while his wife will visit at the home of her son, Frank Wiles.
