

SEEK RESTRAINING ORDERS

Mapes Files Suit Against City Officials— Other Cases in District Court.

A case entitled George Mapes vs. Jos. Fitzgerald, chief of police, John Janda, street commissioner, and Henry R. Gering, mayor, all officials of the city of Plattsmouth, was filed in the district clerk's office Monday. The plaintiff sues to restrain the defendants from enforcing an ordinance requiring Claire street in South Park addition to this city to be opened up for traffic, and in his petition he contends that this portion of real estate does not lie within the city limits and is therefore not subject to the city's control. An order enjoining the defendants from tearing down any of the fences or from plowing up or grading any of the land within the confines of the said property, was issued by Judge Jensen.

Mrs. Mollie A. Shepherd has filed an action against William U. Shepherd, requesting that she be granted a divorce from defendant on the grounds of extreme cruelty to her and her children, and for failing to support plaintiff, although the defendant is of sufficient ability to do so. The plaintiff also seeks a restraining order to prevent defendant from taking their child from their premises and protection. The defendant is a resident of the territory of Oklahoma.

Another case entitled James W. Hickson vs. C. E. Bertwell, et al has been filed today in the district clerk's office. The plaintiff brings action to recover a judgment of $600 and interest on same for value received.

Plattsmouth Boy Promoted to Captain.

Hundreds witnessed the victory of Captain L. C. Syford and Company C on the state university campus in Lincoln Friday afternoon. This company ranked first in the competitive drill, winning out in the maneuvers by a safe margin. Governor Mickey and a number of state officials were present. The three other companies ranked as follows: Company B, Captain E. Don Sken, second; Company D, C. D. Wilson, third; Company A, Captain F. A. Anderson, fourth. Sergeant Guthrie of Company B won the gold and Sergeant Campbell of B won the silver medal for individual drill.

Roy Pepperberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Pepperberg of this city up to yesterday held the position of Second Lieutenant of Company C, and his father this morning received a telegram announcing the fact that he had been elected captain. The Journal joins Roy's many Plattsmouth friends in extending congratulations.

Miss Agnes Taken to Omaha.

Acting upon the advice of their physician, Dr. E. D. Cummins, Col. and Mrs. J. H. Thrasher conveyed Miss Agnes to the Immanuel hospital at Omaha Saturday where she will undergo an operation today. About a dozen of her friends carried her upon a cot from the residence to the depot, and thus prevented any serious jolt or jar as would have been occasioned by a wagon.

Operation Successful.

A message over the Postal-Telegraph wires Saturday afternoon says: "Miss Agnes Thrasher was successfully operated upon at 11:30 a. m. today, and at 1 p. m. the conditions were favorable for her recovery." The many friends of this accomplished young lady will be exceedingly glad to hear this news, and will join with the Journal in wishing that she will regain her former good health at an early date.

The Junior Picnic.

The former Junior class of the High school left this city Friday morning for Swallow Hill where they enjoyed a day's outing in the woods. The girls of the class had provided the dinner, and at an earlier hour than usual the class set down to an "scrumptious" dinner as ever dined a picnic ground. After dinner the class journeyed to the sand pit, where they gathered flowers and botany specimens. At four o'clock Misses Gass, Mathews and Engle arrived and again the members of "97" sat down to another repast, after which they prepared to go home. On their way home they practiced their class yells and songs and were entertained by other musical features.

Sisters Meet After Thirty-Two Years.

Friday night's Burlington passenger train from the east brought to this city Mrs. Eliza Lindsay, of Hamilton, Ind., and Mrs. James Griffin, of Richmond, who came to visit Mrs. Margaret Schulhoff. The former is a sister of Mrs. Schulhoff, whom she has not met for thirty-two years, while the latter is a life-long friend whom she has not met for twenty-five years. It is entirely unnecessary to remark that Mrs. Schulhoff was most agreeably surprised on the arrival of her sister whom she has not seen for so long, and that the sister was equally as happy to greet Mrs. Schulhoff. It was a joyful greeting all around, and goes without saying happiness and pleasure will reign supreme for the next few weeks.

