

One Quart of Liquid Coal makes One Barrel Medicine or Lice Killer

The Process of making LIQUID KOAL requires three days the process of reduction requires 350 degrees of heat.

This Compound

embraces every Germicide, Antiseptic and Disinfectant found in coal, treated chemically with an alkali base until every objectionable feature is eliminated, being non-poisonous and harmless.

Liquid Coal

is made from the following formula: 33 1/2 per cent. creosote, which embraces cresylic acid; 33 1/2 per cent. liquid gases; 33 1/2 per cent. soft soap. Suspended in these is sulphur, borax, naphthol and other remedial agents.

LIQUID KOAL is guaranteed at least 20 per cent. stronger in antiseptic and germicide agents than any preparation of similar nature on the market.

Liquid Coal

is a black, oily liquid. Liquid Coal is a liquid soap and will form a perfect emulsion with water.

Liquid Coal

is endorsed by the leading veterinaries of the United States and by many of the state agricultural colleges and many of the experimental stations which are conducted by the government.

Liquid Coal

USED AS LICE KILLER.—When diluted with water in the proportion of one part Liquid Coal to fifty parts water, it is the best lice killer on the market. It is not expensive because it forms a perfect emulsion with water when mixed in this proportion.

TWO THINGS TO REMEMBER
Use Liquid Coal to destroy parasites on the outside.
Use Liquid Coal to destroy parasites on the inside.

WORMS IN HOGS The hog is more infected with intestinal worms than any other domestic animal. These worms are created by impure accumulations along the intestinal track and generally produced by poorly digested food, the nature of the food, and his manner of eating renders him more susceptible to intestinal worms than any other animal. Under the present domesticated conditions he is not allowed to use his natural instincts to obtain the necessary elements that would destroy these intestinal parasites. Being shut up in a pen he is not allowed to follow the instincts of his nature. The hog that is wormy can neither grow nor thrive for the reason that the worms destroy all the effects of nutrition furnished in the food.

Liquid Coal put into the drinking water in the proportion of one quart to one barrel and given them twice a week will destroy all intestinal worms and keep them free from their formation and multiplication. LIQUID KOAL STRENGTHENS THE APPETITE AND TONES THE SYSTEM.

Something You Ought to Know!

A parasite is an organism, during its life, lives within or on the surface of an animal for the purpose of existence, and from which it receives its nutrition and nourishment. The state or condition in which the animal is kept either hastens or retards their multiplication. They are injurious in at least three ways:

- 1—As direct agents of loss from animal economy.
- 2—As carriers of other forms of parasites.
- 3—As carriers of the micro-organisms of infectious diseases.

Hog Cholera

is a free germ disease, the germ being first found in the alimentary canal and as long as it is confined in that organ it is comparatively harmless. When, however, it penetrates to the lungs, liver and other organs it causes fermentation and destruction of live tissues, furnishing food upon which it thrives and multiplies with wonderful rapidity, in some cases a generation an hour, causing death to an animal before the owner has discovered that it was diseased. Thus, through reasoning, two facts stand out clearly: First, that hog cholera cannot be treated successfully unless treatment is begun before the germ has reached the period of rapid multiplication. Second, that a germicide must be administered, and therein lies the whole secret. As we go through the list of germicides, we are compelled to reject them all, either for inefficiency or inadaptability until we reach LIQUID KOAL.

LIST OF DISEASES LIQUID KOAL CURES.

Hog cholera, lung worm, swine plague, intestinal worms, cow cholera, tuberculosis, anthrax, blackleg, cornstalk disease, abortion in cows, Texas fever, pole evil, chicken cholera, roup, thrush, lock-jaw, blind-staggers, colic, glanders, distemper, pink-eye, influenza, foot-rot, tape-worm, lung fever, inflammation of bowels, catarrh, farey, mange, bots, scours, nasal gleet, scratches.

Liquid Coal Acts as Appetizer and Vitalizer.

No disease germ can escape it, that is the reason it cures: when the germ is gone the disease is gone. Belmont, S. D.—"I used L. K. for hog cholera and it was all right. It cured my hogs. I had three sick hogs and they all got well and done fine. I also used it for chicken lice and mites and it is all you claim for it. It is the only medicine for hog cholera. I think!"
GOTLIEB JERKE.

Gresham, Neb. 4-2-02—"I have bought a second gallon of Liquid Coal and am satisfied I saved three big hogs after they were down by administering one tablespoonful."
S. R. PHILLIPS.
Sheldon, Ia., 11-29-01—"I've used Liquid Coal for chicken lice and found after one application to the roosts all lice were gone."
HENRY ALTEPETER.

