Noted "Pug" Visits Plattsmouth.

Clarence Enzlish, the clever boxer of Omaha, and who has "put out" numerous good men in his class, was in town last night between trains. He was here to spend a few hours with his friends, T. B. Bates and C. N. (Sub) Sullivan. He is the favorite of the Omaha sports, and will have a fifteen-round bout with "Back" Purcell at St. Joseph, Mo., on Sunday, July 15—which happens to be Clarence's twenty-third birthday. He has been taking good care of himself the past year and looks fine and in condition to put up the battle of his life. Mr. English is not only fighter but a perfect gentleman in every sense of the term. Many of his admirers will accompany him down to the Eagle's "clam bake" and see Purcell "get his."

FARMERS HAVING TROUBLE

Elevator at Manley Temporarily Put Out of Business Through Persecution.

In regard to the fiendish work that has been perpetrated upon the Farmers' elevator people at Manley, by some one or two fiends, Mr. W. B. Essick, has the following to say through the columns of the Weeping Water Herald: "The farmers, in the fall of 1904, organized a co-operative grain association for the purpose of shipping their own grain, and as we expected, we have a hard fight to make things go and continue in business, buying and shipping grain. They have built a fine elevator of 15,000 or 16,000 bushels capacity, but as yet have no trackage to it so they can load cars from it, but haul it in wagons, and have a portable elevator that is operated by horse power, and to show some of the fiendishness that has been done, the ropes on the elevator have been cut at various times. There have been bolts put in the horse power, thinking when it was started it would break something. Doubletrees have been carried off, crowsbars the same, and last night some fiend took the sledge used in staking the power down and smashed one of the large wheels in the power, which shows what the farmer has to contend with for only wanting to ship his own grain and protect his own interests in margins on his grain. We formerly thought we had a quiet little village, but we fall to see it that way now, as we not only have had the railway to contend with, but we have much here to contend with."

A Disappointment.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright and Mr. Joseph Letak of South Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rotter, of Omaha, returned to their homes Friday evening, after a delightful visit over the Fourth with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rotter, living on Wintersteen hill. This was to have been a family reunion, but the absence of one son, Vincent Rotter, wife and daughter, Anna, of Cody, Wyo., who were unable to be here, which was a disappointment to all the other children. They had arranged for all to be here, but the coming of the above was a complete surprise to the old folks, and while the event was an enjoyable one, it would have proved more so had the whole family been there.

Nearly Recovered.

R. P. Steel, of Pacific Junction, was in the city Friday morning. Mr. Steel was the gentleman who was injured last Saturday on the bridge across the river while attempting to save one of his companions on a hand-car. He seems to be recovering nicely, and Ole Fields, the companion who he saved from almost instant death, has entirely recovered, not being injured nearly as bad as Mr. Steele.

A CASS FAMILY CELEBRATES

A Grand Good Time at a Family Reunion in Furnas County on the Fourth of July.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Chriswiser, of Beaver City, on the Fourth a happy gathering of many relatives and friends was enjoyed in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader, where a picnic dinner was served in the beautiful grove by Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. R. H. Chriswiser and Mrs. Lee Hill. The day was enjoyed by all and when the time of departure came all wished there would be many such reunions as this in their homes in this community. It was an old Cass county gathering, all present being former Cass county people except one gentleman from Pittsburg, Penn.

Those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hill, Mr. Hill of Pittsburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bines, Mrs. Fred Linville and daughter, Grace, Mrs. Lizzie Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shrader and son Chester, Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, Roy Shrader, Harve Gregg, Roy Gregg, Margaret and Freddie Hill, Johnson Hill, Anna, Charles, Johnnie, Gilbert and Harvey Bines, Marie James, Lulu and Gladys Cook, Johnnie and Roy Chriswiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader arrived at Hendley July 4th on the 11:30 train to celebrate with their children and many friends around Hendley and Beaver City. Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Shrader and children from Alma, Neb., came up to celebrate with them and the day was very much enjoyed by all. The following in reference to Mr. and Mrs. Shrader's visit to Furnas county, is taken from the Beaver City Times-Tribune:

"Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Shrader arrived on the Fourth from Nehawka to pay a visit to their children at Hendley and in Richmond precinct. Mr. Shrader stated to a Times-Tribune reporter that the crops in this part of the country are much better than in Cass county, where they have felt the effects of the dry weather to a great extent. He is very enthusiastic over Furnas county, and remarked the fine appearance of the crowd at the Hendley celebration, declaring that he never saw a finer lot of people or a better celebration."

More Lucky Cass Countyans.

Three more Cass county people draw land in the Crow Reservation drawing, and this on the last day, too. Julian J. Pollard, of Nehawka drew No. 5458; Fred Hawksworth, of Plattsmouth, 5987; and Joseph Sutpin, of Nehawka, 6159. We hope these gentlemen will be more successful than some of those from this county who took chances in the Rosebud land drawing. We understand there were several other entries from this county, all of whom drew blanks.

What Is It?

Geo. Rand, foreman at the Atwood & Newell sand pits, brought up the bones of the upper jaw of some prehistoric monster in the sand scoop, the other day. The formation is unlike that of anything yet found and the bones, in a perfect state of preservation, were taken from a depth of eighty feet. The specimens, which may prove of great value, will be sent to Lincoln for classification.—Louisville Courier.

SHERWOOD & SON

Murray-Alden Wedding.

The many friends of Alvin H. Murray and Miss Esther Alden were somewhat surprised Thursday to learn that they had been quietly married at Glenwood, Ia., yesterday morning. The young couple, accompanied by John Kawaneck, went to the county seat across the river on the 10 o'clock train yesterday morning, and during the three hours' absence from home they procured a license, and were united in marriage by the county judge of Mills county. Then they drove to Pacific Junction, returning home on the fast mail, and only a few near friends knew that they were husband and wife when they stepped off the train at the depot. As soon as the news got around town, friends began to hunt for the young people, to congratulate them and tender best wishes.

The groom, who is a son of John Murray of this city has been employed in the meat market of Kunsman & Range for sometime, and is an industrious and steady young man.

The bride, who resided several miles south of this city, was employed at various places here and has a large number of friends who will join the Journal in wishing them a wedded life, that will be long, happy and prosperous.

Murder at South Omaha.

Anton Vinzowski was shot and killed in South Omaha at a late hour last night by John Karvalins. Both are Bohemians. The man who did the killing is well advanced in years, while the victim was a young man.

The two had been drinking in the saloon of Joe Bazar and became involved in a quarrel. No one appears to know what the quarrel was about and bystanders had no idea that it was likely to terminate fatally. Karvalins left the saloon and the bystanders thought the affair was over, but it appears he simply went to his home nearby for his gun and returning shot Vinzowski, the bullet entering the side and penetrating the vitals. The police and doctors were summoned at once, but the wounded man died before the arrival of either.

Karvalins was arrested, making no resistance and is now lodged in the city jail. He declines to make any statement about the affair.

Sixty-two Years Old.

Sixty-two years ago today Jimmie Hickson first saw daylight in Perry county, Pennsylvania, and for one who has passed through the many ups and downs that he has, is remarkably well preserved, and can do as hard a day's work as any man in Plattsmouth. He entered the army of the civil war when less than 16 years old, and served to the close of the war. He laid the first section of pipe in this city for the water company, and has been in the employ of the company ever since. Mr. Hickson is in the enjoyment of average health for one of his age, and the Journal hopes he will live to reach the 100 year mile stone.

Finn Talks to Finn.

