

THE OLD, OLD STORY AGAIN

Glenwood Girl Arrested at Council Bluffs to Prevent Her Downward Career.

A PICTURE OF EVERY DAY VISIBILITY

Another Lesson to Young Girls Who Tire of the Comforts of Home Life.

The following is clipped from the Council Bluffs department of the Omaha World-Herald:

"Laura Byers, a young woman whose father and mother are said to reside in Glenwood, was arrested at an early hour Tuesday morning in apartments where she has been living, on West Broadway. Another white girl, giving the name of Minnie Wheeler, was also placed under arrest, together with Leonard J. Bartlett, a negro. All are charged with lewdness.

"The arrest of the Byers girl was made in response to letters from relatives asking if something could not be done to prevent her from continuing the life she was leading. Investigations by the police showed that the girl was living with a negro in the same apartments with the Wheeler woman and Bartlett, and the arrest of the three followed."

The above contains enough for a wholesome lecture to all young girls who become restless with their situation in life and long for a more exciting one, which generally results the same as this one has resulted.

Here is a young woman whose home is in Glenwood, Ia., where the name of her family is a household word and one of the most respectable in Mills county. With a loving father and mother, who furnished her with all the comforts that any ordinary child could possibly wish, she becomes dissatisfied with her lot and flees from her home from that parental roof under which she first drew the breath of life—where she was tenderly reared to womanhood, receiving the care of those loving hearts—she would thus tear from their very breasts. Could young girls who thus tire of home life but realize the full meaning of the step they are taking, and the disastrous results that always follow, there would be a sudden halt caused; could they fully contemplate the full meaning of fleeing from home and loving father and mother, they would not take such a step. There is no girl that can find just cause for such an act. They should know that when they leave their own hearthstone and commence a life in the large cities, they are constantly thrown into the society of all classes of people, and if she presents even a fair appearance and is known to be alone, her downfall is eagerly sought and soon accomplished.

Column after column could be written on this subject, but it is the desire of the Journal to pen a few thoughts only in the hope that they may prevent some other girls who contemplate "taking a leap in the dark" from doing so. Whenever they begin to think of doing so, let them remember that "Let it be ever so humble There's no place like home."

You may not have everything you want, but if you are blessed with loving parents who are ever ready and willing to provide you with everything in their power, respect them with the return of such a love as to make your home not only a blessing to them, but also a blessing to yourself. Only look around you and notice how many other girls who are not nearly so comfortably fixed as you are, but who are happy in the thought that they have a father and mother with them.

We hope that all young girls will peruse these lines and apply them for just what they are worth, and seriously contemplate how many fathers and mothers are now filling graves occasioned from broken hearts because of the acts of wayward daughters. And if this article should cause the salvation of even one young girl, cause her to retrace the steps she has taken, or prevent one from pursuing such a life, its mission has served a good purpose.

Return From Kansas City.

C. E. Cook and Walt Valley returned from Kansas City Tuesday, where they have been for nearly three weeks receiving treatment from Dr. Minor, the celebrated specialist. They are both feeling like "fighting cocks," and agree that Dr. Minor is one of the most wonderful healers in the country. They both carry a certificate from him stating that they are entirely cured of their ailment. There are about one thousand patients at this hospital.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. F. G. Fricke & Co.

Will Change.

An Auburn dispatch says: For years there has been talk in railway circles of moving the freight division from this place to Falls City. At last it has been arranged that the Auburn Omaha Missouri Pacific train leaving here at 9 a. m. and returning at 7 p. m., will be run to Falls City where it will make headquarters, laying over Sunday in that place. The train is known all over Nebraska as the "Daisy Dean" train, W. R. Dean, the engineer, having acquired considerable fame some years ago on this run by opening up the engine and running through a mob who were trying to hold up the train near South Omaha. The train running between Atchison and Hiawatha will also be run to Falls City. No schedule as to the time or connections these trains will make has been made public.

BIG BRIDGE IN DANGER

Missouri River Seeking a New Channel at Rulo, Neb.