Why not choose LIQUID KOAL? It is the only known germicide that will pass through the stomach into the intestines and from there into the blood, permeating the entire system, and still retain its germicidal properties. It is a compound embracing every practical germicide, antiseptic and disinfectant property found in coal, treated chemically with an alkali base, until every objectionable feature is eliminated, being non-poisonous and harmless to animal economy.

Science teaches that no medicine ever healed a wound, that nature performs the healing process and medicine can only assist nature in doing her work, not only in healing wounds, but in throwing off diseases. Those versed in medicine are aware that three-fourths of the money spent for medicine is virtually thrown away, either because of improper use or the purchase of the improper article. But in purchasing Liquid Coal from any of our dealers you take no chances. If for any reason it does not treat successfully the above list of diseases, just go back to the dealer and get the price you paid. There will be no questions asked. We stand the loss and it costs the dealer nothing. Nine-tenths of all diseases of man or beast either have their origin in some form of germ; else, if allowed to run, some form of germ complication sets in. The peculiarity of Liquid Coal and its superiority over all other germicidal agents is that while it is harmless to animal life it paralyzes and destroys all forms of germ life, including hog cholera, black leg, glanders and many forms of the so-called incurable diseases. It contains Creosol and Quaiacol. It is these Hydro Carbon compounds found in smoke that cures a ham, destroying, by its germicidal properties all forms of germ life. The reader may ask, if these properties come from coal why not use coal? The answer is, because coal yields these properties only by distillation at about 350 degrees of heat, and it is reasonable to assume that a hog's stomach could not generate that amount of heat without becoming roast pork, seasoned with fired germs. We would also call the readers attention to the fact that the gastric juice of the stomach being an acid and alkali is required as a neutralizer when the acid too strongly predominates, as in the case of hog cholera. In addition it would be expensive, as the owner of the animal would be purchasing six dollars' worth of Liquid Coal.

Liquid Coal is in general use by veterinary surgeons throughout the whole country, embracing a wider range of use than any other preparation known to science.

LIQUID KOAL is manufactured by the NATIONAL MEDICAL CO., E. L. Barrager, President. Capital One Quarter Million. Principal office, Sheldon, Iowa. Branches: Minneapolis, Minn.; Glendive, Mont.; Lewiston, Idaho; York, Neb.; and Oklahoma City, Okla. For sale and guaranteed by

JESSEN OPPOSES POLLARD

The Otoe County Man Wants the Nomination to Congress.

SAYS HE IS IN THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Hope to Get Endorsement of the Five Counties Not Yet Instructed.

The following in reference to the announcement of Judge Jessen for congress is taken from the Lincoln Journal of Friday morning:

Judge Paul Jessen is a candidate for congress from the First district. This announcement came Thursday from Judge Jessen's home after a story supposed to be authentic and coming from Otoe county sources had come from Nebraska City a few days before, saying that he had retired from the race and would not make trouble for Congressman Pollard in the First district. Judge Jessen was at Auburn last night and confirmed the story that had gained currency during the day.

"Yes, I am in the race," he said. "I hope to get every county in the district outside of Lancaster and Cass, and if I succeed in doing that I will have enough to nominate. I am in the race to win."

When it was suggested that he might have a warm fight on his hands, Judge Jessen said: "The fight will be just as warm as I can make it."

Asked to state his platform he replied: "I do not need to tell the people of the First district where I stand. I do not think I will be misunderstood when I say this."

Had Not Considered Lancaster.

When asked if he expected to get votes from Lancaster county, notwithstanding its instructions for Pollard, he said that was a matter he had given no thought. He declined to discuss the Pollard salary question, although politicians believe this has had much to do with his candidacy at this time. Judge Jessen announced further that he has at no time said he would not be a candidate.

Lancaster and Cass counties, with eighty-two votes are pledged to Pollard. It requires the full vote of the five other counties to nominate. These are Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee, Otoe and Richardson. There will be 173 votes in the convention. The strength by counties is as follows:

Cass	26
Johnson	14
Lancaster	50
Nemaha	16
Pawnee	16
Otoe	20
Richardson	25
Total	173

At the meeting of the congressional committee held in this city July 5 the basis of the representation was fixed at one delegate for each fifty votes cast for Pollard. Because Lancaster county had a candidate on the democratic ticket who polled a number of republican votes through personal friendship, Lancaster lost voting power in the congressional convention. At the time the committee met this was regarded as an element in favor of Pollard. Then the county convention endorsed Pollard, with the result that one chance to make certain his nomination had been lost in fixing the representation. The action of Lancaster in endorsing for Pollard is said to have stirred some feeling in other counties, because Lancaster has in political affairs incurred the displeasure of many of the republican leaders in the district, through nominations made in the past. At the time the committee meeting was held the candidate looked for from Otoe county was Judge William Hayward. It was then believed that he might enter the race. The appearance of Jessen is taken as a sign that Hayward will not run for congress.

