IMAGE RICHLY CLAD TREASURE TROVE IN CHAPEL OF

CITY OF MEXICO.

Jeweled Figure of the Virgin Sold far $25,000-Discovery of its Value an Accident-Had Been for Years Comparatively Unnoticed.

A curious discovery has just been made concerning an image of the Virgin in the chapei of the Colegio de las Vizcainas in the City of Mexico. One day, in 1732, three Spanlards while rambling through the city noticed a number of poor children playing in the street, apparently uncared for and with no school to attend. This meeting inspired them to erect at a cost of $600,000 the great, gloomy red stone building occupying an entire block and known as the Colegio de las Viscainas, or de San Ignácio or de la Paz, for girls, chiefly orphana The intention of the generous trio. natives of Biscay, was to limit the benefits of the school to children of found Impracticable.

This ancient institution is conducted under the supervision of some of the toremost ladies of Mexico, including the will of President Diaz. Recently some of these women received permissich to renovate the robes of the images in the college chapel. To do this they unlocked all the cases. Including one of wood and glass in which a figure of the Virgin stood for many years undisturbed. To their amazement the apparently humbly clail image proved to be of wood, beautifully and artistically carved, covered by a sheet of silver studded with gold and precious stones. Competent judges say the image represented originally the Virgin of the Angels and was later transformed into the Virgin of the Conception, as shown by the mutilation of the group of angel heads on which the feet rested. At one time there were seven heads and three had been severed. A silver crescent, row in two pleces, had been nafled over the head and face of one of the angels. The attitude of the body is extremely natural and correct, and the workmanship of the silver tunic and the vell, hanging in rich folds and gracefully caught at the waist, is highly praised by artists. From crown to base the height is 1 metre and 15 centimetres. The jewels consisted of 192 diamonds, 342 emeralds, 26 rubies, 1,947 pearls, with four stones said to be hyacinths. Notwithstanding the care taken to protect the image after the discovery of its value, some thief was able to steal from the case seventeen gold chains, one gold and emerald butpearls.

An expert from the Monte de Piedad, national pawnshop, estimated the value of the figure and decorations at $20,000. An offer from a jeweler of [ $25,000 was accepted and the image these cheap excursions will be cheer sold to him. It is rumored that the fully furnished upon application to S. image will be sent to Paris. The purchase money will be used in providing for an additional number of students who, after receiving an education, desire to remain in the school instead of going into the world. The right to this home, "lugar de gracia," ceases only with marriage.

IN A PRAIRIE LAND.

(Editorial Correspondence.) Moose Jaw, Assinibola. Farmers' Review,

Chicago, July 22, 1903. Most of the prairies in the United States have ceased to exist. Man has broken them up with orchards, forests and farm buildings. But in Western Canada the prairies still stretch grandly from horizon to horison as yet unmarred by the hand of man, save where the iron road has been laid. To a city man there is something deliciously restful about the vast grassy solitudes.

Numerous clumps of trees mark the course of the Assiniboine river, which keeps in sight of the railroad for some distance.

"Grass is one of the notable things about all the landscape of Western Canada. It is a remarkable fact that the entire length of the Canadian Pacific railway from its eastern terminus to the Rocky Mountains is over plains where grass grows. The sage brush appears at some points, but never to the exclusion of grass. There is thus not a mile of this country that cannot be used for some agricultural purpose-either for tilling or ranching

'Moose Jaw is a town of over 2,000 inhabitants, and one of the most important places in Assiniboia, being the center of a very good farming country and a great grain and stock ship ping point.

"Near Moose Jaw agriculture and ranching go hand in hand; for near the town was seen a herd of beef cuttle several hundred in number. On another side was seen a good sized herd of dairy cows, the property of the citizens in the town.

"In riding over the prairies we saw many good fields of alfalfa. The great need of the country is timber, which grows readily where planted, as was demonstrated by the shelter belts on some of the farms, and the irees on the residence lots in the town. "Stories were told the writer of men who last year cleared from their wheat crop more than the land on which it was grown originally cost them. # The Value of Persistency.

John Diedrich Spreckels, the son of Claus Spreckles, is the proprietor of a San Francisco newspaper. To an editor one day Mr. Spreckles was talking about persistence and in the course of his remarks he said: "My father is a great believer in persistence-in patience. Once when I was a boy I abandoned in despair some childish task that I had undertaken and my father reproved me for it. 'Persistence will do anything,' he said. "There's nothing you can't accomplish with patience,' And then he smiled slightly and added: 'You could even carry water in a sieve if you would have the patience to wait long mough I have to wait?' I said. 'Till it froze,' my father answered."