FAREWELL SERMON TO HIS CONGREGATION

Delivered By Rev. Youtzy Last Night at the Christian Church.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES

Members of G. A. R. and the W. R. C. March to Presbyterian Church.

Although Sunday morning was raw and chilly and the weather threatening, many of the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic assembled from the country and city to respond to the roll call at their hall, after which with faltering steps and furled colors the gallant veterans of the civil war marched, in company with the members of the Women's Relief corps, to the Presbyterian church to worship the memory of the fallen heroes and comrades who are now peacefully sleeping in the silent city of the dead. A beautiful organ prelude by Miss Verna Cole opened the services after which the choir sang that patriotic hymn, "The Star Spangled Banner." The rendition of the inspiring anthem, "Sail on, Oh Ship of State," by the choir and the solo, "The Brave Sentinel," by B. A. McElwain, were received with pleasure by the large audience.

A beautiful and interesting memorial sermon was eloquently delivered by Rev. J. H. Salisbury who spoke high praises of the valiant old soldiers, urging them to continue their brave battles in this present struggle as they did in that of the past, so that they would be prepared to respond to the final roll call of the Master.

The special music concluded with the singing by the choir of the appropriate anthem, "The Angels are Calling the Roll." The entire assembly joined in singing "America," after which the G. A. R. and W. R. C. filed out and marched to their post and disbanded. The church was artistically bedecked with flags and bunting and the altar was adorned with a profusion of flowers in accordance with this sacred day.

Surprise Mrs. Manners.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manners in the south part of the city was the scene of a pleasant surprise party Saturday night. The celebration was in honor of the twenty-third birthday of the hostess and a good social time was enjoyed in playing various games, which were pleasantly interspersed with musical selections from the phonograph and on the piano by Miss Pearl Kuhney. The gathering was delightfully refreshed by the delicious luncheon that their entertainers produced, and at late hour they wished their hostess many more such happy returns in the future, and departed for their homes. Those permitted to enjoy the occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames T. J. Vallery, B. E. Matteson, Ralph Godwin, Chas. Parks, J. Young, John Hineman, Ole Roman, George Mapes and Mrs. Burrows; Misses Janet Vallery, Pearl and May Kuhney, Ruth Spencer, Josie Mapes, May Roman and Mr. Will Hineman.

Mrs. Manners was the recipient of many beautiful as well as useful presents from the merry invaders.

A Pioneer Passes Away.

A special from Avoca, under date of May 27, says: "Amos Tefft, father of Orlando Tefft, died yesterday, aged 81 years. He came to Nebraska in 1856. He homesteaded the land upon which this town is located." The deceased was the father of Hon. Orlando Tefft, and one of the most prominent citizens in Cass county.

Funeral of Amos Tefft.

A special from Weeping Water, under date of May 28, says: "Amos Tefft, father of Orlando Tefft, who died at his home in Avoca last Friday was buried in Avoca cemetery yesterday. Mr. Tefft was one of the first settlers in this part of the county, coming here in 1857 and settled on South Branch, a few miles below where the village of Avoca now stands, but sold there and bought the land on which Avoca is now built. He was born August 29, 1815, and was ninety years, eight months and twenty-six days old at the time of his death. By his death this part of the county not only loses one of its first settlers, but an honest, upright citizen, who was respected by all who knew him, and he was known by nearly everybody."

A Great Grandfather.

Col. H. C. McMaken was the happiest man in town this morning, when he received a telegram from Omaha announcing that Mrs. C. W. Baylor, formerly Miss Inez Reese, had given birth to a bouncing baby boy. This makes our old friend a great grandfather and he has cause to feel happy.

FAREWELL SERMON TO HIS CONGREGATION

Delivered By Rev. Youtzy Last Night at the Christian Church.