His Eye on the Future.

It has been stated that Judge Jessen desires to run for the South Platte senatorship when Senator Burkett's term expires, and his race for congress—whether he wins or not—will further his chances along that line.

Judge Jessen has already begun his canvass. His visit to Nemaha county yesterday was in the interest of his candidacy, and he will visit the other counties during the next few days. The congressional convention will be held at Auburn on August 9 at 8 p. m. Before that date five counties in the district will hold their county conventions. The dates are as follows: Nemaha, July 30; Johnson, August 4; Otoe, August 6; Richardson, August 9; Pawnee, August 7.

An Independent Republican.

Judge Jessen has been rated in the past as a republican of independence and one not afraid to fight for what he thinks is right. He is regarded as one of the most formidable foes Congressman Pollard could have been pitted against in the district.

Among the Holmes men in Lancaster the announcement of his candidacy has been received with delight, because there is a desire to defeat Pollard. There is no doubt that the fact that Pollard drew salary for a part of the term before his election has weakened his position materially in the district, although his friends claim that he is innocent of wrong doing, and that he will yet get a sufficient number of votes from the five counties to be heard from to insure his nomination.

Is the Law Unconstitutional?

A. L. Tidd, attorney for Dr. Barnes, has received a letter from Secretary of State Galusha, in which that gentleman acknowledges that he believes the law which would deprive Dr. Barnes of his title is unconstitutional and that it should not interfere with his practice. In the same breath the secretary acknowledges the ability of Dr. Barnes as a veterinarian. It is no fight of the Journal's, but we believe in fairness in everything. The law is class legislation in every particular, and in the interests of the injured by its enforcement, should be repealed at the next legislature. When a state official says the law is unconstitutional, there must have been some foul means used when such a law was enacted.

Secretary Galusha knew that Dr. Barnes was less than two hours before the examining board, and only took the examination at the request of Governor Mickey.

Will Sheldon Select Him?

Senator Sheldon is privileged to select his own delegates from this county. He knows as well as anyone how Windham stands as to the railroads. He is in reality a tool of the Burlington, and in the face of the following facts from the Lincoln Evening News, we are awaiting to see when Sheldon's delegates are listed if Windham's name appears among the number:

"If R. B. Windham of Cass county should be left off the delegation to the republican state convention, it would place the republican state convention committee in an awkward plight. Windham is one of the men chosen by that body to act as a member of the resolutions committee in the convention, but should he not be chosen as a delegate he could not serve in that capacity. The situation with respect to L. D. Richards of Fremont, who was designated as chairman of the resolutions committee, is similar to Windham's case. Both are allied with the railroad faction of the party, and it is well understood that they were appointed on the resolutions committee in order to help them at home in their efforts to get upon the state delegations."

In this state it is not necessary to serve a five days' notice for eviction of a cold. Use the original laxative cough syrup, Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. No opiates. Sold by F. G. Fricke & Co. and Gering & Co.

Advice to Young Men.

"Young men keep out of politics," says Senator Platt. That advice would be all right if Senator Platt had said: keep out of republican machine politics, which are rotten to the core. Every citizen of a republic should take enough interest in politics to investigate the policies of parties and vote—always vote—according to the result of his investigations. Young men especially should take an interest in politics, for it is upon the young men of today that the government of the republic will rest tomorrow. Some young man of today will be, in a few years, president of this great country, or he will be senator, or congressman, or governor of his state. What would happen if the young men of the country "keep out of politics?" Young men should investigate how the so-called republican policy of protection that Platt and the other republican leaders stand for, taxes them for the benefit of protected interests. Young men should know why the cost of living is so great—48 per cent higher than when the present tariff law was enacted—and their salaries have not increased in like proportion. Young men should inquire why they are compelled to continue in the employment of others all their lives instead of as formerly looking forward to be their own masters. It is not to the interest of Senator Platt or the republican leaders that young men investigate the plundering system that the republican party stands for, therefore they say keep out of politics.
