This visit is but a "stop off" as he leaves today for Milwaukee, being a Montana delegate to the M. W. A. national convention. His friends are pleased to note that his health appears very good, giving him a changed appearance that many of his former associates failed to recognize him at first sight.

The Kind of Bride to Possess.

A couple was married in Auburn last week, in which the groom was successful in securing a Dollar-bride, at least that was the name of the young lady—Miss Ada Dollarbride. The circulating medium which will follow this marriage will no doubt be legal tender just the same. A Dollar-bride is a good thing to have around.

ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION!

Mayor Francis W. Brown, the People's Candidate for Congress

IN A BRIEF AND EARNEST ADDRESS

Defines His Position on the Issues that Now Confront the People

BEFORE A MEETING OF COMMITTEEMEN.

Where Mayor Francis W. Brown, of Lincoln, democratic candidate for congress in the First Nebraska district, stands:

He commits himself solemnly, without equivocation or reserve, to the splendid platform on which he was nominated.

He favors prohibiting railroads from issuing free passes to any person not bona fide employees of the railroads.

He endorses the Panama canal order for the purchase of supplies in the cheapest market, and will uphold the president's policy in this regard.

He favors a law giving the president authority to remove the tariff from any article shown to be under the control of the trust.

He favors the absolute prohibition of railroad rebates, and empowering the interstate-commerce commission with the rate-making authority.

Following is the text of Mayor Brown's address delivered before a meeting of the congressional committee at Nebraska City yesterday:

"As you gentlemen know, I did not seek this nomination. Having received it, I shall do my best to win. I have been greatly encouraged by the assurances of support that have come to me. I have received many letters commending our clear declaration of principles. One republican newspaper in Lincoln has frankly admitted that we have the better platform. To that platform I am committed as strongly as any man who values his word can be committed. After all, the people must take some chances in the selection of a public official. Ante-election pledges are frequently broken and frequently made to be broken. If any one who knows me doubts my determination to fulfill my obligations to the letter then I prefer he cast his vote for my opponent. I can afford to be defeated in this contest. I could not afford to violate my word, which I hope I may say without offense has always passed as good among those who know me.

"The platform adopted by the convention which nominated me states the issues briefly and forcefully. As a business man I have been in a position to appreciate the enormity of the evils arraigned in that platform. I know the great wrongs that are built upon the pass system. Men who spend thousands of dollars in the shipment of freight are required to pay their fare, while men who never spend a penny ride free on account of their political influence. The free pass system is an injustice to those who are required to pay their fare. Destroy that system and the railroads can well afford to submit to lower freight and passenger rates. It is an injustice to the shipper to require fare of him while the politician pays not a cent for his transportation.

PASSES AND POLITICAL POWER.

"But the injustice to individuals who pay not only for themselves but also for the deadhead, is small compared to the greater evil of the free passes as the basis for the corporations' political power. It is not enough that the public official be prohibited from accepting a pass. The corporations should be prohibited from giving a pass to any individuals save bona fide employees. Where one public official is influenced by a free pass, hundreds of private citizens with political influence are persuaded, with a pasteboard courtesy, either to directly aid the corporation in winning political power or to give such aid indirectly by relaxing the efforts they should make in behalf of popular government.

"The corporation is entitled to protection by the law and deserves consideration at the hands of the public officials equally and exactly as other interests are. Because the common carrier depends upon the law for its privileges, as it does for its life, the rules to which it must conform must be laid down by those who act in the public interest and with due regard for the rights of the corporation rather than by those who owe their election to corporation agencies, and who are, therefore, the representatives of special interests rather than the servants of the people. The abolition of the free pass system will do much to establish reform.

"It is significant that my opponent is silent on the question raised by Secretary Taft's order to buy Panama canal supplies in other markets if such a course be necessary to avoid extortionate prices by the American manufacturers. This is a very important question; for the members of congress chosen July 18 will be called upon to take his stand for or against this order. It was recently announced that the advocates of the high tariff would defy President Roosevelt in this matter, and that congress would prevent him from carrying out his plans to avoid the extortions by the trusts. If elected, I will vote and labor for the support of the president in this matter. I will vote and labor for the destruction of what our Iowa friends call "the shelter the trusts find in the tariff."

NO TARIFF SHELTER TO TRUSTS.

"I will vote and labor to the end that the tariff wall around this country shall not be so high as to permit men to extort unfair prices from the government; I shall insist also that the rule which Mr. Roosevelt has, in the Taft order, laid down for the benefit of the government, shall be followed for the benefit of the individual consumer. I shall favor a law which will give the president authority to remove the tariff from any article which, after proper inquiry, shall be found to be the subject of trust agreement or the product of a combination coming under the definition of "conspiracy in restraint of trade."

"As a business man and an extensive shipper I know the importance of a law prohibiting rebates and giving to the interstate-commerce commission the power to fix rates. During my business career in Nebraska I have paid in freight more than a half million dollars and have not received one dollar in rebates. I shall vote and labor for a bill to abolish rebates and to give to the interstate-commerce commission the power to fix rebates. That bill should provide that when the rate is fixed it shall go into effect immediately, and so remain unless it is destroyed by the supreme court. I shall strive for action on this subject at the coming regular session or at the special session should a special session be called. At all events, I shall protest against delay and shall do my part to obtain relief for the public at an early day.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

"I realize that in this contest my opponent will have the strong support of every corporation against whose special privileges the platform upon which I was nominated strikes. I know it will be no easy task to overcome these powerful influences, but I have determined to appeal to the people of this district conscious of the rectitude of my intentions and confident of the necessity for relief.

"While my whole life has been devoted to business affairs and I am not accustomed to making speeches, I intend to see as many people as possible between now and election day. I hope to make it known to every voter in the district exactly where I stand on the great questions with whose importance I am deeply impressed. If they think my opponent can serve them better than I can, I shall accept the verdict without a murmur. If they choose me as their representative, I promise them that I will never knowingly do anything to cause them to regret the vote they cast in my behalf."

NEBRASKA CITY is arranging to accommodate a very large crowd of people on the Fourth, and if we don't miss our guess she will have the largest gathering in the history of the old berg. They extend a most cordial invitation to Plattsmouth people.
