Is cheapest in the end. Poor whiskey is not only disagreeable to the taste, but undoubtedly injurious to the stomach. A little good whiskey is a fine tonic, and helps instead of harming. Such a whiskey as our Kentucky Yellowstone for instance, will do you just as much good as a doctor's prescription. If you don't know good it is call in and try it at

WALKING WOLF WRITES.

A Bird's Eye View of the Local Political Horizon.

Wabash, Neb., July 15, 1901.—Editor Journal: I am very glad to comply with your request to write an article for the Journal. If it does not prove interesting reading matter I trust it may at least serve as "copy for the editor."

It has been exceedingly quiet in this vicinity all the spring, but as the fall campaign approaches the ruffled sea of politics is beginning to rage, and candidates of both parties have begun their canvass. Enthusiasm seems to be returning with old-time vigor. The democrats in the west end expect a livel, convention and a friendly fight. They will go into the convention with their battle lines well drawn. They will ask for two things—fusion and a strong ticket. It will be impossible to win without them.

It is already certain that the republican county convention will be a lively one, and judging from the list of candidates for the various places and the sore spots still unhealed, we may be equally sure that it will not be in every respect harmonious. In the classic language of Dave McCaig, republicans will "fight like turtles on the beach."

Sandy Morrison, the sporty editor of Eagle, claims that he can get Wilkinson to forgive him for his fight on the late republican representative last fall. Morrison, can best snicker, and will win out in the republican convention for register of deeds. Sandy is opposed to a third term man, and insists that the republican nominee, to win, must come from Eagle.

The democrats in the west end would like to see John C. Brown, of Wabash, nominated for recorder. He is a bright young farmer, and would run to beat the band should he be nominated.

If the treasurership comes to the democrats Walter Palling of Greenwood is the logical man to oppose Barton. A stronger man than Palling would be hard to find. Walter is a popular fellow, and should be the democratic candidate the fight for county treasurer will be fast and furious.

The west end delegations to the fusion convention will be for McBride of Plattsmouth for sheriff, while the republicans will be split—some favoring Sage of Plattsmouth and others Newton of Center.

Tyson of Stove Creek thinks he has the republican nomination for county clerk in his vest pocket, but when Jim Robertson asks the republican convention that the county keep him two years longer Tyson's chances may be nipped in the bud, and Stove Creek again ignored. But the boys up there have their knives out, and swear that if the B. & M. runs the republican convention this year they will vote the fusion ticket, and Stove Creek will be placed in the democratic column. Whoever the republicans nominate, Joe Corley, of Weeping Water should be nominated by the democrats. The

OBITUARY.

Maud Mauzy.

The funeral services of Miss Maud Mauzy, who passed away Saturday, were conducted Sunday from the residence of her parents, by Rev. Asa Sleeth of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Baird and Rev. Burgess. Misses Swearingen, Street, Dr. Plimpton and Ralph White composed the quartet that sang beautiful and appropriate hymns at intervals during the solemn and impressive services.

In eloquent and touching language and with a voice broken by emotion, Rev. Sleeth spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing friends who had assembled in large numbers to pay their last tribute of respect and affection to the beautiful life brought so early to its close. He spoke of the example of patience in illness, the moral and intellectual beauty, the inward grace looking through outward environments, and the altogether lovely character of her who had been an ornament to society and a sharer and lightener of her mother's home cares. No sermon was needed. The silent form in the beautiful flower-decked casket spoke more eloquent than human lips, and the words of the Master, "Be ye also ready," came home forcibly to all.

Maud Elizabeth Mauzy was born in Virginia September 2, 1878. In 1882 the family removed to this city, where they have since resided. She attended the public schools, graduating in 1896. The following fall she taught in the Buck district. The next spring she was selected as a teacher in the public schools, finishing the term of 1898, and was re-elected for the two succeeding years. Maud was a member of the Methodist church, having joined on probation February 28, 1887, under the

From letters received from Matthew Gering it is learned that he will finish taking a course of lectures at the Edinburgh, Scotland, University of Law on July 20th, and will then make a tour of Ireland, after which he will visit London and Oxford, where he will resume his law studies. After leaving England he will go to Italy to visit with his relatives there, and thence to Germany. He expects to return home by October 15th or November 1st.

Arrested in Illinois.

Some time ago a stranger giving the name of Dr. Koch drove into Weeping Water, where he disposed of a team to Dave Woodward. Later on it was discovered that the team belonged to a liveryman at Nebraska City, from whom the genial doctor had hired it. Sheriff Wheeler was immediately informed of the transaction, and has since been on the lookout for the doctor, who also operates under the name of Dr. Cronlet. He was finally located at Galesburg, Ill., where he was under arrest on another charge. The officers at Galesburg were notified that the doctor was wanted here as soon as they were done with him, and Sheriff Wheeler has since patiently waited for a summons from Illinois to call and get his man. The sheriff at Galesburg is a relative of the doctor's, and later on sent word that he, the doctor, had escaped. He was troubled with some eye complaint, and was in a hospital for treatment when his escape was effected, according to the report. The city marshal of Galesburg was made acquainted with the facts in the case, and has wired the authorities here that the doctor is again under arrest there, and will be held until called for.