A special from Rulo, Neb., says: "About $500,000 worth of government riprap work is about to go into the river about one and one-half miles northeast of town. This work was done but a short time ago and the railroad company is keeping their eyes upon it steadily. The land is being washed away rapidly and is nearing the K. C. track. Just a few more feet and $500,000 worth of government riprap work will be useless, the railroad company will be compelled to lay four miles of new track, and the Missouri river will break through into the big lake and change its course enough to make the million dollar bridge which crosses here stand over a lake and the company will be compelled to either build a new bridge or move this one where the river chooses to flow. The company is doing all that is possible to save things as they are.

"The railroad company is spending $100,000 in ripping the river east of town. They have a force of men at work under the general supervision of Mr. Scott, a well qualified railroad man who is well acquainted with the Missouri's ways."

New Bank for Manley.

Jno. A. Donelan informs us that within sixty days he expects to have a bank opened in Manley, Neb., that the contract for the building has been let, and the site will be on the corner just west of Theo. Harms, store. The capitalization of the new institution is $5,000 and the officers as follows: J. A. Donelan, president; C. W. Bish, vice president; W. Bish, cashier. The latter gentleman is a brother of C. W. Bish.

Manley is a good point, there is lots of grain marketed there, farmers are well off and raise lots of stock, and we predict for the new institution success from the start.—Weeping Water Herald.

Two Farms Change Hands.

Last Saturday Jacob Domingo purchased of Isaac Wiles the 160-acre farm just east of Mr. Domingo's, paying for the same $80 per acre, and the latter sold his farm three and one-half miles southwest of town, consisting of 160 acres, for $80 per acre to Mr. John Domingo. J. P. Johnson resides on the latter farm, and will continue under the present ownership.—Weeping Water Herald.

MISSOURI PACIFIC WRECK

The Fast Mail Train Hurlled From Trestle Near Gasconade, Missouri.

A special from St. Louis under date of yesterday gives the following particulars of the wreck of the fast mail on the Missouri Pacific yesterday morning:

"A Missouri Pacific fast mail train, that left at 3 o'clock this morning for Kansas City, was wrecked on a bridge near Gasconade, Mo., about 5 o'clock. The train and bridge were both destroyed, and five men were injured.

"Gasconade was the scene of the historic wreck of fifty years ago in which 200 lives were lost.

"The train caught fire. Two mail cars left the track, one partially. Much mail also is said to have been burned. Two other mail cars were thrown from a high embankment at the bridge approach to the ground, forty feet below. The train carried no passengers.

"The schedule requires a high rate of speed and it is said the train was running close to sixty miles per hour when the engine struck a defect in the track and jumped the rails.

"Traveling Engineer E. C. Clifford was riding in the engine with Engineer W. P. Marvin and Fireman Frank Martin. Two of Martin's ribs were broken. He probably was the most seriously injured.

"Conductor J. O. Burch, in one of the mail cars, was bruised, as was brakeman S. P. Montague. The mail clerks insisted they were only scratched, and worked in an attempt to save the mail from the burning cars. It is said little was saved."

THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR

Shall We Organize a Joint Stock Company to Explore for Coal?

MR. THOMAS FAVORS THE MOVE

Says He Will Lease the Land to a Home Company, but no Outsiders Need Apply.

Since the testing of the quality of coal discovered on the farm of J. W. Thomas, south of town, the question of exploring more extensively has been a subject of much concern to many of our citizens, especially those who are directly interested in the welfare of Plattsmouth, and the going down deeper into the bowels of Mother Earth, is much talked of.

Mr. Thomas was a caller at the Journal office Tuesday, and in an interview with him he told our reporter that he would willingly lease the land to a company formed here at home for the purpose of exploring further the grounds upon which the discovery was made. Mr. Thomas does not feel able to bear the expense of doing so himself but will do his part in connection with a company organized for that purpose.

