

R. A. BATES, PUBLISHER. Entered at the postoffice at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, as second-class matter. PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA.

It is proposed to furnish the White House with a complete fire-alarm-gong. Well, what's the matter with the present one?

POOR OLD MICKEY is to be dunned for renomination. It has been fully demonstrated that he is entirely too small for governor.

GORMAN calls a halt on army and navy expenditures and demands more good roads and other important international improvements.

THE president will now proceed to "reprimand" those sixteen railroad presidents who oppose his nomination and are in favor of Miles.

It seems that stock-jobbing was a part of the Panama conspiracy and that some in the confidence of the administration made hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is intimated that officials are involved.

THE president said in multitudinous speeches: "Who would pull down the flag? When once raised it must never be lowered. It must stay put." And now he has been and pulled it down in Cuba, and left the Cuban flag flying all by itself. This country is dreadfully shocked, of course, but is likely to survive.

A NEW "Iowa idea" has broken out. A bill before the legislature makes it necessary for a prospective bride and groom to furnish a reputable physician's certificate that they have been thoroughly instructed in the course prescribed by law concerning the causes of disease and the birth and rearing of children.

Some people will fight shy of official inaugurations by the editor of the Journal. His booms generally turn out boom-de-ays. They soar with notes and die like muffled drums in a broken drum. If a candidate succeeds his first step is to silence the News editor, and the result come out flat-footed.

Now Johnny Mickey is hard time to get a reputation for stability for the re-nomination of governor, and the state realize this.

Four candidates for friends of Judge to get his count. The battle cry is, "Anything to beat Mickey!"

First district republicans are anxious to promote Representative Burkett to the senate, not only for the purpose of honoring him but in order that they may honor Paul Jessen to congress.—Kearney Hub. The Judge would be a great improvement over Gas-bag Burkett. But then if they wait till Burkett is elevated to the senate, we are afraid the Judge stands a very poor show of getting into congress.

The editor of the News is just now engaged in making candidates for city offices. He no doubt will keep right on at this business until he has mentioned about every prominent man in the city for some position. If hypocrisy will make a man popular the editor of the News is preparing to make himself so before election by mentioning every available man in town for office. Why don't somebody mention Farley? Maybe that is what he wants.

If the candidates for county attorney in Cass county would make their announcement through the press instead of by writing letters to a few of the politicians they would not only save themselves a great deal of extra labor but the voters in general would become aware that they are out for the office. Any newspaper in the county will print your announcement, gentlemen, and not charge you more than the regular local rate. Don't try to slip into office on the cheap plan.—Louisville Courier.

The esteemed Tribune last week gave Congressman Burkett a punch in the ribs, very much deserved. We congratulate the Tribune upon its course. If we are to have a republican in the senate from Nebraska let it be some one not of the red-tag variety, like Burkett. Burkett has the flow of the mouth to make a first-class auctioneer, but lacks the great essential of hard sense so necessary in that occupation, and because of the flow and lack of sense, the republicans made him congressman.—Hastings Democrat.

LAST fall some people in this city became greatly interested in the serving of distress warrants, and from the wall that went up these warrants were not served fast enough for them. Circumstances sometimes changes the tune a person is whistling, and this seems to be the case with one of these fellows at the present time, who from shortage of the wherewith, had the audacity the other day to ask the treasurer to hold the issuing of a distress warrant for his personal tax. Last season the sheriff was not serving them fast enough for him, but now they can't be issued and served any too slow to please him. He evidently has arrived at that point to learn "how it is himself" when he hasn't the money to buy his tax receipt.

Rockefeller and Andrews. In the course of a defense of universities accepting money from magnates of the John D. Rockefeller type, Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the University of Nebraska made the following extraordinary prophecy: "Society, as it becomes more enlightened, will snuff out the lives of sickly and deformed infants, to prevent their becoming a burden to it and to themselves. As with the cradle, so it will be with other cases. A committee of skilled physicians, I firmly believe, eventually will determine the fate of those who are sickly or whose recovery from disease is impossible. Such persons, if the physicians agree, will mercifully be put to death."

The steel that struck this scintillation from what may be presumed to be the flint of the Andrews nature was a retort hurled at the Chancellor while he was acting as apologist for the Rockefeller business methods and trying to justify the Standard Oil Company's custom of crushing out weak competitors.

"Like mercifully taking up a sickly child and benevolently wringing its neck," interrupted somebody. "Exactly," replied Andrews, and then proceeded to air his amazing prediction.

It is doubtful whether the trusts will be duly grateful to Mr. Andrews for bringing out in so clear and startling a light the analogy between their methods and that of social progress as defined in the Andrews dictionary, but that is sure—that the general public will henceforth know what to think of Andrews.

Certain so-called philosophers have suspected that there is a point where culture and savagery meet—that refinement and barbarism are halves of the same circle.

Judging by what he says, the Chancellor of the University of Nebraska has discovered and taken his post at this exact place of junction.

And yet Andrews would doubtless get very mad if anybody should venture to say that he leaned over into the barbarous curve of the circle.

It seems to be conceded that Bryan, Thompson, Metcalf and Schlenberger will be the delegates at large to the St. Louis convention. This is quite a combination, and one that will command considerable attention in the national convention.

A Cure for Eczema. My baby had Eczema so bad that his head was a solid mass of scabs, and his hair all came out. I tried many remedies but none seemed to do any permanent good until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The Eczema is cured, the scabs are gone and the little one's scalp is perfectly clean and healthy, and his hair is growing beautifully again. I cannot give too much praise to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Frank Farmer, Bluff City, Ky. In buying Witch Hazel Salve look out for counterfeiters. DeWitt's is the original and the only one containing pure Witch Hazel. The name E. C. DeWitt & Co. is on every box. Sold by F. G. Fricke & Co.

When You Have a Cold. The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy liquefies the tough mucous and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

A Visit to Murray.

A Journal representative made a flying trip to Murray last Friday, and hadn't more than landed from the train ere Charles Stone took charge of us as his guest, and would not let us go until after we had partaken of an elegant dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Berger. It is indeed a comfort for a newspaper man to get away from home occasionally, especially when he has an opportunity of partaking of a sumptuous repast as we did on this occasion. We did not have as much time on this trip as we wished, and consequently did not have the opportunity of seeing many of those we desired. When the weather gets a little warmer we expect to visit Murray again and write up the business interests of our thriving little neighbor, and visit more of our friends.

Accidently Killed.

Saturday afternoon Ansel Pittman, son of C. W. Pittman, living near Nehawka, a young man about 20 years of age, was going to the field with a younger brother for a load of straw. He carried a loaded shot gun in his hand; and on the way stopped to catch a rope that was falling off the wagon. As he did so the hammer of the gun struck something and fired the charge which struck near the lower rib, and, ranging upward, severed an artery, finally lodging just below the collar bone. His death was instantaneous. The funeral services occurred Monday, under the auspices of the Ancient Order United Workmen, of which he was a member, carrying $1,000 insurance.
