Louisville

In police court Thursday Wm. Osse- kop plead guilty to resisting an officer and was fined $50 and costs. A delegation of Louisville merchants went to Plattsmouth Wednesday and saw the county commissioners (nt). H. E. Brown left for Scotts Bluff where he went to engage in the drug business. His family will remain here until spring. C. G. Mayfield went to Denver, Colorado, last Friday to visit A. B. Todd who is reported to be very low with cancer of the stomach. The stork called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Richey, Tuesday and left a baby boy. All interested are doing nicely and Charley wears a smile that will not rub off. While returning home from church last Monday evening, the team driven by Ed Ingram, Jr., became fractious and ran away, throwing the occupants, Miss Spence and Mrs. Henry Inhelder and little daughter violently to the ground. Other than a few scratches no one was seriously injured. The team ran home and totally destroyed a new buggy. Misses Alice and Fern Ferguson were given a surprise party Thursday night by the young people of Manley. The girls had gone to make a short call on a neighbor and were much sur- prised upon their return to find the house in possession of about thirty young people. The Ferguson home has been noted for its kind hospitality for many years and it was not lacking in this instance, as evidenced by the good time enjoyed by all. The evening passed swiftly in music and games and an elegant supper was served.

STIRRED BY TILLMAN

South Carolina Senator Makes a Very Bitter Attack on the President.

MRS. MORRIS' CASE IS REVIVED

Hale Protests and Daniel Makes a Personal Plea.

But Tillman Is Inexorable and Offers a Resolution to Investigate the White House Incident.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The recent forcible removal from the White House of Mrs. Minor Morris was made the subject of emphatic denunciation by Tillman in the senate. His remarks called out remonstrances from Hale, Hopkins and Daniel, and led to the very abrupt closing of the doors and the sudden adjournment of the senate in the middle of the afternoon. The speech abounded in Tillman's peculiar expressions and was characterized by many severe and exceptionally personal thrusts at the president. At times he went over what he regarded as the indignities to the lady, and his voice and eyes were full of tears when he declared in the face of protests from his fellow members that he would demand an investigation of the White House incident.

President Charged with Deceit.

The reference to the treatment of Mrs. Morris constituted the latter half of a speech based upon the senator's resolution making inquiry of the presi- dent concerning the status of our rela- tions with the republic of Santo Do- mingo and was added to illustrate his theory that the present administration is tending towards imperialism. He said the president had transgressed the canons of a century in carrying into effect a treaty that had never been ratified. "It used to be that the failure of the senate to ratify a treaty was sufficient," said the senator; "but such is no longer the case; you've got to say 'No' in very loud words to Theodore Roosevelt in order to get him to hear it all."

Declares Tillman's Statements Have No Warrant in Fact.

At this point Hale interrupted Till- man to protest against the latter's rep- resentation concerning the Morris in- cident. "I say to the senator from South Carolina," said Hale, "that he is making statements and assuming facts for which there is no warrant, and that he is making the most serious and defamatory charges against the execu- tive of this country, the president of all the United States, having nothing whatever that he adduces as proof. I must say to the senator that I do not deem it seemly that here in the senate he should make this an occasion of discharging the personal feeling of ill will he has against the president of the United States. It is not a specu- tacle that any of us can look upon either with satisfaction or toleration." The quiet that prevailed was almost oppressive and it was none the less marked when Tillman rose to reply. He said: "I have such great respect for the great ability, high character and patriotic services of the senator from Maine and have had such inti- mate association with him during my service here, which is not half so long as his own, that he cannot say any- thing in the way of reprimand to en- snare me to lose my temper." Then, address- ing Hale personally, he denied that his charges had any basis in his per- sonal feeling, and offered, if Hale would move the appointment of a com- mittee to investigate the matter, to present the names of four reputable witnesses who would swear to the statement he had made. A colloquy ensued as to who should get, Hale insisting that Tillman should present his affidavits and move the appointment of the committee, and Tillman that it was Hale's business to do the latter. Finally Tillman agreed to offer a resolution for an investiga- tion, and said that he had been told that another lady had been similarly treated.

SCENE BECOMES DRAMATIC

South Carolina Man Calls Almighty God to Witness His Sincerity.

After some more discussion of the president's alleged control of the senate, Hale repeated his assertion that Tillman was influenced by his personal feelings toward the president, and Tillman exclaimed with feeling: "I say before Almighty God it is not true." Tillman then read a typewrit- ten statement from a newspaper re- porter, who he said was an eye-wit- ness of the White House incident, in which the reporter stated that he had seen Mrs. Morris carried off "like a sack of salt, with a negro at her heels"

"Give us the name of the witness," Gallinger suggested, but Tillman de- clined, saying that he preferred to hold it for the proposed investigation. He added that he had names of four men who would testify to these facts as stated. Here Tillman stopped abruptly to move the appointment of a com- mittee of investigation. He suggested that five senators be named for the purpose of inquiring into the incident.

