PLANT TREES FOR BYKINLEY

What Experience Shows Regarding Timber Culture in Nebraska-Child Poisoned by Eating Pills-Freight Car Burns Miscellaneous Matters.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 19 .- The planting of trees in commemoration of William McKinley has been suggested in the official proclamation by Governor Savage as a feature for the next Arbor day, which will be Tuesday, April 22. The governor's proclamation follows:

Executive Chamber, Lincoln-By virtue of the authority vested in me by law, I, Ezra P. Savage, governor of Nebraska, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, April 22, 1902, Arbor day,

The extensive use of timber in manufacture and in public and private improvements is and for some years has been a heavy drain upon the forest resources and unless expansion along this line keeps pace with devasration serious consequences must ultimately be the legacy.

Forestry is both useful and ornamental. While, strictly speaking, forestry may not be indigenous, still splendid results have attended every substantial effort to develop our resources in this respect. Experience the 1st day of April, 1902. Inclosed has demonstrated that tree culture you will find blank ballot." may be prosecuted as successfully in Nebraska as in any of the so-called timber states. Both soil and climate are adapted to it. For this reason there should be no relaxation in the planting of trees. Each succeeding Arbor day should add at least 500,000 trees and shrubs to our woodland estate. It means wealth, picturesqueness and comfort, and eventually will be a powerful magnet in the attraction of capital and population to Nebraska.

In the observance of Arbor day on this occasion I do earnestly and respectfully request that the day be specially observed by the children of fully discharging the obligations of Arbor day a tree be planted commemorative of our late and greatly beloved president, William McKinley. A McKinley memorial tree will furnish food in after years for both solemn and impressive reflection, and will be a merited tribute to one who during his life exhausted his best efforts and taxed his best energies to promote the welfare and happiness of his country and his countrymen. In testimony whereof I have here unto set my hand and caused the great ieal of the state to be affixed.

Done at Lincoln, this 15th day of March, A. D. 1902. By the governor:

EZRA P. SAVAGE. (Seal.) GEORGE W. MARSH. Secretary of State. By Frank McCartney, Deupty.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 17.-Department Commander R. S. Wilcox of the Grand Army of the Republic has issued the following special order No. 2, which explains itself:

"Comrades: The rules and regulations of the Grand Army fix the date of our encampment on the second Wednesday in May of each year, which comes on the 14th. 'It is always desirable and a great pleasure to have our national officers with us on these occasions. Your commander has extended a cordial invitation and has received a reply from General Eli Torrance, our national commander, and General S. H. Fowler, sending their regrets and informing this department that their time was fully engaged upto the 22d of May, when they would be pleased to come from the Iowa encampment to this and asking us to change date to

May 22. "This your commander cannot do until a majority of the posts in this department are given the opportunity to express themselves. It is the desire of your commander to have these distinguished comrades present to encourage and assist our department. No material damage can possibly occur by reason of one week's change and much good can be accomplished, therefore the commander submits the

ABANDONS VETERAN ROSTER.

State Finds it Impracticable to Keep List of Soldiers and Sailors.

LINCOLN. Neb., March 17.-The state printing board, acting with the advice of Commander Wilcox and Assistant Howe of the Grand Army of the Republic, has decided to discontinue the practice of printing a biennial roster of soldier and sailor vetrate list of the veterans. The law makes it the duty of tax assessors to collect the information, but provides no compensation for the work, and it was discovered that in nearly every case a large number of names were omitted from the reports returned to the secretary of state. The assessors last year returned the names of approximately 10,000 veterans, and it is believed that this list is short not less than 5,000. Some counties refused to enroll the names and others sent lists that were admitted to be incorrect.

"The board thought it best to publish no roster at all than to send out one that is known to be incomplete," said Deputy Secretary of State Mc-Cartney. "It is true that the law requires the assessors to do the work, but many refused point blank to obey and we did not think we could gain very much by resorting to mandamus proceedings. The officers of the Nebraska department of the Grand Army of the Republic were consulted and they agreed with the members of the board that the publication of an incorrect roster would be a useless expenditure of funds. They say they can gather the information through disconected. The crew used their the agency of their posts and do the work at a small expense."