Through a request to the Bee, by George M. Porter, their agent, a man was secured from the metropolis, to converse with the Finlander, John Rukoner, who lost an arm and two fingers in the accident that occurred about two weeks ago, when he attempted to get aboard a through freight train. The Finlander, Timothy Halme, who came down from Omaha Friday, conversed quite readily with the unfortunate and injured man, who told him that he went to San Francisco from Chicago, and lost all of his cabinetmaker's tools and $800 during the earthquake. He worked back toward Chicago, after the terrible disaster, being in Kansas City then in Omaha, from which place he came to Plattsmouth, where he was told by a companion that he could ride to Chicago on the train that was coming through the yards, and while trying to get aboard he received his injuries.

The claim agent, C. M. Druse, of the Burlington, secured a statement from the Finlander exonerating the company from all blame for the accident. While conversing with the Finlander through the interpreter, Mr. Druse ascertained that Rukoner has several inventions under headway, one of which appears to be a very neat device being a 40 horse power pump. The Finlander was very much overcome at the opportunity to thank the citizens of Plattsmouth who have so kindly befriended him and said that if it were possible he would repay the county the expense it has been to on account of the accident. He has friends in Chicago who have sent transportation and expense money to him, and he expects to leave for Chicago on next Tuesday.

Is It Music to Kiss?

A Chicago man has come forward with the not very original statement that the kiss is music. Sure! When a kiss is played in the parlor with the gas turned down to a mere glimmer, it is a nocturne. When it is executed at the door with the old man hurriedly stealing down the front stairs, it is a grand march. And when it is done at the front gate with the bulldog reaching lovingly for the basement of the young man's trousers, it is rag time.

A PECULIAR PREDICAMENT

Jacob Moneypenny Yawned, Displacing Lower Jaw This Morning.

PHYSICIAN CLOSES THE MAN'S MOUTH.

Occurrence is Repeated and Bandage Then Employed—Had Similar Accident Fifteen Years Ago.

It is not often that one of the sterner sex is unable to close his mouth when he so desires, but, nevertheless, we have to record one such instance that occurred in this vicinity Friday morning.

The accident to which we refer, happened to Jacob Moneypenny, who resides on a farm of eighty acres, several miles south of town. In the course of the morning chores he stopped to yawn, during which the lower jaw suddenly snapped, and refused to resume its natural position. The man suffered considerable agony in an attempt to reset the unruly bones, but this proved futile, and he was compelled to come to the county seat, where the services of a physician were procured and the refractory jaw placed in its proper position. But a short time after leaving the physician's office, the accident was repeated, and a surgeon again employed. A bandage was then wound around the recalcitrant member, to prevent a repetition of this peculiar plight.

Another accident of a similar nature to this one, occurred to him about fifteen years ago, but he thought that he had entirely recovered from that attack or mishap. Several years ago he sustained a paralytic stroke, which affected his right side, leaving him in a crippled condition, but he has always managed to tend to his farm.

The Hunt-Morton Nuptials.

Mr. Everett A. Hunt of Lincoln and Miss Stella Morton of this vicinity were the principals in a quiet wedding that took place last Friday, June 29, at the office of the county judge in Nebraska City, the ceremony being performed by the genial Judge Wilson. Following the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Morton, northeast of this village, where they spent the day, departing on the evening train for their future home in Lincoln.

The bride is a handsome and accomplished young lady and is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Morton. She was born near this village, and has always been popular and a general favorite among her associates. Mr. Hunt is an energetic and intelligent gentleman who holds a lucrative position with one of the prominent business firms of Lincoln, where he has the confidence and esteem of his employers and acquaintances. The Ledger joins their many friends in extending congratulations.—Union Ledger.

Death of David Woodward.

A special from Weeping Water, under date of July 9 says: "David Woodward died this morning about 2 o'clock at his residence, one mile east of town, aged sixty years. He had been sick for about six weeks. Mr. Woodward was one of the first settlers at the head of North Cedar creek, on the divide between the Platte river and Weeping Water. Out of the first seven settlers in that neighborhood from 1867 to 1869 Josiah Timblin is the only man now left. Mr. Woodward will be buried Wednesday afternoon."
