

Of Interest To Men

Have you heard of our Annual Pant Sale? Hearing is not enough—only seeing is believing. We have some unbelievable bargains for your seeing which you will thank us for having called your attention to. The prices on some of them are below actual cost—not a common thing here—elsewhere—but nevertheless a fact just now. Three lots to select from—$1.50, $2.25, and $3.00. Many pleased customers the past week. Will you be one of the many next week? Please don't ask us to charge them.

The best physic. "Once tried and you will always use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says W. A. Girard, Platte, Vt. These tablets are the most prompt, most pleasant and most reliable cathartic in use. For sale by all druggists.

The people "took time by the forelock" this time and had the snow shoveled from the sidewalks before it got packed and melted, thus in a measure preventing them from being slippery. This pleases the average pedestrian much better, you bet!

The job printers in Omaha are on the war path, and ask that the grievance be righted before they will consent to return to work. Omaha is evidently headquarters for strikes. If it isn't one union it is another. But all classes and trades have rights equal that must be respected.

The difficulty which caused the cigarmakers to walk out of Pepperberg's factory has not been settled, and from present indications it is not liable to be very soon. Those who went out found ready employment at other union factories. It won't do to kick too hard against the union these days.

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is an antiseptic and quick healing liniment for cuts, bruises and burns. For sale by all druggists.

At the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Livingston Loan & Building Association this week, the following officers were elected: D. R. Smith, president; W. A. White, vice president; J. I have used Chamberlain's cough remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup. I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Michigan. For sale by all druggists.

Our old friend Geo. D. Amick was in the city Saturday. It was the first time we have seen him for several months, and on inquiry, learned that he had been confined to one of the private hospitals at Lincoln nearly all winter. We were pleased to see him looking well, considering his age, and how he has been afflicted.

Telephone Meeting.

The meeting of the general manager and superintendent of the various independent telephone companies in this neighborhood, which was held in this city yesterday and last evening, was a very pleasant affair. The storm prevented many from attending, but those present had an enjoyable time. The afternoon was devoted to inspecting the different factories and in the evening a business meeting was held. Matters of interest to telephone managers were discussed.

The Southeastern Nebraska Telephone association was organized by the election of the following officers: A. E. Gantt, Falls City, president; T. H. Pollock, Plattsmouth, vice-president; A. M. Munn, Nebraska City, secretary. The three above mentioned officers with J. C. Kintley, of Auburn, and C. N. Kalus, of Stella, will compose the executive committee. The next meeting will be held at Falls City. One of the objects of the association is to secure a uniform schedule of toll rates.—Thursday's Nebraska City News.

In the Early Days of Cass County.

EDITORIAL:

Occasionally we read in the newspapers of people that live near railroads helping themselves to coal. They were obliged to do so to keep from freezing. This reminds me of our early days on the farm, south of Louisville, generally called College Hill, when we were "impelled" to do the same thing. We took wood instead of coal. We had to depend on wood for fuel, and this could only be found on the bluffs, east of Louisville—I mean to say, timber land belonging to shapers and cut-throats who refused to sell us wood for love or money. West of Louisville was blessed with a good deal of timber but it belonged to private persons, and none of their timber was disturbed by any of us. We did the same as the people done with the railroads—took it; which all of us did with a vengeance. We cut and hauled all the wood we needed to keep ourselves comfortable during the winter.

It was not unusual to the observer to see from thirty to forty teams of the timber at one time, and all hands chopping and loading their wagons with the very best of oak wood; mostly black oak, too. The question will be asked, why did not the owner see to this business and stop it? There was a good reason. While we helped ourselves to wood from his land, and only took what we needed to keep us from freezing during the cold winter days and nights, the owner of the timber land was absent in the Black Hills, chopping government timber into railroad ties, and while we took a hundred dollars worth of wood from his land here, he took thousands of dollars worth of timber from the government and not paying a cent for the same.

There came a hull in the wood business, which lasted only a short time. There was a blacksmith in Louisville who came there from the west some where, who turned traitor by informing the owner of the land what was going on, and advised him to come to Louisville and see for himself.

One beautiful winter morning the owner and his Judas made their appearance in the woods while at least thirty men and teams were busy loading and chopping wood. The owner had a look and pencil in his hand, and being told the names of all the men present in the timber, marked them down. Excitement ran high for a while amongst the men. Some of them had their wagons loaded ready to start for home, emptied them and started for home as fast as their teams would take them. It was a sight to behold how all tried their best to get out of reach of their unpleasant visitors. The next day a one horse lawyer of Louisville and the owner of the land visited all the farmers whose names they had in black and white, and then took a look at their wood piles. Some of them had large piles—enough wood to last them for a year to come. They had but very little to say at the time. After a few days we were notified by the Louisville lawyer to come and settle, but very little attention was paid to his summons. The owner had started for home and we never had a chance to appear before court to clear ourselves for stealing wood off of his land. The owner had the pleasure of having his land cleared of timber free of charge. Only one farmer came to grief. And as it was a good joke on him, I will have to relate it.