Hopkins objected to the entire pro- ceeding, declaring that it had no place in the senate. Daniel entered an earnest personal plea with Tillman to drop the matter, but Tillman declined to accede to Daniel's request. He de- clared he would offer the resolution, and that the senate could do what it pleased. The chair was asking the senate's pleasure as to the resolution when Hale cut off all further public debate by moving an executive session, which motion was adopted.

WAS SATANICALLY INCANE

His Lunacy Seems to Have Led Him Always Into the Doing of Deceit.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 18.—Dr. J. C. Castro, who was taken to the hos- pital for the insane, has ended his unique career which for many years had kept the authorities conjecturing if he were insane or simply degenerate. About ten years ago he was con- ducting a drug store and in the adjoin- ing business room a general store. By mere accident a watchman discovered fire in the drug store far into the night and put it out. Then were discovered trains of powder, charges of dynamite and oil-soaked blankets and other articles from the general store leading through the two store rooms and strung up on the shelves. In rooms overhead many persons were asleep. Castro was tried and the jury disagreed. Later he was in- dicted for embezzlement and gave bond. He moved to Belleville, Ill., where a few weeks ago he was caught trying to burn his property. He was brought to Terre Haute and while out on bond gave such indications of in- sanity that he was taken into custody.

GOES BACK TO HIS MOTHER

His Foster Parents, Who Learned to Love Him as Their Own, Give Him Up.

Ithaca, Mich., Jan. 18.—Some fifteen years ago three children were left at the Coldwater school by a poor moth- er who was unable to care for them, the father having been sent to an asy- lum. In the course of time the chil- dren were found out, one of them, the youngest boy, being taken by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spear, of Emerson. He has grown to manhood and was the pride of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spear have now received a let- ter from the boy's own mother, whose heart was longing for her last born. For years she had been trying to learn his whereabouts, but the authori- ties of the institution would not tell her until he was 18. She was living at Mishawauke, Ind., and had her other children, a son and daughter, with her. The foster parents have given up the boy they had learned to love, sending him with their blessing to the mother who was waiting for him with open arms.

HE COULD GET THE BATH

But Not a Room and Bath—Predica- ment at Kansas City of Rev. Dr. Hillis.

Kansas City, Jan. 18.—The Turkish bath room at the Coates House was the only refuge Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, successor of Henry Ward Beecher in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, could find in Kansas City. Dr. Hillis was to have lectured in a Missouri town, but delay caused him to miss connections here, and he spent several hours looking for a place to lay his weary head. At the Baltimore hotel he could not get a "room and bath." He inquired next at the Coates House, and the clerk told him that the house was full. He was walking disconsolately out of the lobby when the proprietor recog- nized him and brought him back. It was arranged that Dr. Hillis should spend the night in the Turkish bath and that a room would be found for him later.

Verdict in the Nichols Case.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—After deliberation of almost six hours the jury in the case against Dr. Charles A. Nichols rendered a verdict of guilty on the indictment for using the mails for a scheme to defraud. He was found not guilty on a charge of send- ing obscene letters through the mails. The jury also decided that a common law marriage does not exist between Mrs. Susan Day and Dr. Nichols. Dr. Nichols' counsel made a motion for a new trial.

Kaiser Confident of Peace.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—On the bose it is reported that Emperor William ex- pressed himself to his guests at din- ner to the effect that he anticipated with the fullest confidence the results of the Algeiras conference, adding that he was convinced that everything feasible would be settled. It is known that the emperor had already ex- pressed himself in this sense.

The Fool Practical Joker.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Jan. 18.—Ray Meyers, 21 years old, employed in a livery barn, will lose an eye as the result of a practical joke. Unknown persons filled his pipe with a mixture of powder and tobacco, and when he lighted it there was an explosion, which ruined one eye and severely burned his face.

ALIGNMENT OF THE PARTIES

Constitutional Monarchists Against the Hosts of Socialism and Con- stitutional Democracy.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—The holi- day truce in Russian politics is over, and the new political parties are mas- tering their strength for Russia's first all-important electoral campaign. The opening guns will be fired today when the delegates of the Constitutional Democrats will assemble to discuss their platform. The party represents the advanced liberal opinions of the zemstvo majority, and the platform will closely follow the resolutions of the last zemstvo congress. The allied moderate parties, which are standing on the basis of the manifesto of Oct. 17, will also be early in the field. There will be a conference of the leaders from various parts of the empire here this week.

Composition of the Coalition.

This coalition, which embraces the party of law and order, the Gerolists and five lesser factions, has chosen the name of Constitutional Monarchists, and will nominate candidates in com- mon, realizing that singly they are too weak to meet the well organized Con- stitutional Democrats, or even the So- cial Democrats and Social Revolution- ists. Though officially they are on record as being in favor of boycotting the national assembly and continuing the armed revolt the opposers of law and order have awakened to the necessity for securing a representation in the coming national assembly, and are concentrating their attention on secur- ing a full registration from the labor, professional and socialist organiza- tions.

