Of Course You Seen 'Em.

Ever seen a lot of men who had in for a fellow and didn't know why? Ever hear fellows curse and berate some man who had made a success of what he had undertaken while they were tinkering with the same job they monkeyed with 15 years ago? Ever see some men who gloried in another's success and sacrificed, if need be, some personal ambition to gratify friend's aspirations? Ever see some big hearted man take a struggler by the hand and say, "I'm glad to see you succeed"? Ever see any of those things? Of course you have.

You see them every day. There are dozens of people that will greet you with a smile and stab you in the back because you attend to your business and succeed. Whether they can do as well or not, there are always plenty of them whose jealous spirit makes it hard for them to see another win. They fight you for no other reason than to tear you down.

If you have a reputation that is gilt edged they'll support a self-confessed scoundrel and dead beat rather than recognize your commendable qualities. In short, no one has hit the mark any closer than Shakespeare when he said: "You have enemies who know not why they are, but, like the village cur, bark because their fellows do."

Forced to Starve.

MISS ELLA OFF, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

SUFFERED FOR MONTHS.

Pe-ru-na, the Remedy That Cured.

Miss Ella Off, 1127 Linden St., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I suffered with a run down constitution for several months, and feared that I would have to give up my work. On seeking the advice of a physician, he prescribed a tonic. I found, however, that it did me no good. On seeking the advice of our druggist, he asked me to try Pe-ru-na. In a few weeks I began to feel and act like a different person. My appetite increased, I did not have that worn-out feeling, and I could sleep splendidly. In a couple of months I was entirely recovered. I thank you for what your medicine has done for me."—Ella Off.

Telephone Eavesdropping.

Something in the way of a training in telephone ethics or telephone manners is very much needed in Nebraska party lines, says the Lincoln Journal, to judge from the comments that occasionally creep into the country press. People who would hardly think of eavesdropping with ear to keyhole are said to keep their ears to the telephone receiver when others on the line are talking, with no thought of the similarity between the two acts. Moreover, persons who would not think of "butting in" to a private conversation between two persons on the street frequently consider it altogether right and proper to interrupt others when they are using the phone. The result is that users of the party lines, when they have information to convey that is not desired to be public property, are compelled to hitch up the sorrel pony or to write a letter, after the slow, old-fashioned way. Whenever there is a general need of any class of knowledge it is customary to say that should be made a subject for study in the schools. In accordance with this time honored practice, it is hereby suggested that telephone manners be made the subject of a daily recitation in the country schools, and that a chair of telephone ethics be established at the state university.

Receives His Credentials.

Dr. C. E. Cook received notice Tuesday from national camp headquarters of his appointment as head physician for the state of Nebraska. At a recent meeting of the Woodman State camp it will be remembered that after a hard tussle Dr. Cook was recommended for this position. There were several very prominent physicians who were candidates, but Dr. Cook's friends won out. The position could not have been placed in more competent hands, and the Journal joins his many friends in extending congratulations.

The following reference to the marriage was taken from the Brookings paper: "About 10 o'clock about twenty men and boys armed with tin pans, etc., proceeded to the abode of the bride and groom and made more noise than a boiler factory." The Journal joins the Cass county friends of the bride and groom in wishing happiness and prosperity.
