On Saturday last, some person who preferred to keep his or her name from the public, sent to the World-Herald a touching piece of verse, which is worthy of reproduction here: "A noble Northland mother—a martyr to Carib's isle. With heart too full of tenderness, too free from taint and guile To bear the sickening sights that met her watchful eyes."

As Bert Thrasher was coming down the Fifth street hill this morning he stumbled and fell, striking his hand on the sharp end of a protruding nail which buried itself deep in the palm.

LOOKING BACKWARD FOR SEVEAL YEARS

The Great Cuban Struggle for Liberty in 1898, Still Fresh in Many Minds.

Mrs. John M. Thurston, the Martyress.

[Clipping from the World-Herald of date March 23, 1899, and copied by permission from Judge Ramsey's historic "Scrap Book."] Readers of the Journal will recall the great struggle of the Cuban patriots against Spain for their freedom and the appeal for help to the great-hearted people of the United States.

A FITTING MEMORIAL TO MRS. THURSTON

(World-Herald, March 23, 1898.) "The best and kindest tribute which the people of Nebraska can pay the memory of that good Nebraska woman whose death was largely attributed to the impressions made upon her tender heart by the sufferings of the Cuban people, is to do effective work in alleviating the widespread distress on that island."

"It is now very evident that Nebraska's contributions to the Cubans will be enormously large and the World-Herald proposes that this contribution shall be forwarded to Cuba, dedicated by generous hearts to the cause of humanity and contributed with tender affection as a fitting memorial to the late Martha Lydia Poland Thurston. Those who were well acquainted with Mrs. Thurston need not be told that she was a woman who would value such a tribute beyond the most colossal stone that could be erected to her memory."

THE SAD STORY RENEWED

Some of the Friends of the Late I. R. Andrews Claim to Have Seen Him the Next Evening After His Disappearance.

DID HE MEET WITH FOUL PLAY?

Mrs. Andrews Yet Firm in the Conviction That He Undoubtedly Was.

No sooner does the mystery surrounding the death of the ill-fated I. R. Andrews wane, than some one comes forward with a "cock and bull story," and revives the sad story of his death and also adds that of his being seen here and there a day or two after he left the camp to go out hunting. The entire story of his leaving the stone quarry, the search for him of several days and the finding of his body in the Platte river has been told in the columns of the Journal, yet there seems to be a belief among some of his friends in Omaha and with Mrs. Andrews that Mr. Andrews was foully dealt with. Here comes the stories of his being seen by prominent men who claim to have been intimately acquainted with the deceased, which we clip from the Mercury, a weekly paper published in Omaha:

"Saturday evening he was seen by three men standing on the platform of the Burlington station at Ashland. They insist that there is no possibility of their having been mistaken. They are: Frank W. Coleman, clerk of the supreme court at Lincoln, who states that he shook hands with Mr. Andrews; E. H. Stevens, a Lincoln contractor, and Prof. Beattie of Cotner University, Lincoln.

"Sunday morning he was seen in Omaha by three men: F. W. Fitch, deputy county attorney, who claims he saw him on the rear platform of a Farnam car shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning. He was then dressed as usual and waived his cane at Mr. Fitch by way of salutation; and Theo. H. Johnson, of the Robert Dempster Company, who saw Mr. Andrews on Sixteenth street, and John S. Dingman, ex-constable, who walked north on Sixteenth street with Mr. Andrews about 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

"These six men are positive in their statements, and their veracity is unquestioned. Yet his former partner, H. C. Brome, insists that during the time when he was thus seen by these men, Mr. Andrews' clothes, as also his walking stick and grip, were in the cabin at Cedar Creek.

"Tuesday night, two days after it is claimed he had been seen by these six men, his body was found in the Platte river, near Cedar Creek, so badly decomposed that upon being removed from the river the flesh of one of his cheeks sloughed off, and the condition of the body showed that he had been dead a much longer time than the two days' interval.

"These, briefly stated, are the facts as elicited at the coroner's inquest. That they are contradictory, no one denies. And all attempts to reconcile them have so far proven futile.

"His wife, Mrs. Mary Gerard Andrews, is the president of the Omaha Woman's Club. She is most favorably known to the people of Omaha. She insists that there has been foul play. Her reasons, she admits, will not bear scrutiny. But she is firmly convinced, either by actual knowledge of enemies who might dog her husband's footsteps, or because of intuition, that he is the victim of a cowardly murder. She says:

"My feeling that it was not an accident is as strong as my feeling that he was not seen at Ashland last Saturday evening. And yet we had belief that is supported by reasons which I must not disclose at this time. The strange thing is that I have felt from the outset that he was going toward the river and was followed along the railroad track in that direction by a man. This notion, if you please to call it such, was contrary to what we were told at the cabin near Cedar Creek. We were told that he went in the opposite direction from the direction I believed he went."