Sheriff Wheeler has gone to Galesburg after the prisoner, and he will be returned to Cass county, to answer to the charge of horse stealing.

Walter Propst unloaded a new threshing machine at the B. & M. freight depot Saturday morning. He brought a traction engine from home and after he had gotten up steam and coupled the water tank wagon to the engine he steamed up town and out to his farm—the outfit making quite a train. Walter will do threshing right this season.

Terrible Tragedy Near Glenwood.

Glenwood, Iowa, July 17.—Fred Fourhelm, living twelve miles southwest of Glenwood, murdered his wife and child last night and then shot himself after setting fire to the house.

They were tenants of John Beno, and lived on his farm on the Missouri bottom. A little before 10 o'clock last night Fourhelm's neighbors discovered that his house was on fire, and hurried to the place. There they discovered the wife and daughter had been killed by having their throats cut. One of their horses lay by the house with its throat cut, their wagon was pulled up against the house, the buggy on the porch, and the harness in the buggy. A bloody razor lay in the forks of a tree near by. Fourhelm lay dead beside the house with a shotgun by his side. The building and its surroundings were in flames. Desperate efforts were made to rescue the bodies, but with small success, and when recovered they were charred beyond recognition. Mr. Morgan, the sheriff, and Mr. Bogart, his deputy, were at the scene by midnight, and took possession of the remains. An inquest will be held some time today.

Many theories are advanced as to who committed the crime and the motive for doing it, but it is generally believed it was the work of Fourhelm. He was a man of quick and violent temper, and it is rumored that his domestic relations were sometimes stormy. It is supposed that in a fit of passion he took his razor, later found in a tree, and murdered his wife and child. Then coming to a realization of what he had done he determined to end it all by taking his own life. Not wishing to leave anything for his wife's relatives, against whom he felt very bitter, he sought to destroy all his property by killing his horse, and placing his wagon, buggy and harness where it would be burned, he set fire to the house. He then went inside and ended the tragedy by shooting himself.

Later their marriage certificate was found on the grindstone. It is supposed that he left it there to prevent any scandal.

General Crop Summary.

The past week was hot and dry. The daily mean temperature averaged 11 degrees above normal. The rainfall was very light, no amount sufficient to aid crops was reported. The hot, dry weather was very unfavorable for all growing crops. Thrashing of winter wheat has made good progress and the yield is good and quality fine. Spring wheat and oats have ripened too rapidly in northern counties, and the yield will generally be reduced. Early planted corn is beginning to tassel in southern counties and has been considerably damaged by the drought; later planted corn is standing the drought well, but corn generally has deteriorated in condition during the past week. Corn is small and late and most of it has not tasseled, and with rain soon would recover largely from the effects of the dry weather. However, with the rain the crop would generally be much below the average. Apples and fruit generally have been injured, and the hay crop will be less than expected earlier in the season. Potatoes are a very poor crop.

W. J. O'Brien "Exonerated."

As a result of the hearing of W. J. O'Brien, deputy fish commissioner, in the executive office Saturday, the charges preferred against him were withdrawn and after giving the official a miniature temperance lecture, Governor Savage told him to go to the state fish hatcheries at South Bend, take care of the property and improve the fisheries.

The contest during the day had been heated and vituperative in the extreme. Henry Hempel of Havelock and Dr. I. D. Jones of South Bend were the chief complainants. The charges were the same as those preferred against O'Brien in 1899 when he resigned before trial. In the afternoon Dr. Jones, who had been fighting a losing battle, formally withdrew the charges, and Mr. O'Brien was exonerated. Mr. Hempel was not so generous, however, and declared he still believed Mr. O'Brien guilty.—Lincoln News.

Trouble Over Opening Road.

For many years the inhabitants of Union and vicinity have been trying to have a public road established along the Missouri river bottoms near that place. On Saturday Henry E. Taylor filed a petition for an injunction restraining the county commissioners and road overseers from opening the road through his land. A hearing on the application for an injunction is set for August 5th before Judge Paul Jensen.

A Week Among the Geysers.

Through Yellowstone Park is the most enjoyable holiday that can be planned. There is nothing like it on earth. And the beauty of it all is that the trip takes less than ten days. You can stay longer if you like, of course—and you certainly will if you have the time. Write to J. Francis, general passenger agent, Burlington Route, Omaha, for folder giving full information about the park. It contains a large map of the park, as well as a description of the general points of interest. Excursion rates daily—ask the local ticket agent about them.

Lost.

