MR. BROWN HAS HAD ENOUGH

He Is Not Hanking After Another Congressional Contest.

Mayor Brown, of Lincoln, late democratic candidate for congress, explained to the Lincoln Journal yesterday that when he said the night before that the special congressional election held on Tuesday last was but a trial heat and that it was all illegal, that he was merely joking and that he did not mean that he would insist on another battle of the ballots to fill this office.
He said further:

"I made my run and I have had enough. The nomination was forced on me and put up to me in such a way that I could not decline it. I never wanted to run for congress and I realized all the time that in the first district a democrat had no show. The pops did not vote for me and some democrats did not vote at all. I got a number of republican votes. You may say for me that I do not want another congressional contest. If a man wins the office is not worth the effort.

"A personal friend of Mayor Brown and a man who had something to do with the mayor's campaign, said that the populists have left the democrats and that they are voting the republican ticket now."

This paper does not believe what this personal friend of Mayor Brown says. The populists in Lancaster county might have left the democratic party, but in this county we know of several as true populists as ever breathed the breath of life who voted for Mr. Brown, and that money can't induce them to vote with the republican party. They are of that class, however, who are honest in their convictions, and would rather remain away from the polls than go and vote for a republican who endorses the protective tariff and trust ridden party.

As one of the oldest populists in this county remarked yesterday morning, "I voted for President Roosevelt because I thought he would stick to his text more closely, but I am afraid he is backsliding to a considerable extent and will eventually fall into the hands of the enemies of good government."

No true populist can act with the republican party and be true to his principles.

Feel Impending Doom.

The feeling of impending doom in the minds of many victims of Bright's disease and diabetes have been changed to thankfulness by the benefit derived from taking Foley's Kidney Cure it will cure incipient Bright's disease and diabetes and even in the worst cases gives comfort and relief. Slight disorders are cured in a few days. "I had diabetes in its worst form," writes

REUNION OF OLD NEIGHBORS

Plattsmouth People on the Pacific Coast Enjoy Themselves on the Fourth.

Some good friends among the large number of Plattsmouth people who now reside on the Pacific Coast sends the Journal a copy of the Long Beach (Cal.) Daily Press, giving the following account of a reunion of a large number of former residents of this city who are now making their homes at various points in California. Some of these people have resided in that state for several years, while others have gone there within the past year.
They, no doubt, enjoyed the meeting, and talked over Plattsmouth, her people, and especially friends of former days:

"On the Fourth of July M. E. Murphy and family of this city gave a picnic party on the beach to a party of people now in California, all of whom were former residents of Plattsmouth, Cass county, Nebraska. They had a very delightful time. In the party were: Arthur Clark, wife and family; J. Finley Johnson, wife and son; Benton Brown, wife and family; Frank T.
Davis, wife and family; Wade Davis, wife and family; James Patterson, wife and family; Robert Brown and Thomas Brown, all of Los Angeles; Morgan Brown, wife and family, of Riverside; L. D. Bennett and wife, Arthur Helps and wife, Charles B.
Murphy, wife and son, M. B. Murphy and wife, all of Long Beach. The only guest not from Plattsmouth was Miss M. J. Ableson, a teacher in a college in Colorado, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Murphy."

Cass County is Wealthy.

The county treasurer's report for the six months ending July 1, 1905, has just been issued and is of a most satisfactory nature.

The balance on hand is $94,941.68.
Only $2,245.01 of this is state money.

Two years ago, July 1, 1903, there was a balance of $70,573.12 but against this there was about $20,000 of outstanding registered warrants.

At present there are no outstanding warrants. They have all been paid off.
The county owes not a penny and has over $90,000 in its treasury.

The general fund of the county has $21,025.20 and the school fund $25,521-92.

The total receipts for the six months covered by this report were $177,688-40.

A Novel Marriage Ceremony.

A gentleman who had brought in the election returns from one of the western precincts, was in the Journal office last night, and in talking with a number of other gentlemen, related the following story which he says is the fact: Last fall we elected a justice of the peace who never had served in that capacity. He didn't want the office, but was finally induced to accept the nomination on both tickets and of course was unanimously elected.