The Journal is also informed that Mr. Coates is ready and willing to take stock in such a proposition, and we believe there are numerous others who will "show their hands" if it is deemed wise to do further prospecting on Mr. Thomas' place.

The Journal can see no reason why our citizens cannot invest a few dollars on the venture, anyway. Let us organize a company to start with, say of fifty, and let each one of these fifty pay into the treasury of such company ten dollars each, and by the time this sum ($500) is expended there will be something crop out for good or bad, and if not for the best the proposition can be abandoned. This will not cost any one person very much and then we will have the satisfaction of knowing whether or not what we are after is there. Mr. Thomas can lease his land to persons outside of town, but he says if there is anything there worth going after he wants his own town people to have the benefit of what there is in it.

Received Bids.

The county clerk has received bids from the following on the county bridge work for the ensuing year: Inter-State Bridge Company, Council Bluffs; John Gillian, Falls City; Thompson & Heacock, Springfield; Red Oak Bridge and Iron Works, Omaha; Sheely Bridge Company, Lincoln; Wm. Lana, Harlan, Ia. The bids will be opened at the next meeting of the county commissioners which will be the 20th of this month.

The Teachers' Meeting.

The County Teachers' association, which met at Louisville Saturday, was exceedingly well attended, and a very interesting program was heard by those present.

Prof. E. L. Rouse had a very instructive paper on "The teacher of the immediate future under the new law," following the reading of which, an active discussion of the new law was participated in by all. Miss Canaday gave an extremely interesting address on the subject, "Grammar—How shall we teach it?"

Mr. Dimmick, the principal of the Avoca schools, gave "Some Suggestions in Teaching Arithmetic," which was well received, and was followed by a paper on "Should Bookkeeping be Taught in the Public Schools?" read by Miss Alice Sherman.

County Superintendent Gamble closed the meeting with an address on "The Certification of Teachers Under the New Law."

Thirty-first Anniversary.

On February 11 the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Tritsch was the scene of a very pleasant affair, the brothers, sisters and friends of Mrs. Tritsch coming to help her celebrate her 31st anniversary.

All the guests enjoyed a sumptuous birthday dinner, and spent the rest of the day in social conversation until the late hours of the evening called them to their different homes. At their departure the guests expressed themselves as having enjoyed the day, and wished Mrs. Tritsch many happy returns of the day.

Those who enjoyed the pleasant affair were: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Keil, Mr. and Mrs. Will Keil and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keil, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Tritsch and family, Mr. Louie Keil, Misses Christina Schroeder, Olga Keil, Josephine Yelinek, Ethel and Beatrice Seybert.

A Deserved Promotion.

Roy Kirkpatrick came down from Omaha Thursday for a visit with his parents between trains, and returned on the evening train, and the same night left for Tacoma, Wash., where he goes as a representative of the interests of the Burlington and Great Northern railroads. This is a fine promotion for the young gentleman, and we know he will make good.—Nehawka Register.

The Funeral of Leta Lessel.

The funeral of Leta Lessel, whose death was chronicled in Monday's Journal, occurred at Union Tuesday afternoon. Many friends from Lincoln, Omaha and Plattsmouth were in attendance, bringing with them beautiful floral tributes. Those who attended from Plattsmouth were: Mrs. Julius Hall, Mrs. E. E. Hilton, Mr. Long and J. C. Coleman. The little girl was only eight years of age, instead of eleven, as we had it yesterday. Leta was loved by all who knew her, and the large attendance at her funeral was evidence of the high esteem in which she, as well as the afflicted parents, are held by their many friends.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MILLER

Former Plattsmouth Lady Whose Death Occurred in Lincoln Buried Here This Morning.

The funeral of Mrs. David Miller occurred at 11 o'clock Wednesday from the residence of F. A. Murphy, on Chicago avenue. The remains were brought from Lincoln by the relatives, being met by a number of sorrowing friends at the depot. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Baird, who paid beautiful tribute to the character of the departed lady, whose pastor he had been for so many years. Rev. Salisbury assisted Dr. Baird with prayer and scriptural reading. Appropriate music was furnished by members of the Presbyterian choir, including "Rock of Ages," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."