Registration Period Extended.

In consequence of the great rush to register the period of registration, which expired Tuesday, has been ex- tended for two weeks. Under the new electoral plan by which the workmen's representatives will be merged into general electoral commissions in the provinces and cities there is little chance of an absolute majority for the socialists, but the leaders hope to get enough electors to hold the balance of power and force an alliance and a di- vision of seats with the Constitutional Democrats.

Government Is Acting with Vigor.

During the holidays the pacification of the country has been steadily going forward. By an unsparring use of the military, and wholesale arrests of the leaders of the fighting organizations, the revolutionists have been driven under ground, and have been forced to return to their old methods of assas- sination. Not a day passes without re- ports of the murder of obnoxious of- ficials in several cities. So far St. Pe- tersburg has escaped, owing to the demoralization of the terrorists here and the activity of the police.

Limits of the Revolt.

In addition to the Caucasus and a few localities in Siberia the open re- volt is now chiefly confined to small islands off the Baltic coast where the difficulty of landing troops hampers the subjugation of the revolutionists. The ice-breaker Yermak, carrying detach- ments of marines and infantry, has been unable to reach the principal is- land, Osel, at the entrance of the Gulf of Riga, and is now awaiting a light draft steamer to land the troops. Fol- lowing the example of their brothers on the mainland the peasantry of even the finest islands in the Baltic have instituted independent republics.

CHAPLAIN IS THE FEATURE

Unique Prayers of This Sky Pilot of the Keystone State House of Representatives.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 18.—Chaplain Moore again made his opening pray- er the feature of the day's proceed- ings of the house. In his prayer Tues- day, the chaplain expressed the hope that the legislators who voted for re- form would be re-elected. Yesterday he said:

"Oh! Lord, we commend Thy bless- ing to rest on the dear representatives. We verily believe that there is not a man on this floor that money or politi- cal influence could constrain to pun- cture the dear old constitution of the state. May these representatives quick- ly consummate the legislation of this session, and go to their homes and loved ones and there they can afford to patiently await their judgment day in November."

Will Probe the Fraternal.

LaCrosse, Wis., Jan. 18.—Assembly- man Herman Ekern, secretary of the legislative committee investigating in- surance conditions, announces that it has been decided to investigate the fraternal insurance as well as old-line insurance. The investigation will be thorough.

Another Blow at Foot Ball.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—Upon re- commendation of the state university regents' committee on athletics the reg- ents have endorsed the recent action of the university faculty in condemning the evils of inter-collegiate foot ball, and recommending that a conference of nine universities of the middle west, to meet at Chicago tomorrow declare in favor of suspending inter-collegiate foot ball games for the next two years.

HANDEL'S OBSTINACY.

An Incident of the Great Musician's Childhood Days.

A child's obstinacy does not always bring as fortunate results as was the case with Handel, the great musician. His extraordinary resolution as a boy doubtless led to that great success which crowned the later years of his life. When he was some seven years of age his father had occasion to visit a son by a former wife, who was veiled to the Duke of Saxe Weissenfeld. Traveling in those days—200 years ago—was tedious and expensive, and Dr. Handel did not desire to be delayed with the care of an "infant" during a journey which the demands of a re- sponsible profession would probably make as short as possible.

But the future giant of music would go. He cried, belovely and eventually ran along the road after the vehicle, until the tender feelings of the doctor could refuse no longer. In an evil mo- ment for his jurisprudence scheme he took the child with him. No sooner did the little fellow reach the ducal residence than he gave rein to his fancy on the keys of every in- strument that he found open. The re- markable music that came from the finger tips of the child's hands was soon the object of wonder and conver- sation throughout the palace, and all this was intensified when he secured an opportunity of touching the keys of the church organ within the hearing of the duke.

Such a throb started from that chap- el organ when little Handel's resplend- ing fingers chose the keys, and the soul of the duke was touched as it never had been touched before—truly a momen- tous occurrence, since but for it Han- del's sacred music might never have been written. The duke's attention having been ar- rested, he inquired of Dr. Handel con- cerning the child's future, and eventu- ally succeeded in placing him for three years' study under Zachau, the organ- ist of Halle cathedral. This was the be- ginning of Handel's musical education.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A good many people who call them- selves critics are merely kickers.

Give any man who has paid a com- plete time enough, and he will gratify it.

About the most expensive experi- ence the average man can have is to accept gifts.

As a rule, people do not rebuke you for telling gossip until they have heard all the details.

It is every wife's opinion that her husband needs her to protect him, and his experience later as a widower goes to prove it.

One of these days the man who gets scolded when he complains of his wife's biscuits will drop dead when he hears her apologizing for them to company.—Athenian Globe.

The Poison of Wealth.

Great riches, carrying with them enormous possibilities of self indul- gence, may fairly be considered as a sort of poison which ruins