He, like the rest of us, started one morning (while the owner was yet in Louisville) to get a load of fence posts he had chopped. The owner set a trap for him and walked to his farm. It was about dinner time, and he asked the lady of the house for some dinner. While she was preparing the meal she was asked where her husband was and what he was doing. To this she replied that he was hauling a load of posts from the land of a certain man. (She mentioned the owner's name.) Shortly after the farmer arrived with his load of fence posts, and was asked what he had to pay for them. "Oh," answered the farmer, "we get them for nothing from a d-d sharper who claims all the land near Louisville." They laughed and tied together for a while, when the stranger informed his newly made friend that the timber land below belonged to him, and asked pay for the load. Of course, the farmer was surprised, and rather than have trouble, paid him for his fence posts. The blacksmith traitor and spy had to leave Louisville or starve to death. We made it too hot for him to remain there. —CONRAD SCHLATER.

Big snow, roads drifted, too much snow (in spots) on sleighing. There is no perceptible change in the condition of Mr. Cook, who is quite ill. The smallpox scare (so called) has about subsided, and everyone who were holding their breath can now breathe again. The man who was beaten in south Omaha for having and distributing the smallpox is now out, having only been there 10 days. He says anyone could come to the pest house and see him. This smallpox is an awful disease; ten days in the pest house and you don't get sick. Give us something else. Don't anyone mention the car famine, as we are getting used to it. The fuel famine is almost as bad. No coal in our town, and no telling when there will be. Old Boreas has dealt very gently with us so far although he is getting his spinal column erected since last night. Wm. Wenk and Fred Gath went out south of Eight Mile Grove yesterday to bale hay, but had to return on account of the storm. Meales, like the dog, seems to have had their day, and we hear of them no more. The latest out is the small pox. We might tell about Smith, Jones or Brown hauling car-load after car-load of corn here, but you would know that we were lying, as you know that our elevators are full now. We cannot tell a lie, so we desire even telling the truth. Yu No.

Runaway Cars.

Yesterday morning, says the Nebraska City News, the Missouri Pacific freight car that runs between this city and Weeping Water, had a close call from all being killed. They were going into Weeping Water when the engineer, "Peggy" Young, noticed some box cars on the track ahead of him and he could see that they were coming at a terrific rate of speed. He could see no escape so he gave the warning to the rest of the crew and with his fireman jumped from the engine, which was running at a slow rate of speed. They had hardly got clear of the track when the box cars struck the engine and demolished it. The engine and one or two cars are a little better than scraps. The crew came home on the midnight train and this morning were given a new engine and went out on time. The track was cleared last evening in time to allow trains to pass on time.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and safer to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip) and it has been observed that these disease counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no longer is appreciated until it suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing, pain in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

BUDS AND FLOWERS OF HOME LIFE.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes and Keeps the Children Well and Strong.

Mothers Make It the Home Medicine for the Little Ones.

The children, God bless them, are the buds and flowers of our homes. Without their gentle and hearty laughter, our homes would be desolate. They should ever be carefully tended in childhood and youth, if we expect them to ripen into perfect men and women.

In the home and at school, the children have their times of ill health and suffering. We often note the pallid and bloodless cheeks, heavy eyes, nervous movements, and twitchings of limbs and muscles. They complain of headache, drowsiness, weariness, dyspepsia, and indigestion. All such symptoms and ailments mean that the seeds of disease will have a fast and firm hold, unless proper measures are taken to restore a perfect condition of health.

Thousands of wise and prudent parents have made their children happy, healthy, and vigorous by giving them nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. In many severe and complicated cases, Paine's Celery Compound has restored health when the little ones were given up by physicians.

If your dear ones are not as hearty, strong, and rugged as they should be, try the health giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. It makes and keeps the children well.

$4.00 Worth Sent Free

By Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B.

the Specialist in Diseases of the Heart, Nerves, Stomach and Kidneys.

Has Cured Hundreds of "Incurable Cases" after Five to Thirty Physicians Failed.

When an experienced physician offers to give away his New Treatments for diseases of the heart, nerves, stomach, or dropsy, it is conclusive evidence that he has great faith in them. And when hundreds of prominent men and women freely testify to his unusual skill and the superiority of his New Special Treatments his liberality is certainly worthy of serious consideration.

That Dr. Franklin Miles is one of the world's most successful physicians is proven by thousands of wonderful cures of well known people. One patient cured after failure of eleven Grand Rapids physicians, one after being given up by 30 physicians, one after failure of 22 physicians, another after nine of the leading doctors in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago failed.

The eminent Rev. W. Bell, D. D., of Dayton, Ohio, general secretary of Foreign Missions, writes editorially in the State Sunday School Column: "We desire to state that from personal acquaintance we know Dr. Miles to be a most skillful specialist, a man who has spared neither labor nor money to keep himself abreast of the great advancement of medical science."

W. W. Anderson, Pleasant Hill, Neb., writes: "I was entirely cured after I had tried everything without benefit. The Special Treatment worked like magic." Mrs. C. W. Phelps, Stratton, Neb., says: "When I commenced taking special treatment I was in an almost helpless condition from nervous prostration. Dr. Miles did so much for me that I am now able to attend to business."

One thousand remarkable testimonials sent upon request.

As all may have a course of treatment prepared especially for their case, free as a trial, we would advise them to send for it at once. Address: Dr. Franklin Miles, 203 to 209 State Street, Chicago. Please mention this paper.
