

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

is just such a food in its best form. It will build up the weakened and wasted body when all other foods fail to nourish. If you are run down or emaciated, give it a trial: it cannot hurt you. It is essentially the best possible nourishment for delicate children and pale, anaemic girls. We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture is the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Connubial Ventures.

A license was issued this afternoon to Fred Ransford, age 21 of Pacific Junction and Nellie Owens, age 18, of Mountain Grove, Mo. The above parties were united in marriage by Judge Travis, and the happy young couple departed from the court house rejoicing. May their wedded life be always as happy and bright as this day, is the wish of the Journal.

Handsome Display.

The enterprise of M. Fanger, of the department store, is in evidence today by the handsomely decorated windows which contain a fine display bonnets and hats. The attention attracted to this elegant display of millinery is wonderful, and all give Mr. Fanger great credit for his energy and enterprise. Mr. Fanger will not be out-classed by any of his competitors when it comes down to handsome stores and goods tastily arranged.

Section Foreman Injured.

Grant Warthen, Missouri Pacific section foreman, met with a peculiar accident Monday. While the local freight was switching on the quarry track north of the river, Mr. Warthen attempted to climb into the cupola of the caboose when some cars bumped into the caboose with such force as to cause him to fall, his left side striking the platform of the cupola and fracturing the fifth and sixth ribs. The attending physician reports him getting along as well as could be expected.—Louisville Courier.

On Al Dickson's Son-in-Law.

We were greatly surprised yesterday to see Bill Buster smoking a cigar. We asked him about it and he told us it was the first cigar he had smoked in ten years, but as it was on Al Dickson's democratic son-in-law he decided he would smoke it if he had to go to bed for a week. No money consideration could have induced Buster to smoke, but under the circumstances he feels proud to do honor to the democrat-republican alliance.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Base Ball Team.

The Burlington shop boys are contemplating organizing a base ball team for the coming season, and will meet at base ball park Monday evening next to complete the organization and to do some practicing. The boys have the material for a good team, and the Journal hopes they will succeed in the selection of a nine that can "do up" all comers during the season.

His Father Very Ill.

County Clerk Rosencrans received the sad intelligence this morning that his father, A. P. Rosencrans, of Salladasburg, Pa., was dangerously ill, and was not expected to survive but a short time. Mr. Rosencrans is quite aged, and this combined with his illness is liable to result in his death. His son feels as though he should visit his father, but with the great amount of work in his office, he has not fully determined as to his going.

EXPOSE CHARITY GRAFTERS

Alleged to Be Collecting Funds for Charity and Conducting Fake Homes for Children.

MOVEMENT AGAINST SUNSHINE IN EAST

A movement has been started in Chicago and New York to expose and exterminate, if possible, the charity solicitor grafter says the Lincoln Journal. It seems that for a long time a well organized gang has been working the public for funds which the people supposed were going for charity work. The method was the securing of subscriptions to the "Sunshine Journal" and "Sunshine," at the price of $1.00 per year. The plan as told by the solicitors was that each subscriber would receive one copy of the paper sent to some poor person to bring sunshine into their home. The scheme usually met with ready success and great amounts of money were in this manner collected all over the country in the large cities. New York, Chicago and Philadelphia were the headquarters and most worked places, although the fakirs did not pass by any place that looked good.

There is a national charity organization that has the name used by one of these fake publications and it was the supposition that they were getting the original publication that led many people to donate. Lincoln has been visited within the last two years and "donated its amount to charity." However, the game was worked so quietly and smoothly that very few at the time even had any suspicion that they were not contributing to a worthy cause.

The method of coping with these schemes as used in some large cities is the co-operation of the commercial club and charity organization of the places. Omaha has such a plan in operation at the present time. Every person who solicits the public must first obtain a permit from the charity enforcement committee, a joint committee of the commercial club and the charity organization. All causes are investigated and the worthy ones allowed to go among the people. Bogus enterprises of the sort are turned down and sent out of town. The people have learned not to contribute to anyone not bearing the proper permit.

Thus, the citizens are relieved of a great deal of annoyance and the worthy cause is not so often given a pass-by. Some have asked, why does not Lincoln afford an organized system like this for the suppression of such grafters? Something of the kind may be had sometime in the future, but it is said to be quite unnecessary now on account of the size of the city and the service given by the charity organization of the city as now operated. It acts as an information bureau to the people and many cases are looked into because of inquiry from the public as to identity of the solicitor and the object he represents.

Fred Boedecker Married.

Word comes from Huron, S. D., that Fred Boedecker and Miss Gertrude Neunier of Albena, S. D., were united in marriage Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle, I. Thoman.

Here in Louisville it is not necessary to state that this is Fritz's first matrimonial venture but the report to the contrary up at Huron was the cause of considerable trouble to the young couple, it being reported that the groom had a wife in Nebraska, and to settle the matter Mr. Thoman, uncle of the bride came to Louisville this week and investigated the matter. A telegram was sent by L. Boedecker, father of the groom, which placed things aright and the marriage proceeded.

The Courier joins with the many friends of the groom in Louisville, where he was born and grew from childhood, in extending best wishes to the happy couple who have won a victory over the gossip who would not stop to mar the happiness of the young couple.—Louisville Courier.

Death at Weeping Water.