As soon as he was elected, he began to study up, and get ready for business.
Just about the time he thought he had prepared himself good and ready for business, along comes a young man to secure his services in performing a marriage ceremony. This was the first call for business, and he had never dreamed of marrying anyone, but he being told the young man he would be on hand at the time designated for the happy event. The day arrived, and believing that he had gotten the words to use down pat, he donned his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and proceeded to the home of the parents of the bride. Quite a large number of guests had already arrived when the justice got there. When he looked around and saw the number of those in attendance he began to get a little nervous, but determined at all hazards to perform his mission. Finally everything was in readiness, and when the bridal couple and attendants filed in, he bravely met them in the center of the room and proceeded: "Do you each solemnly swear that you will obey the constitution of the United States and of the great state of Nebraska, and to perform your duties to the best of your ability, so help you, God?"

Here a sort of a snicker was heard, but notwithstanding the justice got red in the face, he went on: "Then by the power in me rested, by the strong arm of law, I pronounce you man and wife, now and henceforth and forever you will stand committed until the fine and costs are paid, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls." The ceremony stood just the same, but it had several moments after refreshments were served before he was told of his error. He thought when the laugh went around the room, it was simply a part of the congratulations extended to the happy couple. But our informant says he has married several couples since, and has done the work like an old hand at the business.

RATHER A TOUGH ELEMENT

That Which Accompanied the Excursionists From Omaha Sunday.

SHERIFF McBRIDE ARRESTS ONE MAN

About Fifteen Gambling Devices Were Kept From Opening Up.

PLENTY OF AMUSEMENT FOR EVERYONE

Two special trains arrived over the Missouri Pacific railroad Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, bringing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen excursion from Omaha. The trains stopped at Streight's pasture, about two miles north of town, and everybody alighted and hastened to the shady groves.

There everything had a picnic appearance. Tulene Bros. merry-go-round was already in operation, and a dancing floor, about 40 feet square, had been constructed. Next in importance was the booze dispensary, where several waiters were kept jumping all day supplying the thirsty. The gypsies were there with two tents and half a dozen children and dogs. Then there was the shooting gallery lady and the hit-the-nigger, baby-with-the-base-ball device, the roast beef sandwich man, the man selling pink lemonade out of a galvanized iron tub, and the paper fan man, and all the rest of the picnic attendants.

The Tri-city band of fifteen pieces came along from Omaha and furnished music for the dancing all day long.
From 2 till 4 o'clock the athletic events were contested. There were about 20 events altogether, including, beside the time honored fat man's race, sack race, potato race, etc., and the prize for the best waltzers.

There were probably 1,500 people on the grounds, half of whom came from Omaha, the other half from Plattsmouth and the neighboring farms.
Several carriages were busy all day carrying people to and from the grounds; scores of buggies and carriages made the trip, and many walked out.

The crowd that came from Omaha had a large sprinkling of the tough element. Not more than half of them were railroad men. Those in charge of the affair had made arrangements several weeks ago with Sheriff McBride to pay him for the services of three deputy sheriffs for duty at the picnic.
Accordingly he appointed R. W. Hyres, Mr. Petty and Nels Murray. The sheriff and his deputies reached the grounds an hour after the trains arrived. At that time they found fifteen gambling devices, some in course of installment, others already running.
There was everything, from the roulette wheel to the time honored three shell game.

The sheriff closed all the gambling devices as soon as he reached the grounds. There was a storm of protest, but McBride was not to be put off or circumvented. Three negroes, who had erected a crap shooting shrine some distance from the ground behind a clump of trees, were not discovered for a short time, but they, too, were eventually closed up. Sheriff McBride and his deputies stayed there all day and kept order. In the evening those in charge refused to pay for their services because they had compelled the gamblers to close up.

Railroad men as a class are law abiding, generous people, but when they allow their outings and picnics to be overrun by the tough and lawless element of a city they do themselves a great injustice, and appear in a false light.

In spite of this the day passed without much friction. The shooting gallery lady caused some excitement toward evening when she discovered that two prize "gold" watches were missing. But these were found later on the person of her husband, who was sleeping on the neighboring hillside.

The party broke up about dusk, and by 9 o'clock the grounds were deserted.

on election day, but not over politics.
Jake, it seems, was scooping corn to Latfer's shelter and the latter claimed he was choking it or over throwing, while Jake claimed it was another scooper. From mild discussion and sharp repartee things went to physical argument, reaching that interesting climax near Sturzenegger's store.
The younger man, Jake, was having the best of the fray when the bystanders interfered and held results down to the minimum of a black eye and a bloody nose, each combatant being wonderfully cooled, temperamentally speaking, and ready to suspend hostilities until cooler weather.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when
