Better Stop It.

In the shade of the old apple tree, I've waited so long, love, for thee, that the voice once I heard, grows faint with each word, till its barely a whisper to me. There is no more buzz left in the bee, the blossoms are withered, ah me!—and the tree that once grew where I waited for you has changed to an old chestnut tree. In the shade of an old apple tree where you hear the blame buzz of the bee, with a big carving knife that I swiped from my wife, I am waiting and watching—by gee! Of daggers I have two or three and an ax and a cutlass, you see; and I'll stick all these things in the one who sings "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

"Smokes" for Those Who Smile.

Money doesn't sit around on empty dry goods boxes when it talks. It would be strange if the company a man keeps didn't know him. Lives of great men all remind us how easy it is to be a small man.

Stern realities of life confront the man at the tail end of the procession. It takes brains to get through the world—also to get round on the outside.

America's early settlers are those who pay us promptly the first of each month.

An average girl is never satisfied until she acquires a son-in-law for her mother.

Usually when a man reaches the turn in the lane he finds that it turns in the wrong direction.

Many a man who is capable of giving good advice isn't capable of using it to an advantage in his own business.

A wise man doesn't know everything, but he knows how to obtain information about the things it's necessary for him to know.

Scientists tell us that fish make excellent brain food, but there isn't much consolation in the statement for natural born fools.

A girl isn't an old maid until she begins to worry for fear she'll never get married.

A man isn't an old bachelor until he begins to worry for fear some woman will marry him.

The more business ability a man possesses the harder it is for him to whistle a popular air correctly.

Possibly Solomon's wisdom may have been acquired by association with his numerous mothers-in-law.

Once there was a poor man who attended strictly to his own business—and today he is rich and happy.

It was the husband of a strenuous woman who said that any man ought to be unhappy enough without a wife.

Prosperity has much the same effect on a man as gas has on a balloon, too much of it will result in an explosion.

When a man reaches his second childhood he has no hair and no teeth—and if single has no more sense than to want a wife.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heats and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." F. G. Fricke & Co.

Sentence Sermon Shots.

Deeds cure doubts. The life of your life is the proof of your love. Many a trial is a test before promotion.

Love fills even family jars with perfume. Truth is without value until it is vitalized. The only way to leave the bad is to cleave to the good.

The best social refinement is to be refined of self. The light of the church does not depend on the illness of the saints.

It is easy for the plugs in the race to despise the prizes. The sermon that beats about the bush always finds it barren.

You cannot give a quart of love out of a half-pint heart. There's a lot of difference between a broad mind and a swollen head.

Religion will not keep at all so long as you keep it all to yourself. There are people who never appreciate the rose until they apprehend the thorn.

Unnecessary help is always a sad hindrance. The well of truth would be a good deal cleaner if we would keep our sticks out of it.

Create a little heaven now and you will not need to worry about your credentials for more of it by and by. It always spoils your appetite for life if you let your heart get puckered with pessimism.

Some men think that they are doing a great deal toward remedying this world's wrongs by reciting them. Many saints are poor because their piety is not vigorous enough to stand prosperity.

A Snap for Newspapers.

The newspaper people are the people that get the snaps. We are in the receipt of a proposition from a house up at Detroit that manufactures "Cream Crisp" whatever that may be, in which we are offered a lot of the truck in exchange for advertising, provided we pay $3.50 in cash with the order. We will have to forego the pleasure of eating "Cream Crisp." Corn cakes are good enough for us.

The Evedropper's Mistake.

Some folks have funny ideas. And funny fancies, too. They seem to think that young folks should act as old folks do.

They do not think that they were young. And with each other roamed. The only thing that they regret, They didn't have a 'phone.

And now they stand with long-drawn face Receiver to their ear. And listen to what young folks say. It seems to them most queer.

But they should not regret it. For down comes receiver and, hark! Kind friends, would you believe it. They get to hear us spark.

'Tis then they turn their thoughts, To youthful days of old; And just to be those young folks, They'd give their richest gold.

Kind friends, who always evedrop. There's one thing true as true, The gentlemen with whom we talk Are smarter far than you.

But there is one thing certain, As true as truth itself, That those who always evedrop Never hear good of themselves.

Stop Your

Kicking. Whining. Gossiping. Knocking. Grumbling. Finding fault. Nagging and worrying. Saying that fate is against you. Dwell on fancied slights and wrongs. Scolding and flying into a passion over trifles. Talking continually about yourself and affairs. Thinking that life is a grind and not worth living.

Saying unkind things about your neighbors and friends. Exaggerating and making mountains out of molehills.

Lamenting the past, holding on to disagreeable experience. Pitying yourself and bemoaning your lack of opportunities.

Waiting around for chances to turn up. Go and turn them up. Writing letters when the blood is hot, which you may regret later.

Thinking of yourself to the exclusion of everything and everybody else. Carping and criticizing. See the best rather than the worst in others.

Dreaming that you would be happier in some other place or circumstances. Belittling those whom you envy because you feel that they are superior to yourself.

As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.