The public is hereby notified that warehouse receipt No. 374, issued by Anderson County Distilling Co., of Lawrenceburg, Ky., representing four barrels of February, 1900, Anderson county whiskey, serial numbers 100-923-26, inclusive, has been lost or stolen. If the above named warehouse receipt is now held by any one, said possession is without right, and all persons are hereby warned against trading for or purchasing the same, as delivery of the whiskey has been stopped. HENRY R. GERING.

Turn-Verein Picnic.

The members of the Plattsmouth Turn-Verein will hold a picnic on next Sunday, July 21, at Hunter's grove, near the Four Mile creek bridge, to which the public generally is invited. Among the features of the day's program is a grand athletic exhibition to be given by the active and senior classes. Good music will be in attendance and good order will be maintained. Arrange to attend and enjoy a day's outing.

Swimming in the river is proving quite an attraction during the hot weather for a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who have made excellent arrangements for bathing in the branch of the Platte near the water works pump house. The parties are made up in the evening and are taken from the B. & M. depot to the pump house by train—the switch engine and a coach. A large tent has been pitched on the river bank, which answers the purpose of a bath house, and in which the change from street clothing to bathing costumes is affected. Quite a number of ladies are learning to swim, and profess to enjoy it immensely.

The steamer Jacob Richtman arrived at Rocky Point on Tuesday evening, and tied up for the night. The boat was on the way to Omaha, where it will be used for river excursions. They made very good time coming up the river, having left St. Joseph early Monday and arrived here after a two days' run. The boat has been overhauled during the winter, and presents a fine appearance. A crew of twenty men, including members of an orchestra, was aboard. They left for Omaha early Wednesday morning.

Tom Whalen has returned from his trip to Buffalo, N. Y., where he attended the National Boiler-makers convention and took in the Pan-American exposition and Niagara Falls. He reports the exposition to be much like the Trans-Mississippi at Omaha, with practically the same features. The falls was a new one to Tom, and a description of his visit to them was quite interesting. He has returned to Cheyenne, where he is employed by the Union Pacific.

M. T. Grassman returned on Saturday from a trip of several weeks through Oklahoma and Texas, traveling in the interests of Peregrine & Moore, of Council Bluffs, wholesale cigars, and a publishing house. Mike reports that the weather in the south was extremely hot, and that he expected to find it much cooler in Nebraska, in which he was disappointed.

During the past week marriage licenses have been issued to the following parties: Josiah Holderness, aged 50, and Lena Neely, aged 36, both of Elmwood; Ed. M. Makey, aged 27, and Louise Heinrich, aged 17, both of Plattsmouth; Charles N. Hansen, aged 23, of Nehawka, and Mollie L. Becker, aged 23, of Union.

Mabel M. Middeaguh.

Mrs. Mabel M. Middeaguh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Young of this city, died at her home at University Place last Friday. The deceased was nineteen years of age. Speaking of her death the Lincoln Evening News says:

"The end came suddenly, but was not entirely unexpected, as she had been afflicted for a time with Bright's disease. A husband and an infant child are left to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home. Rev. Mr. Fowler of Havelock conducted the ceremony. The remains were interred in Wyuka cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Young, the parents of Mrs. Middeaguh, were with her at the last. Mrs. Middeaguh formerly lived at Plattsmouth, where, a year ago, she was married to H. D. Middeaguh, who has lately been employed at the Havelock shops."

Joe Krowiek.

Joe Krowiek, who for five years has been a patient in the hospitals for the insane at Lincoln and Hastings, died at the latter institution Saturday. The remains arrived in this city Sunday evening and the funeral was held Monday afternoon, from the home of the parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. James Krowiek. Interment was made at Oak Hill cemetery.

Returns From South Africa.

W. E. C. Becker, of Ashland, who accompanied a cargo of mules to South Africa, has just returned. The animals were consigned to the British.

Mr. Becker left New Orleans April 15, on board the Monterey, with a cargo of 1,100 mules. The mules cost between $75 and $100 each in the United States, but when they reached the South African ports they cost the British government an average of $400 each.

Speaking of the war conditions Mr. Becker says: "I was surprised to find so much sympathy expressed for the boers, even among the British residents of the cape. The war is further from conclusion than most people imagine.

"The British have more men in the field, but the boers have plenty of arms and ammunition and can keep the struggle up for years, which they will undoubtedly do. While I was on the cape a boer commando approached within 103 miles of New London, and there was considerable apprehension that it would reach the coast."

Messrs. W. M. Stockham and E. L. Bates, of Weeping Water, were in town on Tuesday, and were callers at the Journal office. They report that the rain which visited some parts of the county Monday night did not reach them, and in consequence the corn was drying considerably.

The B. & M. band gave their regular open air concert on Main street between Third and Fourth last evening. The programme was made up of rag-time selections, and was most thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd which turned out to hear the music.

Proceedings in garnishment have been instituted by M. Fanger against O. F. Powell in Justice Archer's court. The amount involved is $15.90. Powell works for the B. & M. in the bridge gang.
