

To Friends of the Journal.

The Journal requests that the friends of this paper will make known their choice of papers to the county judge when they have probate matters to be published.

When a party demonstrates such a vigorous readiness to punish its own scamps, as the democrats have done in Missouri, it strengthens, rather than weakens, its hold upon public confidence.

The Pennsylvania "muzzle law," which practically destroys the liberty of the press, is a fair sample of the limits to which a Matthew Quay machine is willing to go to serve its own ends and perpetuate its own life.

Missouri is not necessarily worse than many other states in regard to booting. The only difference seems to be that Missouri took the trouble to investigate matters and punish the booters, while the officials in other states are afraid to do anything of the kind for fear of self-crimination.

The question is now asked: How much did it cost the large corporations of Nebraska to defeat the will of the people and the cause of justice in the revenue bill, and who got the money?—Kearney Democrat. If Nebraska was fortunate enough to possess a governor and attorney general with a disposition and will to find out such matters like those of Missouri, the people would soon know how much it cost and who got the money.

THE WIRELESS, a newspaper depending entirely upon wireless telegraphy for its news, has been established at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, off the coast of California near Los Angeles. The first two numbers has reached our table and it is certainly a unique journal, being the only publication of its character in the world.

JOHN A. LEE, Lieutenant Governor of Missouri, has resigned. This action was brought about through his enemies, several of whom are members of the present legislature, and who were very strong in their intimation that he is connected with booters. He resigned that he might better be prepared to "face the music" and bring his enemies (the real booters) to time.

What is a Lilly White?

Perhaps many readers of the Journal cannot interpret the meaning of "Lilly White" generally referred to politically. It is the better element of southern republicans who are bitterly opposed to Roosevelt's negro policy in that section of the country.

The first state to revolt against the president's policy to force the negro to the front rank was Alabama, and it is generally being followed throughout the south by fact and reason. The Lilly Whites are not confined to any one state, but are spreading in every direction, and by the time the republican national convention meets Teddy will find that he has a Jumbo on his hands.

What effect the keen, concise cogent definition of the question will have upon politics in some of the northerly states is a matter of interesting speculation. Since it obviously tends to augment Hanna's influence in the south it will at least indirectly operate to his advantage elsewhere.

Restless opposition to Roosevelt's candidacy among republicans of the south is rapidly crystallizing and assuming both force and motion. The nature of the division is fully revealed in the fact in most of the states of the south two sets of delegates will go to the convention, one headed by negroes and the other composed of "Lilly Whites" or anti-Roosevelt. And it is marvels to chalk that if Teddy's following predominates, the "niggers" will be seated.

The matter is rapidly coming to the front, and sooner or later the question must be settled that this is a "white government" in all sections—east and west, north and south—so it can just as well be settled next year as at any other time. The great majority of the American people are opposed to negro domination, and if the opportunity is ever given them to vote upon the question it will be so decisively settled that negro-lovers will be very few and far between.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott's Emulsion is the means of life and of the enjoyment of life of thousands of men, women and children.

To the men Scott's Emulsion gives the flesh and strength so necessary for the cure of consumption and the repairing of body losses from any wasting disease.

For women Scott's Emulsion does this and more. It is a most sustaining food and tonic for the special trials that women have to bear.

To children Scott's Emulsion gives food and strength for growth of flesh and bone and blood. For pale girls, for thin and sickly boys Scott's Emulsion is a great help.

Opinions of Others.

Nebraska Independent: During the last year the people in a large number of cities have revolted against republican corruption and prosecuted the booters as they have never been prosecuted before.

Springfield (Mass.) Republican: It is quite probable that the administration is as much appalled over the merger decision as are the combinations and trusts; for if logically followed up, as the government is morally bound to do, a tremendously upsetting effect upon the financial and industrial adjustment would be produced.

Harper's Weekly: Mr. Roosevelt is a young man still, but when he was free trader of such vigorous hue that, on one occasion, he announced that he would "die for free trade." Practically, he has since learned nothing concerning the tariff, but he has accepted the post hoc propter hoc sort of philosophy to which protectionists have resorted in these days of the degeneracy of their doctrine, and he is, therefore, ready to say, with home market clubs and other like disinterested authorities, that because we are now prosperous we are so because of the tariff law.

New York Evening Post: Secretary Root will have only himself to thank if the public attaches an unduly sinister significance to the ghostly details in General Miles' report, at last made public. The secretary had aroused general suspicion by his childish attempt to treat the American people like children.