MISS ALICE DOVEY SINGS A SWEET SONG

The Christian church was taxed to its largest seating capacity Sunday by the exceedingly large audience that assembled to hear Miss Alice Dovey sing and especially to hear the farewell sermon to the congregation by Rev. D. A. Youtzy, their pastor, who expects to leave this city soon, to take up work in other fields. Besides the regular numbers, and the rendition of "The Day is Over," by Mr. L. A. Moore, the large concourse were favored by a very beautiful religious adaptation from the Cavillera Rusticana, which Miss Alice Dovey sang with sweet impressions.

The retiring pastor chose for the subject of his last sermon to his congregation "The Most Real Thing in the World." He based his remarks upon the Love chapter, the thirteenth of first Corinthians. The speaker declared that love is the only real thing that lasts through time and eternity; that all love was divine, and that any one who attempts to classify as love, any emotion that is not inspiring and elevating, is confusing lust with love. He cited instances of wisely devotion, and filial affection to prove that love is long suffering and seeketh not revenge. Christ is the world's great lover; His love was purely unselfish, and stood the test, demanding fidelity even unto death. Jesus so loved humanity that he gave himself a willing sacrifice, that even the utter most parts of the world might be lifted up and saved. When the church exemplifies the love of its founder, it will inaugurate the triumphal march to a restored Eden.

FUNERAL OF LYMAN KILDOW

Many Beautiful Floral Offerings to the Departed—Large Cortege Conveys Remains to Oak Hill.

In response to the call to lay away to rest one of their members, the Evergreen camp No. 70 of Woodmen of the World and the local Aerie No. 365 of Eagles assembled Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Methodist church to observe the last sad tributes to their departed brother. Profuse floral offerings, among which was a wreath of evergreen from the Woodmen, a beautiful tribute from the Eagles and another from the firemen, adorned the casket. A very pathetic and eloquent sermon was delivered by Rev. J. E. Houlgate, who gave a brief life sketch of the deceased. After these impressive ceremonies at the church the bier, accompanied by an exceedingly large cortege, was conveyed to the Oak Hill cemetery where the last solemn rituals were held by the Eagles during interment.

Fine Residence Burns.

Sunday evening about 9 o'clock the fine residence of William Sperry, 1 mile west of Weeping Water, was discovered to be on fire by Harry Hubbard and Dixey Kirkpatrick. The fire seemed to have started near the roof at the north end, and as the boys had no way of fighting it, they set about saving what they could, and succeeded in getting out most of the furniture on the lower floor. The house was a new one, only finished last summer, and was entirely consumed. There was no one at home at the time, all having gone to church in town. Mr. Sperry was fortunate enough to have $1,500 insurance on the house and $500 on the contents, but this will not cover the loss.

A Practical Railroad Man.

Vice-President Daniel Willard of the Burlington is a practical railroad man. During a recent visit to Nebraska he remarked to a friend that twenty years ago he was running an engine on the B. & O. railroad. He takes a keen interest in track work and notes defects and bad track when passing over it. Nothing in the operating line appears to escape his attention. He has risen from the ranks and knows what it is to "railroad."

Licenses to Wed.

Although Decoration Day is a legal holiday, the county judge's office was open a greater part of the day, in order to meet the demands for marriage licenses. The permits were issued to the following couples: Martin Peterson, Plattsmouth, aged 27 and Cora DeWolf, Weeping Water, aged 19; Jesse J. Hill, Holdridge, aged 27 and Anna M. Towle, Wabash, aged 25; Jacob C. Kline, South Bend, aged 32 and Eunice E. Hill, South Bend, aged 28; Jacob B. Frey, Douglas, aged 22 and Lulu Betts, Avoca, aged 19; Albert C. Ray, South Omaha, aged 25 and Myra Allen, Weeping Water, aged 26; Chas. F. Hill, South Bend, aged 25 and Blanche E. Wallick, South Bend, aged 19. The first named couple were united in marriage by Judge Travis.

Farewell Surprise to Pastor.

