ISSUED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE RAILROADS OF NEBRASKA.

Will it Pay to Attempt "Freak Taxation?" Reason for Comparison with Other States.

In the bulletins which have immediately preceded this, we have given the details of taxes paid by the railroads of Nebraska, and the amounts they have paid in the several countles of the State, and it will be noticed that in the footnotes which accompany the figures given, there is a line of comparisons, showing what other states have done in regard to the taxation of railroads which run through their commonwealths. In the matter of taxation, as in any other business matter, the people of Nebraska desire to, and naturally should keep in line with what is done in other states. No greater disaster could occur to the State of Nebraska, than if, by ill-advised action, it should throw itself out of line regarding matters of taxation of corporate property or of any

It may be a taking proposition for a demagogue to advocate the over taxing of railroad companies and thereby work a hardship against them that would not accrue to other lines of property within the State, but it would be an advertisement that would pass through the whole United States, proclaiming that the people of Nebraska did not intend to be as fair with capital as other states of the Union. It would reproduce here in Nebraska that prejudice which took Kansas a term of at least ten years to dispel.

The comparisons which we have made in these foregoing statements include every state in the Union, with the exception of Massachusetts. In Massachusetts, New York, and several other states, laws have been passed which work a hardship against railroad corporations. In New York, the onerous tax paid by the New York Central railroad is being tested in the courts; its ill-advised law is working a hardship against that road, while not injuring the others in the State to any extent. In Massachuset's, through a contract made in the early days between the corporations and the State, and their excise laws, the taxes are out of line with what is done in other states, and there is a general movement among the business people in that State looking to the correction of this abuse.

In Harper's Weekly of February 15, 1902, the following is an extract from an editorial in regard to this "There is a very strong movement in the State of Massachusetts for rational corporation laws. The commonwealth is waking up to the fact that, under its present laws, large modern corporations cannot be organized in the State, and Massachusetts capital is seeking investment elsewhere. Not only the corporation law is restrictive and narrow, but the tax laws are as unreasonable as those of New York. Both states tax all the property of a corporation wherever it is situated, and this is double taxation . . . An effort is being made in New York and will be made in Massachusetts to put an end to this system of double taxation. There is a feeling abroad that New Jersey should not remain the refuge of all combinations which want liberal treatment."

In Wisconsin it appears that they have an entirely different form of taxation for railroad corporations from other states, as the taxes are collected in the form of an excise tax, being collected on the gross earnings of the companies in such a way that while the tax is heavy on those roads which have a large earning capacity, it is very light on those which are operating at a loss. This form of taxation looks fair, but it would not be popular in Nebraska, because all of the taxes charged against railroad corporations in Wisconsin are turned into the State Treasury and they are relieved from paying taxes locally along their lines. In the poorer countles of Nebraska, this would mean practically bankruptcy. In Wisconsin ther is a general movement looking towards a change in the form of taxation. After having tried a law something of the same character of Wisconsin, Michigan has returned to the direct form of taxation.

question as to how much of their revenue should be diverted to this purpose.

If the taxes were out of reason, it would place Nebraska in an unenviable light before all investors. For political reasons, a few men have made themselves prominent by advocating a system of double taxation of railroad property in the State, but when the people once understand what is done, and how it is done, we do not believe their efforts will avail.

The railroads of Nebraska, up to the present time, have not earned an undue amount on the investment made; for a series of years there was no profit derived from the investment as a whole on Nebraska railroads, and while during 1900 two of the railroads paid a fair dividend on the capital invested, very many of the railroads in the State failed to render any returns whatever to their owners. Nebraska has not as yet got the population, nor the completed system of railroads which would warrant this State in imposing such obligations on the corporations which now exist, that would drive all future investors in such property from the S ate. The figures which have been given are all from reliable data which can be investigated by anyone so disposed; the averages per mile being from the report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and the details of the business of the different roads are taken from their official reports, while the figures here in Nebraska are taken from the Auditors' offices of the different railroads. We will now continue our comparisons with other property in the State, showing some remarkable facts concerning the changes in values in various counties, and how by these changes, the railroads have been obliged to carry more than their proportionate share of taxation.