And, although it will by no means result in such a definite casting of distinctions in the northern and eastern states, there is abundant reason for belief that even in them the question in one or another phase, whether formulated or not, will cost the republican national ticket many votes which otherwise might be counted upon positively.

A Radical Change. The Loomis bill, H. R. No. 79, which has been signed by the governor makes a radical change in the length of the terms of school in country districts. The changed law makes it necessary for each district having from twenty to seventy-five scholars to maintain a school for six months before it can claim any share of the state apportionment.

Under the law as it stands on the statute book, no provision as to the term of school in districts having less than thirty-five pupils and in such case it was necessary to have only three months of school. Because of that provision of the statute in many districts, numerous directors have cut the terms of country schools down to the minimum.

Crisp Editorial Notes

The re-election of Mayor Tom Johnson means a triumph of the people over Hanna monopoly.

Will Governor Cummins supinely swallow all he said regarding the necessity of a revision of the tariff?

The postoffice investigation still continues and each day reveals more and more sufficient reason for making them.

Those Germans who said our gunners could not shoot are respectfully referred to the marksmanship record of the men on the Indiana.

The president cannot be blamed for not throwing much heart into his "stand pat" tariff speeches. At heart, he does not believe in them.

The republicans, from the president down, have demonstrated that there can be no hope of tariff revision so long as their party is in power.

A negro has won one of the most coveted prizes at Yale with an essay in which he proves that the negro is incapable of self-government in Hayti.

That the Pennsylvania politicians cannot stand criticism in the public press is demonstrated by the fact that they have rushed through the legislature a bill intended to muzzle the press.

Some republican newspapers are referring to Secretary Cortelyou as a trust-buster but the secretary denies the impeachment. He says the end of his department is "to promote and foster commerce and industry."

Senator Reed Smoot hastens to commend the president's utterances regarding large families and race suicide and incidentally points to the fact that President Smith of the Mormon church now has 1,003 direct descendants.

The Steel trust, by printing its annual statement in the daily papers at advertising rates, is proving how utterly innocuous is the publicity so ardently urged by the administration as a corrective of trust evils.

The Appetite of Human Nature. When Uneeda Biscuit were first introduced, a conservative said: "They are all right as far as they go, but they won't satisfy the worker. The worker, you see, wants something solid, and substantial, and plain—like potatoes, cabbage, or beef. These delicate and crisp biscuit, packed so daintily, in that In-cr-seal Package, will not appeal to him any more than winter strawberries." That sounded like good reasoning. But fact upsets theory. Workers everywhere have been great consumers of Uneeda Biscuit. The outdoor worker, seated at noon upon the sidewalk, a house wall for his back rest; mill hands in the mill yard, seated on comfortable bales; teamsters and draymen, on their high box seats—all have eaten Uneeda Biscuit, and their wives have eaten them, and their children have eaten them. Another conservative took another view: "Uneeda Biscuit are all right," he said, "to sell to the workers, but you must not expect to sell them to the more prosperous people. They are too cheap. Five cents a package—that kills Uneeda Biscuit so far as the wealthy are concerned. The price should be higher—they are worth it." That, too, sounded reasonable, but it also turned out to be only theory. For the greatest grocers of the city and of the country say Uneeda Biscuit have taken the place of the more expensive biscuit. Over 200,000,000 packages have been consumed. The worker eats Uneeda Biscuit because of their goodness. The wealthy eat them because of their delicacy. The whole world eats them because they represent the highest value as a food product—pure, wholesome, good. The appetite of human nature always relishes a good change of diet—Uneeda Milk Biscuit is a change that never disappoints. 5c. NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY.

A MUCH revered philanthropist of Chicago, who has attained the age of 83 years, and accumulated several millions, which he has donated to higher education, tells how he has accomplished both feats. His age he attributes to common sense and a careful regard for his stomach; and his millions to the fact that he bought Chicago real estate long years ago and never spent his profits. He never spent $20 "foolishly" in his life; never saw a horse race; never went the theatre but once; never saw a football or baseball game. These facts being true, it is easy to believe that he had a careful regard for his stomach, never overloading his stomach with rich foods and expensive delicacies. This information comes too late to dogood to the rising generation. Show us a boy who does not like baseball, football and attend a theatre, and we will show you a boy who is actually lazy to eat bread and meat when he's hungry.

THE Lincoln News intimates that if the proper effort was made the same kind of baking powder bloodie party could be worked up among the members of the Nebraska legislature. This is awful, coming as it does direct from one of the leading republican papers of the state.