Quite a number from this section went to Plattsmouth on the 2 to attend the M. W. A. picnic but were disappointed owing to the rain. But we will go again on the 24th if they will promise us a fine day.

Rev. Spriguel preached his 25th anniversary sermon at the German Lutheran church Sunday. He was assisted by Rev. Miller of Eagle. The members presented the pastor with a gold watch and a fine rocking chair, which he received with thanks.

The Only Way.

There is no way to maintain health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet or the strength will let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour risings, rifting, indigestion, dyspepsia, and all stomach troubles that are curable are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Kodol digests what you eat and strengthens the whole digestive apparatus. F. G. Fricke & Co., Gering & Co.

A Family Affair.

Judge Ramsey is in receipt of an invitation to attend a reunion of the Ramsey family at Dallas, Texas, on October 5, 1905. The invitation is from Mrs. Cora Ramsey-Womack, vice president for Texas of the "National Ramsey Family Organization." The circular with the invitation contains the following: "October 5, 1905, has been designated as Ramsay Day, by the State Fair association and the Ramsay family will hold a public meeting on the fair grounds on the above date. The meeting will be held in the new exhibition hall at 10:30 a. m.

There will be a preliminary meeting at 4 p. m. Wednesday, October 4th. There was a national organization formed at St. Louis, August 26, 1904, with twenty-seven states represented. The Arlington hotel will be headquarters for the Ramsay Family association during the meeting. All are invited to attend this reunion.

In County Court.

Miss Bertha Hofmeister, daughter of Hofmeister, who was killed by a Rock Island train at South Bend a few weeks ago filed a petition in county court today asking that she be appointed administratrix of the estate, there being no will. The property left by deceased amounts to about $700 and there are five heirs.

The estate of Moses Haslam was opened to allow the filing of a claim by E. M. Monson for $232.

A petition was filed by the widow of Jacob S. Strickland lately deceased asking that her son, Joseph A. G. Strickland, of Elmwood, be appointed administrator of the heirs. There are five heirs and the property amounts to about $16,000.

Crawford Brought Back.

Sheriff McBride arrived home yesterday afternoon from Cheyenne, Wyo., bringing with him Jack Crawford to answer to a charge of forgery. The prisoner is a very tall man with a sandy moustache. He wore the shoes and hat which he secured from Westcott's store on the forged note. The suit he had in a small telescope valise which he carried. He was not handcuffed. Crawford was placed in the county jail to await trial. He admits the forgery.

Many improvements have been made at the State Fisheries. A new cement floor has been laid in the hatcheries building and a cement walk from there to the spring house; swings, seats and tables are scattered through the grove which adds much to the beauty as well as comfort of the place.

Given Up to Die.

E. Spiegel, 1294 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."—F. T. Fricke & Co.

Prairie View.

A number of little Lillian Spangler's friends gathered at her home Tuesday afternoon and gave her a pleasant surprise, in honor of her fifth birthday. They were delightfully served with ice cream, cake, candies and fruits. Many thanks to her mamma.

Mr. Henry Spangler has been seriously ill this week.

H. W. Rist and daughter, Maud, attended the Greenwood chautauque last Saturday.

Bob Fitch made his usual visit to these parts last Sunday, but a little earlier in the day than common, in order that he and Miss Nelson might take dinner with her brother east of Murray.

Most of the farmers in this vicinity have threshed their grain.

Mrs. Mary Taylor departed last week for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ed Furlong, at Denver.

Miss Ida Pitz is greatly missed, not only by her cousins, Edith and Julius, but her many friends as well.

We notice George Berger is carrying his face in a sling—from nothing more or less than the extraction of a tooth.

Mrs. Nelson and her daughters, Bertha and Doris, spent Monday afternoon with Miss Edith Pitz.

Week from Sunday will be Rev. T. K. Surface's last appointment at Liberty.

Mrs. Maxwell, from Fremont, arrived here yesterday, she was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Livingston, who is very ill.

George Spangler and wife of Lincoln, and Will Spangler and wife, of Weeping Water, are here helping to care for their sick father.

How to Avoid Appendicitis.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes.—F. G. Fricke & Co.

Republican County Convention.

The republican county central committee met in Weeping Water yesterday and set Saturday, September 9, as the date for holding their convention to select delegates to the state convention and also nominate a county ticket. The convention will be composed of 22 delegates and the convention will be held at Weeping Water.