As a mark of appreciation of the excellent work that has been carried on in their church by Rev. D. A. Youtzy and his family, about seventy-five of the members of the Christian church assembled at his home Monday night while he was away and proceeded to make merry, heaping two tables with packages of all description which would help to remind him of the friends he leaves in Plattsmouth.

When Rev. Youtzy returned he was most delightfully surprised to find his study and other rooms filled with a jolly gathering, and he at once joined in the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed the farewell surprise. The evening proved to be a very instructive one as well as social—stereoscopic views of the San Francisco disaster and ruins being exhibited by M. S. Briggs, and many appropriate musical and vocal selections being rendered by the members of the party. After indulging in the delectable refreshments brought by the party and singing many of the favorite hymns the company wished Mr. Youtzy God speed in his new fields of labor.

To Rev. Youtzy who, with his family expects to leave at 10:15 tonight for Gering, Neb., belongs the credit of freeing the Christian church from $400 indebtedness during his pastorate here, and of increasing the membership of the church to the two hundred mark; also by his active interest for increasing the Sunday school from an attendance of forty to one hundred and twenty-five. Thus he leaves the church in good financial shape and departs for a field of greater activities.

MEMORY'S SADDEST DAY

In Memorial of Those Sleeping as Sacrifices to Their Country.

By the flow of the inland river,
Where the fleets of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grave grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead—
Under the soil and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day,
Under the one the Blue,
Under the other the Gray.

Amid the echoes of cannon which had scarcely cooled, and while the smoke of battle still hung like a pall over not only the fields of battle, but the hearts of the nation both north and south, came this beautiful poem to softly remind all men that they were still brethren and had only temporarily been foes. A poem is said to have dethroned a dynasty and remade a nation, and the poem quoted above has been most powerful in drawing together a brotherhood once torn asunder by the most cruel war ever waged by a civilized nation, and slowly it has been conquering the spirit of hatred engendered by the civil conflict; and it has been more potent in its exalted motive than all human appeals, its sincere sentiment in Memorial Day observance has been as far-reaching as the sentiment expressed in "The Blue and the Gray" is sublime, and once each year flowers are scattered upon the graves of half a million heroes, some who wore the Blue and some who wore the Gray. While the fires of hatred were still burning fiercely in 1867—while the north was still flushed with victory and the south was humiliated with shame and defeat, both mourning their countless dead—a few women in a Mississippi hamlet met and decorated the graves of the buried warriors, and among those graves were some of their northern foemen, and those mothers' and sisters' bleeding hearts in their sorrow shared their fragrant tokens of love with their fallen foeman alike with their southern kin. Their noble action was telegraphed around the world and their act inspiring Francis Miles Finch, of Ithaca, New York, to write the sublime poem of "The Blue and the Gray," which has taught the lesson that it is befitting the victorious brother to share the memorial flower with his vanquished brother, gathering around the nation's flag—the flag that stands for a nation's weal o'er the roar of a nation's war, and which waves over the living and the dead and blesses the cradle as well as the grave.

Signals Must be Displayed.

The fourth assistant postmaster general has issued an order that after July 1, next, rural delivery carriers when making their trips, will visit and examine only those boxes for which they have mail for delivery and those on which signals are displayed to indicate mail for dispatch.

Those patrons who now are maintaining mail boxes on which there are no signals will be required to procure some sort of a device which will serve as a signal to the carriers.

The carriers are also required to lower the signals on the boxes after making collections, provided no mail is left therein, and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless patrons have made request to the contrary.

By this new arrangement it is expected the delivery and collection of mail along the rural routes will be greatly facilitated.

THE CITY DADS DELIBERATE

Two New Ordinances are Presented to the Council for Consideration.

WARM DISCUSSION AFTER READING

The First Ordinance is Killed, While the Other is Placed Upon Second Reading—Other Proceedings.