She was laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery, being followed to the silent city by a large number of life-long friends, who remembered her with affection and attested their esteem by beautiful floral tokens on her bier.

The pall bearers were: S. M. Chapman, W. D. Jones, J. W. Johnson, John Waterman, F. M. Richey and J. N. Wise.

All the near relatives were at her deathbed and funeral, except the two sisters in the far west, and many other friends from a distance were present at the last sad rites.

OBITUARY.

Martha Young Mitchell was the daughter of Thomas Mitchell, a pioneer resident of Plattsmouth who died about six years ago. She was born in Ohio August 8, 1848, and came to Plattsmouth in May, 1857, where, with brothers and sisters she grew to womanhood, and where most of her life had been spent. Upon the death of her mother in 1861 she became her father's housekeeper, acting as such until 1867 when she was married to Wm. W. Irish. From this marriage two children were born and survive their mother—Mrs. Bird Eigenbroadt of Lincoln, and Frank W. Irish of Alliance.

After several years of widowhood, Mrs. Irish was married in April, 1873, to David Miller, and to them were born three children, only one of whom, Thomas E., is living.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller lived in Plattsmouth until about five years ago, when, for Mr. Miller's health, they removed to Deadwood where they resided until Mrs. Miller's last illness came upon her early last fall. Then Mr. Miller brought her to Lincoln for the benefit of superior medical aid, but her malady developed into the deadly form beyond human skill to remedy, and it soon was made known that nothing remained but to ease the physical suffering as much as possible and await the fast approaching end. During her conscious moments, as her life ebbed, deceased anticipated death with a calm fortitude born of true Christian faith, and when the death angel arrived, at 8 a. m. Monday, February 12th, it was a willing spirit which took its flight into the Great Unknown.

Deceased leaves, besides her husband, two sons, Frank W. Irish, of Alliance, and Thomas E. Miller, of Pueblo; one daughter, Mrs. Eigenbroadt, of Lincoln; two sisters and two brothers, namely: Mrs. Carter, of Salt Lake City; Mrs. M. B. Murphy, of Long Beach, Cal.; James Mitchell, of Omaha, and Rev. George Mitchell, of the Congregational church at Clarks, Neb., besides numerous other relatives—nieces and nephews, with whom "Aunt Mitt" was a great favorite, and to whom her coming had always been a source of pleasure.

Mrs. Miller had been an earnest Presbyterian since early womanhood, and her religion was of that broad kind which finds expression in charity of word and deed, and in doing good without ostentation. Her joys were shared happily, her sorrows borne in silent grief, and by her friendly, sympathetic presence many a mental anguish has been assuaged.

Mrs. Miller's demise will be mourned by hosts of friends in Plattsmouth, many of whom had known her since her girlhood, and all of whom extend their sympathy to and share the grief of the sorrowing relations in their loss of a true wife, mother and sister—and a true woman and friend.

DIED IN COUNCIL BLUFFS

Mrs. Emma Schroeder Died of Dropsy on Sunday Night, February 11, 1906.

Deceased Was an Old Resident of Cass County, Where She Lived Many Years.

The following appears in the Council Bluffs department of the Omaha World-Herald of Tuesday morning: "Mrs. Emma Schroeder, wife of Fred Schroeder, died Sunday night at her home, 31 North Main street, after an illness of five years, from dropsy. Her husband and one son, Henry, survive her."

The deceased was the mother of Henry Schlutz of this city, and the remains will arrive here on the 4:40 train Tuesday afternoon. They will be conveyed to the home of Mr. Schlutz where they will remain until one o'clock tomorrow when the funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Schroeder had been married twice, her first husband being the father of Henry. For many years the family resided in Rock Bluffs, where the latter was born. From Rock Bluffs the family removed to Cedar Creek, and thence to Ashland, where Mr. Schlutz died, and where she married the surviving husband and they moved to Council Bluffs.