A special from Weeping Water, under date of March 30th, says: "Agnes C., wife of James Cathey, died of hemorrhage of the lungs in this city yesterday, aged fifty-five years. Mr. and Mrs. Cathey were old residents of this county, they having lived here about thirty years, on a farm a few miles northeast of here. They have lived in town since last fall. Mrs. Cathey leaves a husband and one son, fourteen years old. Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow at 2 o'clock p. m."

A Pleasant Gathering.

A carry-all was chartered last Saturday evening and two merry loads of young people were taken out to the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Todd, who most royally entertained the young folks at dancing and various games. After delicious refreshments were served the gathering wended their way homeward at a late hour. All report that they enjoyed a most delightful evening.

SECURE FIFTEEN DOLLARS

Tramps Break Into Car at Orepolis Last Night Get Clothes, Suit Case and Cash.

BUT ARE PURSUED BY OWNER

Compelled to Return and Are Placed in Jail and Complaint Filed.

A couple of hoboes, wishing to assume a more presentable appearance, broke into a paint-service car at Orepolis about 8 o'clock Sunday night and proceeded to attire themselves in a couple of suits, overcoats and other clothing, the property of R. R. Towle, the foreman of the paint gang. Before making their exit they replenished their purses with fifteen dollars in cash that they found in the car, and also carried off a suit case, containing other valuables.

The authorities here were notified to be on the lookout for them, but it was later ascertained that Mr. Towle had located and compelled the guilty culprits to return with him to Orepolis, from which place Sheriff Quinton was telephoned to come and take them in charge. They were brought to this city and placed in jail, and Mr. Towle swore out a complaint against them this morning.

Mr. Towle is a nephew of George Towle of Wabash and is in charge of the paint car service, which at present is doing some work at Orepolis. He recovered his clothes, but the fellows had made away with the money, before he captured them. He feels quite fortunate, that he has recovered his property so promptly after the loss of same.

The two hoboes who were arraigned before Judge Archer Monday afternoon plead not guilty and were each bound over under $500.00 bond. Not being able to furnish the the required bond, they were returned to jail to await their trial.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Anti-Pollard Men in Lincoln Fighting Stray of Holding Primary.

The suggestion that a primary will be called to decide whether Congressman Pollard or some one else shall be named as the republican candidate for congress from the First district, says the Lincoln News, has stirred up the anti-Pollard force to great mental activity at least. Some of them are declaring that if the committee dares to call the primary several of the counties will ignore it, but they neglect to say what figure that will cut in the matter. The other counties will go right ahead and name a congressman, and it will be a pretty difficult proposition to prevent the republicans in the seceding counties from insisting upon taking part.

The truth is that the committee has absolute power in the premises, and that whatever it says about the matter of nominating rules goes. The state law specifically gives the power to party associations to hold a primary under certain prescribed rules, and the only way in which a party association can act is through its committee.

The claim has been made that there is no way by which the nominee at a primary can get upon the Australian ballot at election time, because there is no provision for nomination by district primaries. This is an obstacle that can be easily overcome. If it is necessary to have a convention to nominate, the committee can, in its rules, constitute itself one, or can do as the republicans do in Lincoln, elect one man from each sub-division as a delegate instructed to vote for the man who gets the most votes.

The real reason why the opposition is so wroth is that they are clever enough to see in it that Pollard is pretty certain to win at a general primary. The man running for a second term has a decided advantage because of the two-term feeling that is general. Aside from that, he is better known over the district than a candidate in any other county, unless the latter has once stumped the district. A favorite son in each county might poll as many or more votes than the congressman in that county, but he would be badly beaten outside his own county.

The movement against Pollard has been entirely one of the politicians', and they scent defeat in a primary for their schemes. It would be easy, they have figured, to get enough delegates to beat Pollard, because delegates are usually really chosen by the manipulating powers, although ostensibly by a convention. Another thing that worries them is the fear that if Pollard gets a primary this year it will be a precedent for the future, and that he will be able, by giving the people good service, to be the most popular candidate two years hence at a primary.

The poor we have always with us—especially poor excuses.

"PULLING WOOL OVER POLLARD'S EYES"

Politicians Told Him Everything Was Lovely While Secretly Whetting Their Knives.

A special from Lincoln says, "Pulling the wool over Pollard's eyes" was the phrase employed by a Lincoln politician to describe the Greek-like reception extended to the congressman from the First district when he visited Lincoln last week.

"Congressman Pollard went to a number of the Lancaster county workers and they told him that little opposition to his candidacy existed. Pollard denied that any friction existed between George L. Sheldon and himself. Then Pollard went his way. "In the meantime arrangements have been perfected for giving the Lancaster delegation to a favorite son. This will undoubtedly be Judge E. P. Holmes. He won the former contest and captured the county.

"Politicians declare that Will Hayward will take the field from Oteo and either he or Holmes stand excellent chances of being the winner. Outside counties will join in the scramble and it is probable that Pollard will find himself with the lukewarm support of Cass. Judge Jensen, Judge Hayward and Senator Sheldon seem to have an understanding and Cass county probably will desert Pollard early in the contest. Should the Pollard congressional committee call a direct primary Oteo, Lancaster and a number of other counties will ignore it.

"A. B. Allen of Tecumseh may enter the race in the near future. He has been assured of the Johnson county delegation and has many friends in the other counties."