The city council held their regular business session last night, and the most important business to come before the meeting was the consideration of two new ordinances. The first one presented related to minors frequenting the saloons for the purpose of loafing and drinking, and this ordinance was drawn up for the purpose of preventing the aforesaid conditions and making the party guilty on such acts punishable by a fine of $100 or 60 days in the city jail. The reading of this ordinance brought many arguments from Steinkner who contended that the Slocum law covered all of the phases of the ordinance, and that to restrict minors with too tight a rein only resulted in an excessive indulgence when they arrived of age; and Councilman White also strongly opposed the passage of such an ordinance on the same grounds as assumed by Steinkner. After extended deliberation and consideration, the motion to place the ordinance on its second reading was voted down as follows: Yea—Dodge, Bajock and Sattler. Nay—Steinkner, White, Vondran, Lutz, Schluntz, Ballance and Tippens.

The other ordinance to come before the councilman body was that regulating the posting of bills and circulating advertising matter; to license a bill poster for the sum of $25 and to regulate their manner of conducting business. A motion to place this ordinance on its second reading was carried by a vote of 7 to 3 as follows: Yea—Dodge, Sattler, Bajock, Tippens, Lutz, Schluntz and White. Nay—Steinkner, Ballance and Vondran.

OTHER BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

The report of the chief of the fire department, showing that carts, hose and other appliances were in good order, was adopted and referred to committee on fire and water.

The street, alleys and bridge committee recommended that Emil Walters be awarded the contract for building the concrete crossings and culverts on the estimates furnished by him to the council. A motion to adopt this report was unanimously carried. The favorable report of the same committee in regard to opening up Rock and Marble streets west to Maiden Lane, was adopted by the council.

The report of the cemetery committee showed that the fence at that place was receiving a fresh coat of paint, and that the well had been cleaned out and placed in proper shape for the public. The request of the sexton that the tool house also be painted, was granted by the council.

The special committee appointed to examine the library floor recommended that the floor be repaired as requested by the president of the library board, and that bids be received for the work. This was unanimously carried by the council on motion to approve same.

The special committee appointed to consider the appointment of John Janda as special police at $10 per month recommended that same be done, and on motion to approve the report and to place a star upon Janda, was carried.

The appointment of Wm. Slater as night police was confirmed by the council.

In accordance with a meeting of the board of health yesterday the clerk was instructed to notify people to clean up the streets adjacent to their property.

The clerk was directed to notify the chief of the fire department to turn over a section of hose to the street commissioner in order that he might be able to wash the entire length of Main street. Under this head the question of sprinkling the streets arose, and as all the business men except one have subscribed toward this work, it was thought proper to pay for sprinkling the intersections of the streets, and accordingly the council decided that the city should expend the sum of $10 for this purpose.

The following claims against the city were presented, allowed and the clerk instructed to issue warrants for same:

F. M. Richey, lumber, $103 10

Resolutions of Respect.

Your committee appointed by Plattsmouth Arie No. 305, Fraternal Order of Eagles to prepare and report resolutions of tribute to the life and character of the late L. B. Kildow, beg leave to submit the following:

Resolved, That we hereby express our sincere sorrow on account of the death of L. B. Kildow, our brother, whose integrity and fidelity to duty has won and held the confidence and respect of his neighbors.

Resolved, That by his devotion to duty as well as his upright private life, the deceased was worthy of emulation and honor, and that we have lost a valued member of our order.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the record, and a copy thereof sent to the widow and family of deceased.

W. M. BARCLAY,
JOSEPH HADRAHA,
E. L. WIDENS,
Committee.

Make Yourself Safe.

Many of our exchanges are reciting instances of swindling of various natures, almost always including a note or contract to be signed, and which later turns up in other hands in an altered form. One exchange says that a good way to test a swindling scheme is to offer a non-negotiable note when the time comes for signing. Mark out the words "or order, or bearer," which always follows the blank line in which is written the name of the party to whom the note is given. Make the note payable to him alone. That makes you alright. If the note is given in lieu of the contracts which the other party offers, just write at the head of your signature: "The payment of this note is made conditional upon the performance of certain contracts for which it was given." Always remember that, no matter what, or all contracts you may have, it will have nothing to do with the payment of the note unless it appears on the face of the note.