Mrs. Schroeder came to Cass county with her parents when she was a small girl, and spent the greatest portion of her life here. She was well known to many of the older residents of the vicinity of Plattsmouth and Rock Bluffs, and also in the vicinity of Cedar Creek. She was a most excellent lady, a kind mother and most loving companion, and her death is deeply felt by all who knew her. All of whom extend their most heartfelt sympathy to the husband, son and two adopted daughters, who survive her.

The Body Sent to Indiana.

A special from Auburn says: "The body of Henry C. Hall, the Missouri Pacific brakeman, who was killed by the train at Louisville, Neb., Saturday, was yesterday taken to Chubbuck, Indiana, for interment, accompanied by Mrs. Hall and little son, who will not return. Walter Long, as a representative of the fraternal order of trainmen, also accompanied the body."

A Proper Suggestion.

The citizens of Plattsmouth could do nothing more appropriate than to have the remains of Fred Micklewait, the first white child born in that town and in Cass county, and for that matter, in the state, brought to his birthplace and buried by the side of his sire, who was Plattsmouth's first mayor. Surely the widow would esteem it a great honor to see such a mark of respect shown her late husband. Let the business men and citizens of the county see take hold of a sacred duty—and it is properly a duty—and have the remains of her first born rest in its birthplace. What do you say, gentlemen?—Nehawka Register.

SEED TIME

The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.

District Court Notes.

In the case of the Acme Harvesting company vs. H. H. Carroll, et al., the court decided the issues in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $264, with interest at the rate of 10 percent from date.

Frances K. Holdrege was granted a decree against the unknown heirs of Selden N. Miriam.

In the case of Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n vs. Ida Speck, et al., a decree of foreclosure was awarded plaintiff.

The case of I. Pearlman vs. Henry Wise et al. was tried and a decree awarded plaintiff. This was an action to quiet title.

A motion to dismiss appeal from county court in the Peters' estate was argued to the court Wednesday.

In the case of the State of Nebraska vs. William and Joseph Sack was appealed from justice court at Alvo to the district court. This is a case of assault and battery complaint, alleging that the defendants assaulted one W. E. Norris on the 24th day of January, 1906.

The case of Francis B. Holdrege vs. William B. Livingston et al. was tried to the court Wednesday. This was an action to quiet title to property near Louisville.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT WAHOO

Dr. J. T. Todd, Formerly of This City, Loses Quite Heavily.

The following special from Wahoo, Neb., under date of Monday, February 12, gives an account of a disastrous fire which occurred in that city early on that morning. It will be seen that Dr. Todd, formerly of this city, was unfortunate in having everything in his dental office destroyed.

"Early this morning fire broke out in the O. F. Steen building adjoining the Killian block and occupied below by Killian Bros. company with clothing and furnishings. The different fire companies were on the ground promptly, but a breakdown of some kind at the engine house caused nearly one-half hour delay in getting sufficient water, the fire in the meantime gaining great headway. The fire originated in the second story, but it is not known how. The damage to the building is probably $1,500 and is insured for $1,000. The stock of clothing and furnishings invoiced something over $20,000, and the loss at this time is hard to estimate, but it is placed at from $10,000 to $15,000, covered by $14,000 insurance. As soon as the losses are adjusted this department of the store will open up in other quarters while the damaged building is being repaired, and business will be interrupted very little. Dr. Todd, who occupied a suite of rooms above as a dentist office, lost his entire equipment. The stock of hardware owned by Lehmkut and Weustand in an adjoining building was damaged some by water."

A Fine Animal.

Our excellent German friend, Henry Hinz, has decided to enter the fine horse business, and with such an end in view he has purchased one of the finest Percheron stallions in the state, "Col. Head," No. 2402, purchased from V. W. Straub. The animal carries with him a pedigree of very high standard, and is one of the best of his class in this country, imported by the W. B. Otto company. Parties interested in the animal will be furnished with further information on application to the owner, Henry Hinz, who resides west of Plattsmouth.
